HOT FIGHT GIVES MISSOURI CONTROL TO COL. ROOSEVELT

Disputed Delegates from Kansas City and St. Joseph Go to Former President.

GOV. HADLEY AT THE HELM

Taft Supporters in Long Session Plead with Victors for Recognition at Chicago.

MEETING LASTS THROUGH NIGHT

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 26, 2 a. m.—[Special.]—Gov. Herbert S. Hadley will head the Roosevelt delegation-at-large from Missouri to the Chicago national convention. This was conceded early this morning. In addition Roosevelt will be in control of the state delegation.

The Taft leaders at 1 a. m. were, figuratively speaking, on their knees begging the governor to give them two of the "big eight." The governor consented to submit the proposition to the convention.

This slate was passed among the delegates for the approval of the county leaders:

Gov. Herbert S. Hadley, Walter S. Dickey, Kansas City; John D. McNeeley, St. Joseph; Fred Essen, Clayton; Hugh McIndoe, Joplin; Jesse A. Tolerton, Taney county; Charles D. Morris, state chairman; Mayor F. H. Kreismann, St. Louis.

All but Chairman Morris and Mayor Kreismann are outspoken Roosevelt supporters.

E. B. Clements of Macon and Hiram Lloyd of St. Louis, two Roosevelt men, will be chosen electors-at-large, it was stated.

Thomas K. Niedringhaus is slated by the Roosevelt men to succeed Secretary Nagel as national committeeman.

Will Indorse Roosevelt.

The resolutions will contain a strong indorsement of Roosevelt, but no instructions. Some of the Roosevelt country delegates objected to putting any Taft men on the delegation at large, but an effort will be made to gain their consent in the interest of party harmony in the state.

The Taft leaders are now charging that Secretary Nagel is responsible for Roosevelt's victory, although not a few concede the overwhelming Roosevelt strength in the convention.

Gov. Herbert S. Hadley, one of the seven state executives who petitioned Col. Roosevelt to enter the presidential race, is given credit for the rout of the Taft forces.

He stood firm throughout the long fight for recognition of the regularly elected Roosevelt delegates and repeatedly spurned propositions emanating from the Taft camp, which affected the standing of the colonel's supporters in the convention.

For a time last night it seemed the state committee, controlled by the president's friends by a margin of only one vote, would ride rough shod over the Roosevelt men.

Taft Men Back Down.

Apparently fearful of the result of their own course, the Taft men in the committee got "cold feet" as they were about to complete the temporary roll of the convention.

Charles Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, and national committeeman from Missouri, evidently shared in the misgivings. He joined with the Taft committeemen in presenting the laurel wreath to the Roosevelt leader.

The colonel already is leading Mr. Taft in district delegates elected, in fact, most of the Taft claims in the various congressional centers are based on contests to be carried to Chicago or on hopes that uninstructed delegates will swing into the Taft column.

To date Mr. Roosevelt has sixteen instructed district delegates. Three of these have been contested. President Taft has only six instructed district delegates, four of which are contested.

St. Louis Delegates Neutral.

All of the six district delegates from the city of St. Louis and the county of St. Louis are free to vote as they please at Chicago. They are claimed by the Taft leaders, but the politicians familiar with conditions here say the St. Louis delegates are noted for getting into the band wagon at the right moment and are not to be counted upon.

Two districts are yet to meet. One is claimed by Taft and the other by the Roosevelt men.

Peace in the form of a compromise satisfactory to the Roosevelt forces was effected shortly before the convention was called to order last night at the First Regiment armory.

Morris Comes to Rescue.

When all prospects of getting together seemed hopeless Chairman Morris of the state committee made a suggestion that ultimately brought the desired result.

It was agreed he should appoint a committee of three from each faction to confer with Gov. Hadley and Secretary Nagel.

After wrangling for two hours the conference decided to seat the ninety Roosevelt delegates from Jackson county, which includes Kansas City, and twenty-eight delegates from Buchanan county, which embraces St. Joseph. These delegations were chosen at county primaries.

The contests in the other fifteen disputed counties, it was agreed, should go to the credentials committee of the convention for settlement.

The peace pact also called for the election of eight delegates at large with half a vote each instead of the usual big four.

Gov. Hadley won another concession when he was agreed on for permanent chairman, thus appeasing the executive for his defeat for temporary chairman by the state committee.

The result of the so-called compromise is considered a complete victory for the Roose-

RAN ELEVATOR AMID FLAMES; SAVED MANY; DIES OF BURNS.

Joseph Batho, Who Stayed at Post with Clothing Afire, Succumbs—Rescued Contribute Burial Fund.

Joseph Batho, elevator man, is dead as the result of burns which he received in rescuing his fellow employés from fire in the five story building at 7 to 9 West Michigan street a week ago Monday.

The fire broke out after a boiler explosion. Batho took his elevator to the top floor for trip after trip until every man had been brought down. His clothing caught fire on the last trip and he came out of the building enveloped in flame. He was taken to the Passavant hospital, but never recovered.

Batho leaves a wife and a daughter at his former residence, 42 East Walton place. Those whom he rescued and others who admired his courage have contributed a fund for his burial. The funeral will be held tonight at 8 o'clock from the chapel of R. A. Allen, 889 North Clark street.

FIND WIFE SANE DESPITE HUSBAND

Judge Owens and Experts Uphold Mental Soundness of Mrs. Francis T. McKee.

SPOUSE AGAINST WOMAN.

Mrs. Adelaide Maud McKee may believe that she lives on a higher plane than her husband, but she is not insane. Judge Owens and three physicians yesterday found her of sound mind despite the testimony of her husband, Francis T. McKee.

The McKee residence is at 7207 Yale avenue. Mr. McKee is a member of the firm of McKee & Son, 150 West Sixty-third street, dealers in feed. His wife is a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and of the Englewood Woman's club.

On cross-examination before Judge Owens by her husband's counsel, Mrs. McKee not only admitted she believed she occupied a higher social sphere than her husband but asserted she "despised ugly, old, gray, and baldheaded men." Mr. McKee is gray haired, with a tendency to baldness.

Contradicts Wife on Stand.

The husband testified that he never quarreled with his wife because he wanted the washerwoman to eat at the same table with her and that he never quarreled over the property he owns. Mrs. McKee's testimony was in direct contradiction to this.

"Of course I objected to eating at the same table with the washerwoman," said Mrs McKee. "Washerwomen have their place. I never cared for my husband's associates. I raised him up once to a higher plane, but he deteriorated to his former level."

Dr. A. B. Spach, 6929 Harvard avenue, formerly physician to Mrs. McKee, was criticised by Judge Owens when he admitted on the stand that a certificate in which he had given it as his opinion that Mrs. McKee was insane had been signed recently, although he had not examined her for a year.

Voices Woes by Telephone.

Mrs. McKee was interrupted by her husband in a telephone conversation last night. She had explained that her troubles began a year or two ago when her husband cut down her dress allowance and closed up her charge accounts. She went on to talk about the prospect of securing a divorce from him.

"I don't know just how to go about—" she began, and then her voice stopped for a full minute.

"I am afraid I shall have to stop talking," she said when she came back to the telephone. "My husband has come in for the third time in two months, and he objects."

Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. McKee received a caller.

"What do you think I found when I came home tonight after I had won my case?" Mrs. McKee began. "I thought I should have dinner quietly by myself and spend a calm evening, but I found this—this!"

Mr. McKee Makes a Proposition.

"Well," Mr. McKee said to the caller. "I'll pay you $25 a week and all your expenses if you will live in this flat for four weeks with that," and he nodded toward Mrs. McKee. "I made the same offer to Judge Owens."

Mrs. McKee, ignoring her husband, went on to tell the caller why she advised women never to marry any except a young man.

"You are 48 yourself," Mr. McKee said.

"I am 42," she shot back.

"Well, you were 28 when I married you, and that was twenty years ago," he said. "You daren't go down and dig up the marriage license."

His wife subsided.

SUPREME COURT JUDGE ESPOUSES DECISION RECALL

Chief Justice Winslow of Wisconsin Also Defends the Tribunals from Attacks of Critics.

POINTS OUT A REMEDY.

20th Century People Have 18th Century Constitutions, He Tells Northwestern University Alumni.

Chief Justice John B. Winslow of the Supreme court of Wisconsin, in an address delivered last night at the Hotel La Salle before the alumni association of Northwestern university law school, announced himself as favorable to the recall of court decisions by a referendum vote of the people.

The justice spoke in defense of the courts of the country. He did not advocate the recall as a cure for the evils of American jurisprudence, but admitted that such evils exist and said the recall was preferable to denunciation of the courts.

Justice Winslow took the position that the courts are not to blame if they annul beneficial laws on constitutional grounds. The guarantees and limitations of the constitutions of the state and the nation are in writing and their meaning is clear.

Remedy—Amend Constitutions.

Where new legislation impinges upon the written fundamental law the judge must hold to the constitution or violate his oath of office and commit "moral treason." The remedy is to amend the constitutions.

"In my judgment," he said, "it should be made much easier to amend the federal constitution."

That document, he asserted, was written under eighteenth century conditions. Its authors could not possibly have foreseen the tremendous changes the next 200 years would bring. To force this twentieth century nation to adhere rigidly to an eighteenth century constitution, he thought, is to torture its people on "a veritable bed of Procrustes."

The constitution, he said, should be made amenable to the following problems of crowded cities which "were either negligible or nonexistent half a century ago":

Child labor.
Conditions of labor for women.
Housing.
Sanitation.
Compensation for injuries received in dangerous occupations.

Favors the Recall.

Justice Winslow's mention of the recall came after he had spoken vigorously in criticism of denunciation of the courts. Such denunciation, he said, was "a shock to the government" and "the higher the source, the greater the shock." It breeds, he asserted, "contempt of law, lawlessness, and ultimate anarchy."

"It is not my purpose now," he continued, "to discuss the newly suggested remedies, and I merely say in passing that any method by which in some deliberate and orderly manner the decision supposed to be objectionable may be reviewed is far better than denunciation of the courts, even if such review be by referendum vote of the people, provided the referendum vote be taken at a time when temporary passion has passed and opportunity has been given to fairly consider and debate the question."

Points to 18th Century Constitutions.

As to constitutional amendments, after declaring himself in favor of such amendments being made easier, he said:

"The makers of the constitution and of our early state constitutions were able men, but however able they were they could not anticipate or solve the new problems of life and government which have upon us in the last half century.

"They built wisely for the conditions then existing; their great aim was to protect the rights and liberties of the individual citizen; they emphasized wider freedom because life was then essentially the individual life.

"But as individual life has more and more given birth to crowded community life, the rights and privileges once deemed essential to the perfect liberty of the individual are often found to stand in the way of public welfare and to breed wrong and injustice to the community at large.

"In a word, the impervious and complex problems of great cities have come suddenly upon a people whose fundamental law was designed for a rural or semi-rural state.

"Among these pressing problems are the problems of the tenement house, sanitation, congested areas in cities, child labor, female labor, or due compensation for personal injuries received in dangerous occupations, and many more which were either negligible or nonexistent half a century ago."

BARKEEPER CALLS HIS BLUFF; GETS FAKE 'DETECTIVE BURNS'

Glib Youth Goes in Dress Suit in Taxicab to Pass Bogus Check—Rides Away in Patrol Wagon.

Leslie M. Dietrich, 5050 Drexel boulevard, was arrested last night on a charge of attempting to pass a suprious check on Montague Brothers, saloonkeepers at Cottage Grove avenue and Thirty-ninth street. According to the Stanton avenue police the prisoner confessed to stinging leading State street department stores with the same kind of checks.

Until two weeks ago Dietrich was a commonplace clerk. Then he got the notion that he was missing some of life's pleasures. He packed up his belongings and moved to the Great Northern hotel, where he registered as Charles E. Burns and displayed a big tin badge labeled "United States Detective Agency."

Soon he garnered sufficient funds to purchase himself a full dress suit. He alighted at the saloon from a taxicab and left in the patrol. He had spent a little money at the bar, when he suddenly discovered that he was a bit short, and asked the barkeeper for pen and ink. They were furnished and the glib young stranger drew a check for $50, signed it "Charles E. Burns," and when his identity was questioned, said:

"O, it's all right. I'm a son of William J. Burns, the great detective. Call up the Great Northern. Those people will tell you I am right."

TAFT REPLIES TO ROOSEVELT WITH MANY BITTER CHARGES

President Accuses Colonel of Violation of "Square Deal."

DENIES AID TO LORIMER

Reads Letter as Evidence Rival Knew His Views on Senator.

PLEA AGAINST THIRD TERM

Boston, Mass., April 25.—[Special.]—President Taft tonight broke loose from impersonal campaigning for renomination and devoted his entire speech here to an attack on Theodore Roosevelt and a defense of the administration against charges that have been made by Col. Roosevelt.

Earlier in the day Mr. Taft spoke along the same lines at Springfield and Palmer, twice in Worcester, and at Natick, South Framingham, and several smaller towns.

The president's attack comes in the midst of one of the most bitter campaigns ever waged in Massachusetts. Both factions realize the moral effect which a victory in the state primaries next Tuesday will have throughout the country and both are making every effort to win them.

Col. Roosevelt's friends are angry tonight at the attack of the president and the colonel himself is expected to give decisive answer.

Says He Is Misrepresented.

Mr. Taft's address tonight, delivered in the Boston arena before a large audience, charged that the colonel and his supporters have misrepresented him, not only as to the work he has done but as to his speeches. Several times, he declared, the colonel has taken "garbled versions" and used them for his own purposes. He charged the colonel with violating his own principle of a "square deal."

Col. Roosevelt, the president said, violated the solemn promise to the American people not to be a candidate for a third term.

"That promise and his treatment of it," Mr. Taft added, "only throw an informing light on the value that ought now to be attached to any promise of this kind he may make for the future."

Declares He Fought Lorimer.

In substantiation of his declaration that he was not a partisan of William Lorimer the president quoted a letter he wrote to Col. Roosevelt in January, 1911, in the course of which he said:

"I have read as much of the evidence as I could get at and am convinced that there was a mess and mass of corruption upon which his election was founded that ought to be stamped with the disapproval of the senate."

Denies Abuse of Patronage.

The use and abuse of federal patronage as a means of getting delegates were denied. Mr. Taft said that for years he has worked to get the merit system. The federal positions, he said, were under the dictatorship of the congressmen, not the president, and he added that in Indiana and Montana federal office holders, named by former Senator Beveridge and Senator Dixon, were working in the interest of Roosevelt.

In the south, he said, the majority of the office holders are holdovers from the Roosevelt administration and are working for the colonel's renomination. The seven governors who urged Roosevetl to enter the race again are using the whole power of the various state offices in his support, Mr. Taft declared.

The speech throughout throws off all pretense of "the courtesies," and the way the president "goes after" his one time friend and his predecessor marks anew the bitterness of a preconvention campaign that is unparalleled in recent times.

Text of Taft's Address.

Following is the text of Mr. Taft's speech:

"In September, 1901, Theodore Roosevelt, then vice president, succeeded to the presidency on the death of William McKinley and served three years and nearly six months as president in his first term. He was a candidate at the election of 1904, and when he was returned by an overwhelming vote in November of that year he announced that under no circumstances would he be a candidate for or accept another nomination.

"When the campaign of 1908 approached he recommended to the American people that I, then his secretary of war, be made the Republican candidate for president in the approaching contest. He did everything in his power to secure my nomination and election, and I have had the deepest feeling of gratitude to him on this account ever since. Never in thought, word, or deed have I been disloyal to my friendship for him.

Tells How Rival Entered Race.

"More than three years have elapsed since I was inaugurated president, and a presidential campaign is now at hand. A number of months ago I said to the public that, like most of my predecessors, I would welcome an approval of my present administration by a reëlection.

"After this time Mr. Roosevelt let it be known that he did not intend to be a candidate for the presidency, and said that he would regard his nomination as a calamity personally and undesirable from every standpoint. Thereafter the statements that came from him from time to time became less and less firm in the resolution not to become a candidate.

"When certain state governors invited him to do so, in February last, he issued a declaration in which he said that he would accept the nomination if tendered, and would allow his name to remain in the convention until the question was settled.

"Between the time that the governors had asked for his candidacy and his formal declaration of acceptance he delivered an address before the constitutional convention of Ohio, in session at Columbus, which he put forth as his charter of democracy under which he hoped needed reforms might be brought about.

"The charter of democracy advocated a change in our judicial system known as the recall of decisions, with a recall of judges under circumstances not clearly defined, and with other innovations, none of which were in accord with the platform of the Republican party, and to some of which he seems to have become a recent convert.

"I deemed it my duty in public addresses to point out that such judicial changes as he proposed would be dangerous to the body politic, and that they would necessarily destroy the keystone of our liberties by taking away judicial independence, and by exposing to the chance of one popular vote questions of the continuance of our constitutional guarantees of life, liberty, and property and the pursuit of happiness. My addresses were impersonal, and I refrained from everything that could be regarded as a personal attack upon him.

Roosevelt Modifies Stand.

"The announcement of the Ohio speech as a platform sent a thrill of alarm through all the members of the community who understood our constitutional principles and who feared the effect of the proposed changes upon the permanence of our government.

"Mr. Roosevelt found that if the nomination was to come to him he must minimize the importance of his Columbus charter and must find some other issue upon which to succeed. He changed his position from that of one in a receptive attitude, who was willing to accept the nomination thrust upon him, to that of an active candidate, entering the canvass in various states where delegates were to be selected.

"Without giving up the principles announced in his Columbus address, he relegated them to an incidental place and changed his campaign to one of criticism of me and my administration.

Cites Roosevelt's Charges.

"By excerpts from my speeches he has sought to show and has charged that I am one who has publicly announced that I am in favor of an aristocracy of political bosses, and that I am linked with political bosses in seeking my renomination. He charges that the patronage of the government is being shamelessly used to secure my renomination, and that in the conventions and primaries which have been held fraud and violence have been systematically used to defeat the will of the people and to secure delegates for me.

"He says that I am not a progressive, but a reactionary; that I was nominated by progressives, and after election joined the ranks of those who opposed me for nomination; and he intimates that I have not the spirit of the progressive, or the imagination, or the clear headed purpose essential to the makeup of such a person.

"He says that I am a friend of the interests and an upholder of special privilege, and that a vote for me is a vote for the interests and against the people. He minimises and flouts the importance of the laws enacted and the executive action taken during my administration.

Reason for Answering Charges.

"If in this contest there were at stake only my own reputation or the satisfaction of my own ambition I would, without the slightest qualm and without care as to the result, continue my silence under these unjust attacks. I would do so because of the personal relations that have existed between Mr. Roosevelt and me, my debt of gratitude to him, and my inclination, because of the office I hold, not to indulge in personal controversy.

"I would hope that in the future, ...

What Taft Really Thinks of Roosevelt.

Was it honest, was it fair of Theodore Roosevelt to seize one sentence from one of my speeches, to garble it, and then to give it a meaning which he knew from the context it could not have?

—o—

Without further circumstances or knowledge, it would have been unfair and unjust for Mr. Roosevelt to attempt to draw down on me the popular indignation against Senator Lorimer and thus to carry the state of Illinois against me; but it was peculiarly unfair in Mr. Roosevelt to do this when he knew what he did know as to my actual attitude toward Senator Lorimer.

—o—

Has Mr. Roosevelt ever condemned the Payne bill? . . . . Is it a square deal therefore for him to charge me with not being a progressive?

—o—

With characteristic boldness and lack of facts or evidence, and resting on his false and distorted construction of my language as to government by a representative part of the people, Mr. Roosevelt charges that I stand for the so-called interests and special privilege.

—o—

One of the real reasons why Mr. Roosevelt ought not to be selected as a candidate of any party is the natural distrust that the whole business community will have in respect to the measures which Mr. Roosevelt will propose in order to effect a revolution in the interest of social justice which he advocates so strongly and defines so vaguely.

—o—

That (Roosevelt's promise not to be a candidate for a third term) and his treatment of it only throw an informing light on the value that ought now to be attached to any promise of this kind he may make for the future.

Full Text of Taft's Furious Attack on Colonel Roosevelt, His Former Friend.

distant, facts would disclose themselves showing the injustice of the course he is pursuing toward me, and the merciless truth concerning his motives and his sincerity of statement and purpose.

"But I am presented with this difficulty, I represent a cause. I stand for wise progress in governmental affairs and in the improvement of the condition of all the people that the Republican party stands for. I am the titular leader of that movement, and the substantial and sane legislation of my administration vindicates its existence and continuance.

Fights Cause of Progress.

"The cause is that of progress of the people in pursuit of happiness under constitutional government and of the maintenance of such a government against threatened innovations, calculated to undermine our cherished institutions of civil liberty regulated by law and preserved by an independent judiciary.

"The supporters of this cause are many, and they look to me to see to it that it is not seriously injured by the unjust, unfounded charges against me, and by the adroit appeals to discontent and class hatred that Mr. Roosevelt is now making to the public.

"They feel that by such charges and appeals Mr. Roosevelt has clouded the real and critical issues of the campaign and has misled a great many good and patriotic people of the country to his support, because no one has answered them as they ought to be answered.

Forced Into Personal Fight.

"They think I am the only one whose position is such as to make an answer effective; that as the president whose administration is attacked, as the titular head of the Republican party whose integrity is threatened, and as the man whose character is aspersed, I must meet Mr. Roosevelt's attacks, however unpleasant may be a personal controversy with one whom in the past I have greatly admired and loved, and whose present change of attitude is the source of the saddest disappointment.

"Mr. Roosevelt prides himself on being a true sportsman, and he likes to take from the rules and language of sport, maxims to be applied to life in general. The maxim which he has exalted above all others, to which he has given currency the country over, and which he himself in his conduct of life wishes to have it thought he exemplifies, is that every man is entitled to a square deal. I propose to examine the charges he makes against me, and to ask you whether in making them he is giving me a square deal.

Says Roosevelt "Garbled" Speech.

"First—In a speech in Carnegie hall he said:

"'Mr. Taft fairly defines the issue when he says that our government is and should be a government of all the people by a representative part of the people. This is an excellent and moderate description of an oligarchy. It defines our government as a government of all of the people by a few of the people. Mr. Taft, in his able speech, has made what is probably the best possible presentation of the case for those who feel in this manner.

"The excerpt which Mr. Roosevelt uses is taken from my speech at Toledo. It is garbled. I did not say this 'should be' a government of, all the people by a representative part of the people. I said, 'It is thus apparent that ours is a government of all the people by a representative part of the people,' and it is.

Context Showed Meaning.

"The context shows clearly what I meant. I had pointed out that the government was by popular vote, that the voters did not include the women and children, that in number the voters were less than one-fourth of all the people, and that their action was the action of their majority; so that the government was controlled not by all the people, but by a representative part of the people, to wit, a majority of the adult males.

"Does Mr. Roosevelt deny this fact? Can he or any fair man maintain that in stating such a palpable truth concerning our government I was advocating a government by an oligarchy, or a government by the few? I pointed out the fact that this popular government of ours is a government by the adult voting males in order to show the necessity for constitutional restrictions to protect the nonvoters among the people against the possible injustice and aggression of a majority of the voters.

"Was it honest, was it fair in Theodore Roosevelt to seize one sentence from a speech, to garble it and then to give it a meaning which he knew from the context it could not bear? Do the just people of Massachusetts approve such method of warfare? Do they think that in carrying it on Mr. Roosevelt is giving to his successor a square deal?

Unfair Charge as to Bosses.

"2. The purpose for which Mr. Roosevelt made this excerpt and asserted that thereby I intended to declare in favor of an oligarchy was made manifest in his subsequent speeches, in which he proceeded to charge that the oligarchy I was in favor of was an oligarchy of bosses.

"He says that all the bosses are in my favor and all of them against him. This is not true. By his association with William Flinn of Pittsburgh there is being restored to power in that city and in Pennsylvania one of the worst municipal bosses that the history of that state knows.

"Mr. Roosevelt's chief supporter in Ohio today is Walter Brown, the only boss in full commission in the state and who is looking forward to state control under Mr. Roosevelt's administration.

"He charges me with association with Mr. Barnes of New York, while he is silent as to the support and advice he is receiving from Mr. William Ward of the same state. Mr. Roosevelt knows that in 1910 but for the support he received from my friends as against Mr. Barnes and Mr. Ward he would not have been nominated as temporary chairman of the New York convention. Now Mr. Barnes supports me and opposes Mr. Roosevelt on the ground that he does not believe in the principles of government that Mr. Roosevelt proposes to embody in our fundamental and statutory law.

Praise for Senator Crane.

"He drags in the name of Senator Crane of your state in an unfriendly way. With respect to Mr. Crane I may be permitted to say to his friends and neighbors that I feel proud to be associated with him. He is a man whom Mr. Roosevelt has frequently himself said Massachusetts ought to be congratulated for choosing as its representative.

"He was three times elected governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, and three times invited by Mr Roosevelt into his cabinet. He is a worthy senator of Massachusetts, a man of high mind, of most generous instincts, a most efficient public servant, and one who looks to the interests of his constituents and who follows the business in the senate with the greatest devotion.

"Mr. Roosevelt invited him to manage his presidential campaign in 1904. But Mr. Crane does not now support Mr. Roosevelt and must be condemned.

Says Bosses Aided Roosevelt.

"The truth with respect to me is the same as it is with respect to Mr. Roosevelt. When I am running for the presidency I gratefully accept such support as comes to me. Mr. Roosevelt has done so in the past; he is doing so now. I am making no bargain. I am agreeing to no conditions that would embarrass or hamper me in the administration of the government should I be reelected.

"I do not say that Mr. Roosevelt has done so, or is doing so. But when I consider the eagerness with which Mr. Roosevelt has accepted in his various campaigns the assistance of Mr. Aldrich, Mr. Cannon, Mr Penrose, Mr Quay, Mr Platt, Mr. Foraker, and many other men prominent and influential in congress and politics, whatever their proper designation, whether leaders or bosses, I do not hesitate to say that it involves the most audacious effrontery on his part to attack me because men he charcterizes as bosses are now supporting me, and to charge me on that account with helping machine politics.

"This is peculiarly unfair on his part in view of his well known political history, and is another instance of his departing from the rule of the square deal.

"False Charges on Lorimer."

"8. The seat of Mr. Lorimer from Illinois in the senate of the United States was contested in the last session. A hearing was had before the elections committee and the senate, and the contest was defeated and Mr. Lorimer's title to his seat was declared valid. A retrial was ordered on the ground of newly discovered evidence and is now pending.

"The issues arising out of this contest have colored in every way the politics of Illinois and aroused a strong feeling against Senator Lorimer among the Republicans of the state. In the recent canvass of that state Mr. Roosevelt, who spoke at many places in the state, and his campaign managers did not hesitate to link my name with Mr. Lorimer's in such a way as to give the impression to his auditors that a vote for me was a vote for Mr. Lorimer.

"I have not seen Mr. Lorimer for two years and have had no communication with or from him. Mr. Roosevelt attempts to connect Mr. Lorimer with me through Mr. McKinley. I have no knowledge of any especial relation between them except as active Republicans from the same state.

Cause for McKinley's Aid.

"I asked Mr. McKinley to help me in my canvass, because he was a good friend, having accompanied me on a trip to the Philippines, and because he was chairman of the national Republican congressional committee and had been recently elected to that position by the votes of the insurgent Republicans of the house, who supported him avowedly because he had been fair to them.

"In Illinois Mr. Lorimer was conducting a campaign of his own with his own nominees. I did not ask his support. He did not offer it to me. Any influence he may have given in my favor was not because he liked me but because he felt more bitter toward Mr. Roosevelt.

"Without further circumstance or knowledge it would have been unfair and unjust for Mr. Roosevelt to attempt to draw down on me the popular indignation against Senator Lorimer and thus to carry the state of Illinois against me; but it was peculiarly unfair in Mr. Roosevelt to do this when he knew what he did know as to my actual attitude toward Senator Lorimer.

Letter on Lorimer Case.

"In January of 1911 I wrote to Mr. Roosevelt as follows:

"'The White House, Washington, Jan. 6, 1911.—My Dear Theodore: It comes to me, perhaps without foundation, that you are going to write a strong article on the Lorimer case and publish it in the Outlook. I have been doing everything I could legitimately to have the closest examination made into the Lorimer case. I have read as much of the evidence as I could get at and am convinced that there was a mess and mass of corruption upon which his election was founded that ought to be stamped with the disapproval of the senate. But I want the movement to oust him to succeed. I have urged different senators to read the record carefully, and after a talk with Root and Burton and Knute Nelson and Crawford and some others I believe we are going to line up a good many of the regular Republicans on the side of what I consider decency and honesty in politics.

"'It has leaked out that I have been taking some interest in the matter, and I fear that it has not helped the situation generally because of that strong feeling of clubdom in the senate and that resentment against outside interference which nobody who is not intimately acquainted with the situation can understand the weight of.

"'I was talking with Borah this morning. I have consulted a good deal with him on the subject, and he and I agree that it would be unwise either for you or for me to come out now against Lorimer and in favor of his being ousted; that it would enable those who are determined to keep him in, especially among the Democrats, Bailey and others, to use an argument against outside interference that would hold a number of Democrats and would deprive us of the strength we should get by a quiet presentation of the full facts on the floor of the senate, from the senate itself. Root is going to make a speech. So is Burton, and I believe that Lodge will do the same thing. Now, nothing would have stronger weight than speeches from them; whereas if either you or I came out with an attack it would enable the friends of Lorimer to shift the subject from the tainted character of his seat to the independence of the senate in acting as the judge of the qualifications of its own members.

"'I suggest, therefore, that if you have an article on this subject you hold it until after the issues are more plainly made by speeches on the floor of the body in which the contest is to be won. I want to win. So do you. This is my excuse for writing you.

"'WILLIAM H. TAFT.

"'Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, the Outlook, 287 Fourth avenue, New York, N. Y.

"'P. S.—Of course I may be misinformed as to your purpose in this matter. Since dictating the above I have had the telephone conversation with you, but I let it go.'

Learned Article Was Unplanned.

"By the telephone conversation and by subsequent correspondence with Mr. Roosevelt, which I do not publish, but which I am ready to publish if desired by him, I learned that no such article was contemplated, but that he would assist in the matter in other ways.

"I would not use this letter of mine if I had not been forced to do so in self-defense. I hope that my strong expression of opinion in this letter, formed without hearing argument, may work no unfair prejudice in a cause that remains undecided. I feared that the case was going by default on the summary report of the committee, and I wished to challenge senators to read the record.

"I make this letter public only to show that of all people in the world Theodore Roosevelt ought to have known, and did know, that I was not a partisan of Lorimer, did not sympathize with him, and was perhaps the last man of whom such a thing could be said. I have never given Mr. Roosevelt or any one else the slightest reason to suppose that I had changed my attitude.

Roosevelt Approved Reciprocity.

"Fourth—Mr. Roosevelt now seeks to take advantage of the supposed feeling among the farmers of the country against the reciprocity agreement with Canada which I made and induced congress to adopt, but which Canada finally rejected.

"I would not object to this as a legitimate argument in a political controversy against me and in his favor if the fact were not that I consulted him ten days before I made the agreement, explained to him in full its probable terms, stated the arguments pro and con, especially the effect of it on agricultural products, and asked him to confer with his colleagues of the Outlook as to its wisdom and public benefit and let me know his and their judgment.

"He replied approving the agreement in the most enthusiastic terms and complimenting me for having brought it forward.

Quotes Letter to Roosevelt.

"I submit below our correspondence on the subject of reciprocity:

"The White House, Washington, Jan. 10, 1911. —My Dear Theodore: Just at present I am in the midst of reciprocity matters, and it would gratify me a great deal to talk over with you this issue. I have, as you have known, always been a low tariff and downward revision man, and the reason why I favored the last tariff bill and praised it as the best one we had ever had was: That the consideration of it on its passage and the efforts of those who defended it afterwards to show that it was a downward revision were all a concession by the Republican party that downward revision was necessary, and that the rule upheld by Shaw and Cannon and other standpatters of the orthodox type that no tariff could be too high, because what you needed was a Chinese wall, had been departed from.

"Now, the probability is that we shall reach an agreement with our Canadian friends by which all natural products—cereals, lumber, dairy products, fruits, meats, and cattle—shall enter both countries free, and that we shall get a revision —not as heavy a one as I would like, but a substantial one, and equivalent, certainly to the French reciprocity treaty and probably more—on manufactures.

"The truth is that the minute that we adopt in convention the proposal that our tariff should be measured by the difference in the cost of production we necessarily adopt a rule which would lead us straight to reciprocity in natural products with Canada, because the conditions in the two countries are so similar that there is substantially no difference in the cost of production. Possibly labor is slightly lower in some parts of Canada than in the United States, but it is also higher in some parts, and the adoption of free trade would rapidly increase the cost of labor in those parts where it is cheaper in Canada, so that the conditions would be the same.

"It might at first have a tendency to reduce the cost of food products somewhat; it would certainly make the reservoir much greater and prevent fluctuations. Meantime the amount of Canadian products we would take would produce a current of business between western Canada and the United States that would make Canada only an adjunct of the United States. It would transfer all their important business to Chicago and New York, with their bank credits and everything else, and it would increase greatly the demand of Canada for our manufactures. I see this is an argument against reciprocity made in Canada, and I think it is a good one.

"The proposition is to make an arrangement by which we shall present to both houses of congress an identical bill, and pass it as an agreement for joint legislation. In this way we would avoid the necessity for two-thirds in the senate, and would secure at once the consent of the house, which in tariff matters is generally regarded as necessary, at any rate. This will cause a great commotion, I presume. It will be unpopular in New York because of certain lumber manufacturing interests and the dairy interests. It will be unpopular in Minnesota because of wheat; but on the other hand, free lumber will be popular in some places, and as it includes free paper and free wood pulp we may count on the fairly good support of the press.

"This letter, of course, I must ask you to regard as confidential, though I would be glad to have you discuss with your colleagues on the Outlook such a proposition, and should be glad to hear from you as to your judgment of it. I think it may break the Republican party for a while. As Elihu Root said when I talked with him yesterday, it may be an entering wedge against protection, although it is not inconsistent with the principle of protection as we laid it down in Chicago. Of course, it will be said against it that we are taking agriculture and making it suffer first before we tackle wool and cotton.

"The bill is not likely to pass the present congress and before the new congress comes together I think I shall be able to make some recommendations as to the wool and cotton schedules and present a problem to the Democrats which they are not likely to find an easy one. At least it will show the hypocrisy of some people. Of course, this is no ground whatever for introducing and pressing such a measure. I believe it to be right, and if it leads on the other hand, to a reduction in wool and cotton manufactures to the lowest figures and to what is a real measure of the difference in the cost of production, so much the better.

"I shall be glad to hear from you as soon as you conveniently can write on this subject, because the matter is just at hand, and it is quite likely that within ten days we shall reach an agreement.

"Sincerely yours, WILLIAM H. TAFT.

"To Theodore Roosevelt, The Outlook, New York.

Reply Made by Roosevelt.

"Mr. Roosevelt replied to this with the following letter:

"Office of Theodore Roosevelt, The Outlook, 287 Fourth avenue, New York, Jan. 12, 1911.—Dear Mr. President: I at once took in your letter and went over it with the Outlook editors.

"It seems to me that what you propose to do with Canada is admirable from every standpoint. I firmly believe in free trade with Canada for both economic and political reasons. As you say, labor cost is substantially the same in the two countries, so that you are amply justified by the platform. Whether Canada will accept such reciprocity I do not know, but it is greatly to your credit to make the effort. It may damage the Republican party for a while, but it will surely benefit the party in the end, especially if you tackle wool, cotton, etc., as you propose. Ever yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"To William H. Taft, President of the United States, The White House, Washington, D. C.

"After the reciprocity agreement was published Mr. Roosevelt delivered two public addresses in which he expressed his warm commendation of the agreement and a hope that it might be adopted. Now, in the exigency of his contest for the nomination, and with the purpose of accentuating the supposed feeling of the farmers against me, he recants his approval of the agreement on the ground that it would not have been a square deal for the farmers, a circumstance which, he intimates, escaped him when he, in a desire to support my administration, had approved the agreement. I submit that Mr. Roosevelt's course on reciprocity is not in accord with the square deal.

False Charges of Fraud.

"5. Mr. Roosevelt charges that I have been 'receiving stolen goods,' that I have profited 'by the use of dirty instruments' to secure delegates. I cannot, of course, be sufficiently familiar with the facts in the primaries and conventions of each state to be able to say with certainty that in so many contests there have been no unfair acts committed in my behalf. In the eagerness and anxiety of partisans some few such acts are to be expected.

"All I can say is that no instance has been brought to my attention in which specifications of fraud have been sustained by any evidence whatever.

"The charges made by Senator Dixon as to Kentucky in an hysterical and insulting open letter to me were shown to be wholly without foundation in the Kentucky convention and by the statement of Senator Deboe.

Failed Action in New York.

"The truth is that, if we may judge from the conduct of Mr. Roosevelt and Senator Dixon in respect to the New York primaries, we may infer that there is no real foundation for charges of fraud or injustice in respect of any of the conventions and elections of which they complain. In New York the whole matter is within the control of the state elections board. There, if fraud was committed, the courts were open to proof of it, but in no single instance has any attempt been made to show fraud.

"It is true that the printing of the ballots was delayed, due to the tardy litigation of the Roosevelt committee, and the ballots were not delivered at some precincts until some time after the opening of the polls, but this generally occurred in precincts where there was no contest whatever and did not prevent a fair vote in every precinct where there was a contest. If there was fraud why did not the Roosevelt committee show it in court?

"Is it a square deal to run away from the opportunity provided by law to establish fraud and injustice and only claim it in the newspapers and in charges against one's opponent?

Charges Made Before Elections.

"In Indianapolis, I am informed, the complaint of the Roosevelt committee that fraud had been committed in the primaries appeared in an afternoon newspaper sold on the streets before the primaries were opened.

"The truth is that it has been perfectly evident from the first that the deliberate plan of Senator Dixon has been to claim everything exultingly and with the utmost confidence and to meet the reports of the election of adverse delegates by directing in advance the bringing of trumped up contests.

"It is hardly necessary to say that this is not in accordance with the square deal.

Denies Unfair Patronage Charge.

"Sixth—Mr. Roosevelt charges that never before has patronage been so shamelessly used in politics as in my behalf to secure my nomination.

"I do not deny that under the present system of appointments federal officeholders will be interested in politics and take part therein, and will support those to whose appointment they attribute their preferment. Under present conditions, however, and under the policy which has been pursued in this administration, there are in office today at least 70 per cent of those who were in office by appointment under Theodore Roosevelt.

"In view of his candidacy, it is natural that a great number of these officeholders should favor him rather than me, and such is the fact, and Mr. Roosevelt cannot be ignorant of it. In spite of the great activity of a number of such officers against me, not a single man of them has been removed.

Fought for Merit System.

"Under the present system all presidential appointments to local federal offices in Republican states are as a general rule made upon the recommendations of the senators and representatives of the Republican party, subject, of course, to the condition of fitness.

"If appointments are to be made for political purposes and rewards, this is as good a system as any; but it ought to be abolished, and all the offices embraced in a classified merit system. I have recommended this change in three separate messages and have pointed out that it would save the country much more than $10,000,000 in annual salaries, would save valuable time of the executive and congressmen, and would relieve the politics of the country of the bane of federal patronage.

"Congress has done nothing, however, and so I have followed the usual rule as my predecessor did and as his predecessors did.

Indiana Men Helped Roosevelt.

"This makes federal offices in Republican states congressional rather than executive patronage. For example, in Indiana, where Senator Beveridge had secured the appointment of a number of postmasters and other officers, before his defeat, these appointees of his were—a number of them—active in behalf of Mr. Roosevelt.

"In Montana a number of federal officers who bear my commission, recommended by Senator Dixon, are reported to be active for Mr. Roosevelt.

"In the south, where there are no Republican congressmen and senators, it is different. There, referees, persons of respectability, are selected, who are requested to make recommendations for office. I continued Mr. Roosevelt's referees in every state, and three of those referees—one in Alabama, one in Louisiana, and one in Texas—have now declared for Mr. Roosevelt.

State Officers Roosevelt Aids.

"Under all these peculiar circumstances the situation has arisen in which the so-called political patronage of the administration with respect to the nominations in the next national convention is divided, and the influence of federal officeholders in the Chicago convention will be less effective for any one candidate than ever before in the history of the party.

"Not only is Mr. Roosevelt enjoying the support of many federal officeholders, but the patronage of a number of the state governors is being used for him with business-like manipulation that lacks nothing in effectiveness.

"The patronage of Gov. Hadley in Missouri, of Gov. Stubbs in Kansas, Gov. Glasscock in West Virginia, Gov. Osborn in Michigan, and of Gov. Johnson in California is all being used for Mr. Roosevelt. I am not complaining of these instances. As long as the merit system is not completely established they will recur. I mention them only to show that in raising the cry as to the shameless use of patronage against him, Mr. Roosevelt again departs from the rule of giving his opponent a square deal.

"Roosevelt and Cannon."

"Seventh—Mr. Roosevelt charges that in my administration I deserted the progressives and became a reactionary. The insurgents had not formed themselves into a faction until after my election. They began in their opposition to Mr. Cannon and the adoption of the previous rules of the house of representatives.

"I had been afraid that Mr. Cannon, with his well known tariff views, might oppose a revision, and I looked about immediately after the election to see whether it would be possible to secure votes enough in the caucus to elect another speaker. I found that it was not.

"I communicated with Mr. Roosevelt in respect to it, and he advised me most earnestly to have a meeting with Mr. Cannon. I visited Washington in December, 1908. At the request of President Roosevelt I had an interview with Mr. Cannon, in which he agreed that if he were elected speaker he would help me redeem the promises of the Republican platform.

"I then visited the Republicans of the ways and means committee of the new house, who were then in session, explained my views with respect to the tariff and the necessity for a revision downward, and secured their acquiescence in an agreement by which Philippine free trade should be established. This arrangement with Mr. Cannon and with the ways and means committee was with the knowledge and emphatic approval of Mr. Roosevelt.

Payne-Aldrich Tariff Bill.

"The Payne bill as it passed the house was a better bill than as it passed the senate. It had more substantial reductions, though not so many. In neither the house nor the senate, however, was schedule K substantially changed as it ought to have been.

"I signed the bill not because I liked it but because I believed it was the best I could get and it was a vastly better bill than the Dingley bill, whose place it took. It recognized the necessity for a revision downward of the tariff. It offered an opportunity for the establishment of a tariff commission, scientifically to ascertain the facts upon which future reductions might be based. It gave a maximum and minimum clause by which we were able to secure the abolition of trade discriminations against us by foreign governments. It made free trade with the Philippines.

"It introduced a corporation tax in which by taxing success and not failure and by taxing the income of corporations when it is least felt—that is, before the declaration of dividends—we are able to realize $28,000,000 a year.

Roosevelt Never Condemned Bill.

"The Payne bill was drawn with a view to increasing the revenue. On the 1st of July after my inauguration there was a deficit of $50,000,000. If I had refused to sign the Payne bill it would have continued that deficit to another year, it would have maintained the Dingley bill with higher rates than the Payne bill, and it would have cost all the advantages which I have recited. It would have broken up the Republican party, so that I could not have called upon the leaders to help me in subsequent legislation promised by the party platform and which had to be enacted in the first regular session.

"Now I find Mr. Roosevelt coming the other way, denouncing the anti-trust law and denouncing prosecutions under it. He says that the decree of the court in the Standard Oil case is ineffective, that the price of the stock has gone up, and in some way or other I am responsible for the fact that the price did go up and that my administration is to be condemned because that decree was confirmed in the Supreme court.

Followed Colonel's Directions.

"The truth is that the decree as finally entered and enforced was drawn exactly as Mr. Roosevelt's attorney general, in the bill which by direction of Mr. Roosevelt he filed against the Standard Oil company, had asked that it be drawn.

"I disagree with Mr. Roosevelt as to the effectiveness of the decree. I think that in a reasonable time the result of the decree will show that the anti-trust law is a most useful statute. The nominal increase in the price of the stock of the constituent companies (for the actual sales are not many) is due to the fact that the public has been heretofore denied a knowledge of the real amount of money and capital which each of these companies has, and now it is known. Inquire among the independent oil companies and it will be found that today there is more competition both in the purchase of crude oil and the sale of refined oil than for twenty years, and this even if the price of oil has gone up.

"It was true that the Standard Oil company, when it suited it purpose, was able to keep down the price of oil and keep down the demand for crude oil. Now it has lost control and the market will follow the law of supply and demand.

Defends Tobacco Decision.

"In respect to the tobacco decree which was entered by the Circuit court, the effect of the division of the tobacco company into several competing companies is already seen. One of the charges against it was that the price of Burley tobacco, by reason of the suppression of all competition in its purchase, had gone down, so that nobody could raise it with a profit in Kentucky. That gave rise to the night riders and the forcible suppression of the planting of Burley tobacco.

"Today, due to the presence of the various companies into which the trust has been divided, each seeking a supply, there is greater competition for the purchase of tobacco than ever before and prices bid are higher than in years past.

"Mr. Roosevelt proposes to abolish the anti-trust law and then to regulate combinations and not to destroy them. Mr. Roosevelt's description of what he is going to do is a description, not of a constructive plan, but of what he proposes to accomplish; but it all comes down to this—that by some sort of executive tribunal he is going to decide as between different trusts; that one is a good trust and another is a bad trust; and he is going to smash the bad trusts and he is going to protect the good trusts. He gives no other guide than that of executive discretion, which really amounts in the end to nothing but the establishment of a benevolent despotism.

Denies Influence of Interests.

"10. With characteristic boldness and lack of facts or evidence, and resting on his false and distorted construction of my language as to government by a representative part of the people, Mr. Roosevelt charges that I stand for the so-called interests and special privileges. If nothing else would serve, the record of my administration as to suits against railways to stop increase of rates and suits against truts of all kinds to dissolve them and to punish their directors must show to a fair minded public that this administration has no favorites among lawbreakers or those seeking special privileges.

"11. One of the real reasons why Mr. Roosevelt ought not to be selected as a candidate of any party is the natural distrust that the whole business community will have in respect to the measures which Mr. Roosevelt will propose in order to effect a revolution in the interest of social justice which he advocates so strongly and defines so vaguely.

"It is true that under the inspiration of the filing of the bill against the steel trust he took such a strong ground against the anti-trust law that for a time some of the big business community approved him; but when he went to Columbus, while he used these same expressions in order to hold this element to his support, he at the same time advanced such radical views as to the change of the fundamental principles of our government that the general business community lost sight of his promise to avoid injury to big business and could only contemplate the danger to the security of all business by his threatened undermining of our constitutional government and his attack upon the independence of the judiciary.

Third Term Pledge Violated.

"My fellow citizens, I am here to discharge one of the most painful duties of my life. I am here in response to an obligation that I owe to the Republican party which selected me as its candidate, and to the American people who elected me president. It is of such a high and exacting character that I cannot escape it. It grows out of a phase of national politics and national life that I believe to be unprecedented in our history.

"Mr. Roosevelt ought not to be nominated at Chicago, because in such nomination the Republican party will violate our most useful and necessary governmental tradition—that no one shall be permitted to hold a third presidential term. Mr. Roosevelt fully recognized this tradition in November, 1904, when on the night of his election he said:

"I am deeply sensible of the honor done me by the American people in thus expressing their confidence in what I have done and have tried to do. I appreciate to the full the solemn responsibility this confidence imposes upon me, and I shall do all that in my power lies not to forfeit it. On the 4th of March next I shall have served three and a half years, and this three and a half years constitutes my first term. The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form; and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination.

Doubt on Other Pledges.

"He now says, although his language does not bear such a construction, that he meant he would not accept a nomination for a consecutive third term. He says so in face of the fact that the most noteworthy precedent in which the tradition was asserted and maintained was that of 1880, when Gen. Grant was denied a third term four years after he had left the presidential office.

"It is not for me to enter into discussion of the plain meaning of the language he used. If he had frankly announced that he had changed his mind no one would be disposed to hold him to a promise of that sort merely because he had made it.

"The promise and his treatment of it only throw an informing light on the value that ought now to be attached to any promise of this kind he may make for the future. The important fact is that his declaration was the statement of a principle essential to the welfare of the republic.

Why Third Term Is Sought.

"Mr. Roosevelt would accept a nomination for a third term on what ground? Not because he wishes it himself. He has disclaimed any such desire. He is convinced that the American people think that he is the only one to do the job (as he terms it), and for this he is ready to sacrifice his personal comfort.

"He does not define exactly what 'the job' is which he is to do, but if we may infer from his Columbus platform that it is to bring about a change of the social institutions of this country by legislation and other means which he may be able to control as president of the United States, so as to enable the people to increase the equality of condition and the equality of opportunity of our citizens.

"I need hardly say that such an ambitious plan could not be carried out in one short four years. Were this possible we ought to have a description of the laws, the enactment of which, and the executive orders, the issuing of which, would accomplish this end. No such laws or orders are forthcoming.

No Solutions Offered.

"An analysis of his proposed remedies is impossible because he proposes no remedies. He announces what he will do and how much he will accomplish without the slightest suggestion of a constructive plan, and he obtains support by an iteration and reiteration of his purpose without offering any practical solution to the difficulties he proposes to overcome.

"We are left to infer, therefore, that the job' which Mr. Roosevelt is to perform is one that may take a long time, perhaps the rest of his natural life. There is not the slightest reason why, if he secures a third term, and the limitation of the Washington, Jefferson and Jackson tradition is broken down, he should not have as many terms as his natural life will permit. If he is necessary now to the government, why not later?

"One who so lightly regards constitutional principles, and especially the independence of the judiciary, one who is so naturally impatient of legal restraints and of due legal procedure, and who has so misunderstood what liberty regulated by law is, could not safely be intrusted with successive presidential terms. I say this sorrowfully, but I say it with the full conviction of its truth."

erm. The wise custom which limits the resident to two terms regards the substance and not the form; and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for r accept another nomination.

Doubt on Other Pledges.

He now says, although his language does t bear such a construction, that he meant would not accept a nomination for a cocutive third term. He says so in face of the ct that the most noteworthy precedent in ich the tradition was asserted and maintned was that of 1880, when Gen. Grant s denied a third term four years after he d left the presidential office.

It is not for me to enter into discussion of e plain meaning of the language he used. he had frankly announced that he had anged his mind no one would be disposed hold him to a promise of that sort merely cause he had made it.

The promise and his treatment of it only row an informing light on the value that ght now to be attached to any promise of is kind he may make for the future. The portant fact is that his declaration was the atement of a principle essential to the wale of the republic.

Why Third Term Is Sought.

Mr. Roosevelt would accept a nomination r a third term on what ground? Not beuse he wishes it himself. He has disclaimed y such desire. He is convinced that the nerican people think that he is the only one do the job (as he terms it), and for this he is ady to sacrifice his personal comfort.

He does not define exactly what 'the job' which he is to do, but if we may infer from Columbus platform that it is to bring out a change of the social institutions of s country by legislation and other means ich he may be able to control as president the United States, so as to enable the people increase the equality of condition and the uality of opportunity of our citizens.

I need hardly say that such an ambitious n could not be carried out in one short four rs. Were this possible we ought to have a scription of the laws, the enactment of ich, and the executive orders, the issuing which, would accomplish this end. No h laws or orders are forthcoming.

No Solutions Offered.

An analysis of his proposed remedies is possible because he proposes no remedies announces what he will do and how much will accomplish without the slightest sugtion of a constructive plan, and he obtains port by an iteration and reiteration of high rpose without offering any practical solun to the difficulties he proposes to overme.

We are left to infer, therefore, that 'the ' which Mr. Roosevelt is to perform is one t may take a long time, perhaps the rest of natural life. There is not the slightest son why, if he secures a third term, and limitation of the Washington, Jefferson, Jackson tradition is broken down, he uld not have as many terms as his natural will permit. If he is necessary now to the ernment, why not later?

One who so lightly regards constitutional ciples, and especially the independence of judiciary, one who is so naturally impet of legal restraints and of due legal proe, and who has so misunderstood what rty regulated by law is, could not safely intrusted with successive presidential ns. I say this sorrowfully, but I say it h the full conviction of its truth."

CONFIRMS STORY OF REFUSING AID

Passenger on Mount Temple Says Captain Would Not Risk Rescue Attempt.

AFRAID OF ICE FIELDS.

Marconi Admits Authorizing Wireless Operators to Sell Accounts of Wreck.

Strathcona, Canada, April 25.—E. W. Zurich, who crossed from Antwerp to St. John, N. B., on the Canadian Pacific railway steamer Mount Temple, has made a statement here concerning what was observed from the Mount Temple at sea the Sunday night the Titanic went down.

According to Mr. Zurich, passengers on board the Mount Temple heard of the Titanic's distress at 12:15 o'clock Monday morning, when a wireless call for help was caught. Capt. Moore changed his vessel's course at once and headed for the Titanic. Lifeboats were swung from davits meanwhile and other preparations were made for lending assistance.

The northern course was not held long, however, says Mr. Zurich, because a great field of ice loomed up ahead.

It was reported among crew and passengers, according to Mr. Zurich, that Capt. Moore made no further efforts to penetrate the floes, saying he could not afford to endanger the 2,000 souls aboard his ship.

Lights of Titanic Seen?

The statement of Dr. Quitzrau that passengers and crew believed they could see the lights of the unfortunate Titanic is borne out by Mr. Zurich. With two companion passengers he disobeyed the captain's orders, which forbade passengers entrance to the upper deck at any time.

He is fairly positive that they saw the lights of the Titanic, and he says he is not ready to accept the assertion that their ship was at least forty miles from the wrecked liner at the time.

He thinks the Mount Temple might have reached the spot before the Titanic sank, and this supposition, he says, seems to have been entertained by others on board.

Their vessel sighted the Carpathia next morning, Mr. Zurich says, and, keeping in touch with wireless communications to land, they were conversant with the story of the wreck. Mr. Zurich says the Mount Temple sighted immense fields of ice during Sunday and Monday.

Dr. Quitzrau to Testify.

Toronto, Ont., April 25.—Dr. Quitzrau, who has been asked to testify before the senate investigation of the Titanic disaster, started to Washington tonight, in compliance with a request from Senator Smith.

"I retired about 9 o'clock on Sunday night, April 14, and was awakened by the sudden stopping of the machinery of the Mount Temple," Dr. Quitzrau said. "I opened the cabin door and looked out. I saw a couple of passengers and several stewards and asked them what was wrong. They told me the Titanic had struck an iceberg and was sinking and that they had seen the lights of distress signals.

"I went back to the cabin and dressed, going on deck shortly before daybreak. I saw a tramp steamer about half a mile north in a field of ice. It was cruising around, evidently trying to get out of the ice."

Rides Around Scene of Wreck.

"A Russian boat came alongside of us, but did not give us any word. It made a circle around where the Titanic was said to have sunk, as well as around us.

"A little later, at 6 o'clock, we sighted the Carpathia southeast of us. We made a circle around what was said to be the scene of the wreck. We didn't see any wreckage or bodies. At 8 o'clock we got the general message from the Carpathia that the Titanic had struck an iceberg and was at the bottom of the sea. The Carpathia said 700 had been saved and all others on board lost and there would be no need to stand by. We then continued on our course."

Says Mount Temple Tried to Aid.

St. John, N. B., April 25.—J. Durrant, Marconi wireless operator on the steamer Mount Temple, told tonight of the wireless calls he picked up from the sinking Titanic. He said they were answered by the Carpathia, the Frankfurt, and the Olympic.

He said the Mount Temple changed its course toward the position of the Titanic. It arrived there at 4:40 a. m. and saw no sign of the ill fated ship nor any wreckage.

"At the time I received the first message," he said, "I would judge the Mount Temple was fifty miles from the Titanic's position, and when the big ship went down there was still twenty or twenty-five miles between us."

Mount Temple Captain Summoned.

Washington, D. C., April 26.—To learn why a nearby steamer did not offer aid to the sinking Titanic and to fix the exact hour at which the last liner was warned that it was in the vicinity of dangerous ice, Senator William Alden Smith, chairman of the senate committee investigating the disaster, today summoned three important witnesses. They are J. R. Moore, captain of the steamer Mount Temple, which passed within a short distance of the disabled Titanic, and the captain and wireless operator of the liner Californian who sent the warning. All will be put on the stand tomorrow.

Guglielmo Marconi, chairman of the Marconi company, Limited, told the senate committee that he authorized the wireless operators of the Carpathia and Titanic to sell the stories of the great catastrophe for publication, but had not attempted in any way to suppress general information of the wreck.

He denied any knowledge of wireless messages sent to the Carpathia operators telling them to "Keep your mouths shut" and "Hold out for four figures."

Three messages, one of them signed "Marconi," were picked up by the United States battleship Florida the night the Carpathia was coming in and forwarded to the secretary of the navy. Mr. Marconi declared he never authorized these messages, but did give consent that the operators could receive money.

Vain Attempts to Get News.

Early in his testimony Mr. Marconi told of repeated attempts he had made during Sunday, Monday, and the days following the wreck to obtain information. Senator Smith said to Mr. Marconi:

"I would like to have your own best judgment as to whether the custom established by Operator Binns in the Republic disaster, selling his news, and the privilege you gave to Cottam in the Titanic disaster had anything to do with your failure to get this information and the public deprived of the details of this horror?"

Mr. Marconi said he did not think so and emphatically insisted he had not attempted to suppress any details of the horror.

Concerning the message sent from New York to the wireless operators on the Carpathia by Chief Engineer Sammis of the Marconi company asking them to hold out their cry for "four figures," Mr. Marconi said: "I know that message was sent by Sammis, but I knew nothing about it until afterward. The message was not sent until the Carpathia had passed Sandy Hook and was nearing port."

Small Pay to Operators.

Asked as to the pay of wireless operators, Mr. Marconi said that in England the pay ranged from $4 to $12 a week, with board and lodging. The wages in America are slightly higher.

"Did you have any communication, personally or by your order, with the Carpathia Sunday or Monday, April 14 and 15?" Senator Smith asked.

"No."

"Did you have communication with Cape Race on any day up to the arrival of the Carpathia in New York?"

"No direct communication. I telephoned my office frequently on all those days and urged that every means be tried to get information from the disaster."

The witness said he learned between 7:30 and 8 o'clock Monday evening, April 15, that the Titanic had sunk. Tuesday evening he learned about the rescue made by the Carpathia.

"I asked for further information," said the witness, "and was told by my operator that it would probably be impossible, because the Carpathia would be extremely busy with the messages of the captain and the passengers aboard."

Mr. Marconi told of going aboard the Carpathia when it ocked in New York.

"I congratulated Bride, the Titanic's operator, on what he had done," he said. "Cottam, the Carpathia's operator, was not there. He called me later on the telephone and asked me whether he might give out a report of the wreck. I told him he might do so under the circumstances."

Forbidden to Act as Reporters.

Mr. Marconi added that there was an ironclad rule in his company's regulations prohibiting operators from acting as reporters. This, he said, probably was the reason why no reports of the disaster were forthcoming from the Carpathia on its way to New York after reaching the Titanic's survivors.

The witness was asked if the American Marconi company had not requested United States warships not to interfere with the Marconi system. This was done, he said, after silence had been enjoined on all coast stations not actually in communication with the Titanic or the Carpathia.

"Then," said Senator Smith, "your company had laid plans and had made preparations to get a monopoly of the news of the horror?"

"We undoubtedly would have got it first, anyway," retorted the witness, "for the operators on both the Titanic and the Carpathia were Marconi men, with Marconi methods of sending."

Cottam Recalled as Witness.

Operator H. T. Cottam of the Carpathia said the first message of distress he received from the Titanic was "Come at once. Have struck a berg. This is a C. Q. D."

Cottam said he assisted the Titanic in communicating with other ships, because the Titanic operator said escaping steam aboard interfered with his instruments.

"Did you receive a wireless from the U. S. S. Chester?"

"Several, asking for a passenger list," said Cottam. "I took the messages to the captain, and he replied to the Chester later, stating what names of survivors already had been forwarded."

"Did you know the message was from the president of the United States?"

"No; it was only signed by the commander of the Chester. He asked once about Maj. Butt."

Senator Smith read the "Keep your mouths shut" telegram, but the witness said he did not know of it. He said a message signed by Sammis, promising the operators "money in four figures" for their stories and advising them "not to talk," was taken by Operator Bride, but he did not discuss the matter with him.

"Did you keep your 'mouth shut,' as directed?" asked Senator Smith.

"Certainly."

"There was a persistent demand for news of the disaster, was there not?"

"There was, but I was busy taking messages for passengers and in sending their messages. The captain told me to ignore passing ships and to refuse all calls for details. We had the passengers to look after."

Cottam said he had sold his story, but had not received anything for it yet. He did not talk about money from the story, relying on the message from Engineer Sammis.

Facts Sought from Sailors.

The committee adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and the senators took the rescued sailors of the Titanic into conferences. It was the purpose to talk to each man, each senator taking as many as he could.

"We will endeavor to find out everything that each sailor knows about the wreck, instead of putting each man on the stand to go over the whole ground," said Senator Newlands. "If we find any men who have knowledge of importance concerning the tragedy that has not been developed in the public hearings they will be brought before the committee for detailed examination."

P. A. S. Franklin, vice president of the White Star line, and J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the International Mercantile Marine company, were pleased over this move.

ENGLISH ARTIST WINS PRIZE

Charles Sims' "Pastorella" Takes Carnegie Gold Medal.

NEW YORKER COMES SECOND.

Paul Dougherty's "The Freshening Gale" Gets Silver Badge.

BY HARRIET MONROE.

An English painter is once more the winner of the gold medal of the Carnegie institute with its prize of $1,500. The exhibit was shown at Pittsburgh, Pa.

The winner, Charles Sims of London, born in 1873, is an associate of the Royal academy and of the Royal Watercolor society, and is represented in the Luxembourg and many British museums. He received a medal at the Salon of 1900, and he represents the more conservative side of British art, whereas William Orpen, the first prize winner two years ago, represented the radicals.

"Pastorella," the fortunate picture, measures only 22x24 inches. The theme is fanciful—a half nude shepherdess standing, another lying down, and two nude children with a flock of sheep. The charm of the picture is in its extreme delicacy of feeling and color, its cool, pearly diaphanous tone.

New Yorker Gets Second Prize.

The silver medal, with its purse of $1,000, goes to Paul Dougherty of New York for his marine, "The Freshening Gale." This artist is well known in Chicago, where he exhibits regularly at the institute and O'Brien's, and he is represented at the institute and many other American museums.

The bronze medal, with $500, is awarded to Henri Martin of Paris for his "Portrait of the Artist's Son."

Six Honorable Mentions.

Because of the excellence of this year's show the jury awarded six honorable mentions instead of the usual four. Of these three go to Americans, two to English, and one to German painters. Among them John C. Johansen of New York, formerly of Chicago, is honored for his "Village Rider," the equestrian portrait of a little girl which took the Norman B. Harris prize of $500 at our last autumn exhibition.

The other honorable mentions are:

William Ritschel, New York, for "Winter Morning, East River," a large, breezy, beautiful harbor scene with the Brooklyn bridge and snowy boats.

Ulrich Hübner of Travemünde, Germany, for his "Summer Day."

Laura Knight of Cornwall, England, for her able and brilliant outdoor portrait of a woman, "The Green Feather."

Bertram Priestman of London, for his clever study, "The Fish Market."

Lydia Field Emmet of New York, for her sympathetic and richly toned portrait of a child, "Olivia."

PEERS CONSIDER TITANIC INQUIRY

Earl Stanhope Disputes Right of Senate to Detain British Subjects.

MORLEY TO THE DEFENSE.

Viscount Says Any Nation May Investigate Wreck of a Foreign Vessel.

LONDON, April 25.—The house of lords took its turn this evening in questioning the government on the subject of the senatorial inquiry at Washington into the Titanic disaster.

Earl Stanhope remarked that the inquiry seemed to have only two grounds of justification. The first was that the steamship company concerned was not altogether British but partly American.

If that were so it would obviously create an extraordinary situation, because it struck at the root of the position of the mercantile marine in time of war as to whether the vessel belonged to a neutral or a belligerent power.

The only other ground was based on the terrible loss of life. If that were given as a reason for the inquiry at Washington obviously other nations whose citizens were passengers on board the Titanic would be justified in holding similar inquiries.

Terrible for Survivors.

Earl Stanhope said that he could imagine nothing more terrible to the survivors than attendance at a series of inquiries in different countries.

He was anxious to know whether the evidence before the senatorial committee would be admissable at the inquiry here, and expressed the opinion that evidence given at the first investigation was, of course, far more valuable and more dependable than evidence given on a later occasion.

He considered that unless the evidence given in the United States were admitted at the inquiry in this country Great Britain would obviously be penalised.

Earl Stanhope agreed that the American inquiry could be left to the good sense of the American people, but he feared there was danger of a precedent being set up, and should some other power with which Great Britain's relations were not so friendly attempt to detain British citizens under similar circumstances it might become serious.

Lord Morley's Words.

Viscount Morley of Blackburn, lord president of the council, on behalf of the government said:

"There is no doubt that any state may institute an inquiry about the wreck of a foreign vessel in which the lives of its own people had been lost without any departure from international law, although we are not aware of any such case having arisen heretofore."

Lord Morley deprecated discussion, saying that it would be immature and would do no good, whereas it might be prejudicial.

The Marquis of Lansdowne, leader of the opposition, said he quite approved of the American inquiry, although he admitted that it was unusual. The circumstances, he pointed out, were wholly unparalleled, and continued:

"America has the right of insisting on a prompt inquiry into the loss of the Titanic, as it is clear there are better chances of obtaining trustworthy accounts while the events are still recent."

London Papers Attack Smith.

LONDON, April 26, 3 a. m.—Several morning papers severely attack the American inquiry. The Standard says Senator Smith "is rather less qualified for such a task than any individual picked up in an American street car." The Morning Post says: "A schoolboy would blush at Senator Smith's ignorance," and adds, "Honest Americans will feel with shame that not merely the White Star company but American civilization is on trial."

PLEA FOR TITANIC ARRIVALS

Girl Immigrants Here Get Only Nightgowns in New York.

OTHERS ARRIVE DESTITUTE.

Use of Money Collected Here Urged for Their Assistance.

Immigration officers in Chicago who have come in contact with Titanic sufferers have appealed to Mayor Harrison to divert some of the Titanic relief fund from the New York societies and to use it upon Titanic immigrants in Chicago who are in need. The request came because of the condition of two girls, Anna Kelley and Anna McGowan, suffering from exposure and shock, and because of the stories of three other immigrants who passed through Chicago yesterday with nothing but the clothes they wore and their railroad tickets.

Dr. Mary O'Brien Porter of the Catholic Woman's league protectorate has taken up the case of the two girls.

Given Only Night Gowns.

"We want to see them get a fair pro rata share of the money collected in Chicago," she said. "These two young girls were sent away from a hospital in New York in their night gowns. They were given an old pair of shoes, but they were forced to make the trip from New York to Chicago in their coats and night gowns. They had no dresses nor underwear.

"Anna McGowan is the oldest girl of seven children. The remainder of her family are in destitution in Ireland."

Others Arrive Destitute.

Two men and a girl from Sweden, Oscar Hedmann, Carl Johnson, and Anna Sjeblom, spent several hours in Chicago yesterday on their way west. All found themselves in New York without a cent. They were taken to an immigration home and clothed and fed. Finally Hedmann wired to a former employer in St. Paul, who sent some money, which Hedmann divided so that the three could get west.

Carlson is a giant Swede. He was picked up on a piece of wreckage by the Carpathia after being afloat on a door for six hours.

Another Tragedy of Titanic.

Aaron Willer, tailor, left Chicago in December for London and Paris to try to win back customers he had several years ago before he failed in business in London. Willer, returning to his family in Chicago with money, went down on the Titanic.

Municipal Judge Sabath yesterday heard a suit to dispossess the Willer family from second floor rooms at 1330 South Halsted street. About $30 is past due. Judge Sabath continued the case until May 18 and personally sent Mrs. Willer $25 for immediate needs.

Five children are in the family.

TAXPAYERS STAND FOR HOURS.

Department Overworked Despite Twenty More Clerks—Women in Line Become Almost Exhausted.

Despite the addition of twenty clerks to the county treasurer's force, the tax rush situation is apparently no better than during the last weeks.

Women with babes in arms, cripples supported by canes, and old men and aged women were compelled to stand in line yesterday until nearly exhausted.

Several women were found almost on the verge of fainting and had to be assisted to chairs by policemen stationed in the county building.

Every day this week about 25,000 persons have called at the tax department to pay their taxes. After May 1 a penalty of 1 per cent is added to delinquent real estate taxes.

William L. O'Connell, county treasurer, said that he will not call upon the civil service commission for any more help.

Escaped Patient Captured.

George S. Moore, said to be a son of wealthy New York man, who escaped from the Lindahl sanitarium, 540 South Ashland boulevard, on Tuesday night, was found by detectives at State and Madison streets, after he had presented a draft for $500,000 at the First National bank. He was returned to the sanitarium, where he has been under treatment for a nervous breakdown.

COLONEL DENIES HARVESTER STORY

Tells How Opening of Inquiry by Congress Stopped Report of Bureau.

SAYS TAFT APPROVED.

Cabinet Agreed That Suit Could Not Be Brought Against the Combine.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., April 25.—"The talk about the suppression of the report is nonsense," said Col. Roosevelt tonight in a statement setting forth his connection with the International Harvester company case.

Col. Roosevelt asserted that at a meeting with his cabinet, at which Mr. Taft was present, it was decided that the bureau of corporations be instructed to complete its investigation of the Harvester company before any suit was instituted, following the usual course of procedure in such cases. Mr. Taft, he added, concurred in this decision.

During the remainder of his administration, a period of a year and a half, Col. Roosevelt said, the commissioner of corporations was unable to complete his investigation. He said that in the three years of the present administration Mr. Taft at any time could have ordered the attorney general to bring suit against the Harvester company or could have requested the commissioner of corporations to hasten his investigation, but that Mr. Taft had taken no action, "except that now taken five days before the Massachusetts primary."

Refers to Securities Case.

Col. Roosevelt also said that when the Northern Securities suit was brought against the Morgan interests in 1904 he was expecting to run for president, but that when the Harvester company matter came up in 1907 he knew he would not be a "candidate the following year, so that if the action taken in this case did secure the good will" of any of the Morgan interests for anybody, it secured their good will for Mr. Taft."

Col. Roosevelt spent most of the afternoon in preparing his statement.

"I have just begun to fight," he said earlier in the day. He received reports this afternoon of President Taft's criticism of him in his speech at Springfield, Mass., but declined to comment upon it, saying that he would make his reply in his speeches in Massachusetts.

Text of Roosevelt Statement.

The statement of Col. Roosevelt follows:

"As regards the harvester trust matter, the following statement sent to me by Mr. Bonaparte, my attorney general at the time, and by Mr. Herbert Knox Smith then and now commissioner of corporations, explain themselves. Mr. Bonaparte wrote:

"'When I became attorney general I found a number of complaints on file about the harvester trust, and some of these were so serious and specific that I directed an investigation, appointing B. D. Townsend, then assistant United States attorney in one of the Dakotas, as special counsel of the subject.

"'He worked slowly, and while we were awaiting his report I received information from other quarters and also an elaborate brief and argument [submitted by Cravath, if I remember right] in defense of the trust, and made up my mind that suit ought to be instituted for its dissolution.

Suit Would Hamper Inquiry.

"'I then learned from Herbert Knox Smith that he was engaged in an investigation of the affairs of the Harvester trust directed by the senate, under a resolution, I think, by Senator Hansbrough of either North or South Dakota.

"'Smith said that the institution of a suit against the trust would put a stop to his investigation and I reported the situation of affairs at a cabinet meeting. After a full, but harmonious discussion, it was decided, on the advice of secretaries, and Taft, that inasmuch as either house had a right under the law creating the bureau of corporations to direct an investigation by that bureau, this investigation must be considered as one conducted by the senate itself, and it would be appropriate for the department of justice to await its conclusion before proceeding with the suit.

"'You never gave me any instructions of any kind about the suit. I have an indistinct recollection that you asked me to see somebody who wished to talk with me about it or on behalf of the trust, and think it probable this was Cravath, as I know he gave me his brief and other papers. Of course, you had nothing to do with preventing the institution of the suit, except insofar as you acquiesced in the view taken by the cabinet to the effect that in consequence of the provisions of the bureau of corporations act, delay was demanded by comity towards the senate.

Gives Letters from Smith.

"Mr. Smith writes me in two communications. In the first he recites that on Aug. 24, 1907, he met me at New York, where he said that Mr. Perkins protested against any suit (which he, Mr. Perkins, then understood to be pending) being brought against the Harvester trust while the investigation by the bureau was still pending; that on Aug. 26 he called on me at Oyster Bay and advocated my carrying out the policy of seeing that the bureau's investigation was finished before any suit was started on the ground that the investigation would be far more effective for reform than any suit; that the suit, being a civil and not criminal proceedings, no statute of limitations applied and consequently haste was not essential, and, finally, that if the corporation was a substantial offender the suit would have vastly more chance of successful prosecution after the bureau got through its work.

Gave Smith No Instructions.

"Mr. Smith states that I gave him no instructions except to go and see the attorney general, Mr. Bonaparte, at once, which he did next day. He adds that on Sept. 21 he wrote me a long memorandum setting forth the facts and giving his views on the general subject and that on Nov. 7 he notified Mr. Perkins verbally in accordance with my instructions that the bureau's investigation would come first.

"'Of course,' the letter continues, 'should the matter become one of public comment generally this bureau could be prima facie criticised for taking so long to finish the investigation. The reason for this has been that congress has called for a number of other reports of great magnitude and difficulty, such as those of lumber, steel, etc., and the bureau had to give so much time to the prosecution of the Standard Oil case that the International Harvester company investigation got sidetracked behind those other ones. We simply have done the best we could with the small force at our disposal.'

"No Report Was Prepared."

"Mr. Smith in a subsequent letter says:

"'No report of any sort on the International Harvester company was prepared by this bureau during your administration. At the time you went out of office the bureau had done less than 10 per cent of the work necessary to make even a partial report on this subject. Consequently, of course, no report or any part thereof on the Harvester trust had been written or drafted at that time by the bureau of corporations. I never received from you any instructions in regard to any such report except orders intended to facilitate its preparation and publication.'

Referred to Attorney General.

"Mr. Perkins and Commissioner Smith called upon me in reference to the Harvester trust matter at about the same time. I submitted all the papers handed to me by Mr. Perkins to the attorney general and asked Commissioner Smith to see the attorney general himself, and I asked the attorney general not to take up the case until he had seen me. This was the request I invariably made in every case of the kind.

"While I was here, I expected each of my cabinet officers to keep me in touch with every important matter in his office and I assumed full responsibility for what was done.

"In many scores of cases men of every description—trust magnates, labor leaders, public officials, private citizens—came to me when action either had been taken or the possibility of taking it was pending in cases in which they were interested and asked that I look into the case personally before permitting the action to go on.

Sought to Learn All Facts.

"In all such cases, unless I was already thoroughly familiar with the facts, I wrote to whatever department was concerned or verbally notified its head to bring the case before me and not to come to a decision upon the matter until after consultation with me.

"Dozens of letters to this effect from me must be on file in the various departments, and in addition to these dozens of letters there must have been scores of other cases in which I made the request orally, often by telephone, where no written record exists.

"Among other cases, for instance, I remember thus seeing Mr. Pierpont Morgan at the time we were beginning the Northern Securities suit against him and Mr. Hill and others, and I saw a number of representatives of the Standard Oil people on several different occasions at the time that we began the suit against the Standard Oil company.

Similar to Other Actions.

"I saw various labor leaders at the time of the proceedings against Moyer and Haywood; again and again I saw men in cases that were pending, or that were about to be begun, in the department of the interior, in the treasury department, and in the attorney general's office. In this Harvester trust case I acted precisely as I acted in all the other cases and as under like circumstances I should always act, and any other action would have been grossly improper.

"In this case the attorney general brought the papers out for discussion and final settlement at a cabinet meeting. Mr. Taft was one of the members of the cabinet present on the occasion.

"The letter of Mr. Smith, and a letter or letters indicating the approval of Mr. Smith's position by Secretary Straus and by Mr. Lawrence Murray were put before the cabinet, and Mr. Bonaparte stated what had been done in the attorney general's office. There was a full discussion of the matter, in which every member of the cabinet who was a lawyer took part, and one or two members who were not lawyers.

Cabinet Agreed on Action.

"It was unanimously agreed that as the investigation was being conducted by the commissioner of corporations, under a resolution of the senate, the question of bringing a suit should not be decided until the investigation was finished. I assume full responsibility for this decision, but the entire cabinet, including Mr. Taft, heartily concurred in it.

"The talk about the suppression of the report is nonsense. The bureau of corporations has never made a report on the subject. The letter of Commissioner Smith to me, protesting against action by the department of justice, followed exactly the same course as was followed with all such letters that I received. It went to the department of justice, a copy, I presume, being retained in the bureau of corporations.

"I had no idea, and as a matter of fact I never gave a thought as to whether either or both departments would or would not at any time publish it, and until this matter came up was ignorant whether or not it had ever been published. I presume the usual custom was observed in each department.

Sums Up Action Taken.

"Let me sum up:

"1. I took precisely the action in the Harvester trust case that I took in all similar cases.

"2. I am entirely responsible for the action taken, but it was taken with the full approval of the entire cabinet, including Mr. Taft, who was then a member of the cabinet.

"3. There remained at the time less than a year and a half of my administration. During this time, for the reasons given by Mr. Smith, he was not able to finish the report ordered by the senate. During this period, as Mr. Smith writes me, the only instructions I gave him in regard to the report were orders intended to facilitate its preparation and publication.

Taft Fails of Action.

"4. Over three years have elapsed since Mr. Taft became president. During this entire time the letter to Mr. Smith has been in the office of the attorney general, and Mr. Taft cannot have forgotten the debate about it in the cabinet meeting when he was a member of the cabinet and in which he took part. During these three years Mr. Taft could, at any time, have ordered the attorney general to proceed against the Harvester trust without regard to the report, or have requested the commissioner of corporations either to hurry up the report or to give him the reasons why it was impossible to hurry it up.

"5. Not only did I not suppress any papers connected with the case, but I left every paper on file either in the department of justice or in the bureau of corporations and if anything wrong had been done, either in the way of omission or commission, the administration had three years and two months in which to correct the wrong.

"6. Mr. Taft has been over three years in the White House. During that period he has had ample time either to publish the facts or to take action against the Harvester trust. He has taken no action except that now taken, five days before the Massachusetts primary.

Denies Any Improper Purpose.

"7. This matter was brought up in the senate on the motion of Senator Johnston, who, as a member of both committees to investigate Mr. Lorimer, has been his earnest supporter and advocate. The circumstances under which it was passed and responded to give ground for the belief that the prearranged purpose was to show that for some improper reason I had favored the Harvester trust and the Morgan interests. When, under my administration, the Northern Securities suit was brought against Mr. Morgan I was expecting to run—and as a matter of fact did run—for president in 1904. When this Harvester trust matter came up it was certain that I was not going to run, and Mr. Taft expected to run, and I expected that he would run in 1908. The action that I took against Mr. Morgan was taken when I personally was to pay for any consequences resulting from Mr. Morgan's ill will. If the action taken in the Harvester trust did secure the good will of that trust or any of the Morgan interests for anybody it secured their good will for Mr. Taft.

"But, as a matter of fact, in neither case did I consider in any way whether any support would be gained for or alienated from either me or Mr. Taft. In both cases and in all other cases of the kind I considered nothing but what was demanded by right and justice."

SENATOR CRANE LONG AWARE OF CANDIDACY OF ROOSEVELT.

Informed of It a Year Ago in Letter from the Colonel Which Is Withheld from Public.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—Theodore Roosevelt a year ago wrote W. Murray Crane, junior senator from Massachusetts, that he had about determined to become a candidate for a third term.

Senator Crane refuses to make the letter public, but enough has been learned from his colleagues who have seen it to warrant the assertion that Col. Roosevelt, when he "threw his hat into the ring" in his Columbus speech, did so long after he had determined to become a presidential candidate.

"Yes, Col. Roosevelt wrote me concerning the presidential situation about a year ago," Senator Crane said today. "He outlined in this letter his position in regard to a third term. I have the letter in my files, but this is not the time to make its contents public. May be later on I will give it to the newspapers, but not at present."

ILLINOIS TWIN LEGISLATURE TAKES RECESS UNTIL MAY 8.

Senate Passes Again the Appropriation Bills Which Were Knocked Out by the Supreme Court.

Springfield, Ill., April 25.—The second and third special sessions of the Forty-seventh general assembly which started running in conjunction with one another yesterday are now in recess until May 8 next, the second session until 10 a. m., the third until 5 p. m.

At five minutes after 12 o'clock this morning the senate passed all the appropriation bills that were before the second session by reason of the Supreme court knocking out the appropriation for the medical school at the University of Illinois.

In a perfunctory session at 10 o'clock this morning the house received these bills, read them a first time, and referred all to the appropriations committee.

velt forces as well as a personal victory for Gov. Hadley.

Chairman Morris convened the delegates a few minutes before 9 o'clock. He prefaced his introduction of the temporary chairman by congratulating the Republicans on the bright prospect for a harmonious convention.

Gov. Hadley arose to express his approval of Kreismann's selection. He was greeted with deafening cheers and was forced to go to the platform to be heard.

His suggestion that the state committee's recommendations for the temporary organization be unanimously ratified met with approval.

Taft Man for Chairman.

After indulging in what the Roosevelt men declared a farcical investigation of the manufactured contests, the state committee late in the afternoon defeated Gov. Hadley for temporary chairman by one vote. Mayor Frederick H. Kreismann of St. Louis was named.

The committee stood 16 to 16 on the test vote. It fell to Chairman Charles D. Morris, editor of the St. Joseph Gazette, to cast the deciding ballot, and he voted for Mayor Kreismann, after explaining that he did so only because the governor was openly espousing Col. Roosevelt's cause. Mr. Kreismann is an avowed Taft supporter.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Charles Nagel, who also is Republican national committeeman from Missouri, arrived yesterday morning to direct the Taft forces.

It was shortly after the Taft cabinet member put in an appearance that the first of a series of conferences was held.

All overtures were made by the Taft side. Secretary Nagel summoned to the council Postmaster Thomas J. Akins of St. Louis, E. L. Morse, the political man Friday of Richard C. Kerens, the American ambassador to Austria-Hungary, and others subservient to the Taft administration.

Rank and File Backs Hadley.

Back of Gov. Hadley stood the rank and file of the party in the state, most of them young men, who were largely responsible for bringing the "mysterious stranger" from Missouri into the Republican column during the memorable campaign of 1904, when Roosevelt swept the state against Parker.

They not only petitioned but commanded the governor not to yield an inch. Such terms as "thievery," "grand larceny," and "steam roller" were frequently heard in the Roosevelt camp.

In the meantime the contest committee of the state committee continued to grind away. The charge was made that the Taft leaders were trying to tire out the delegates from upstate who were anxious to finish the business of the convention and return to their homes.

In all seventeen contests were heard. Many of them were predicated on the flimsiest of pretexts. All but one were brought by the Taft men against the Roosevelt delegates. The exception was a Clay county contest, where the colonel's supporters questioned the legality of the selection of four Taft men.

Subcommittee Is Split.

The subcommittee was composed of three Taft men and three Roosevelt men. As was anticipated, they accomplished little toward settling the controversies. In nine cases a deadlock was announced, in three delegations were seated for the sake of harmony, in one case the Roosevelt delegates were seated, and in another the Taft men were given credentials on the temporary roll.

Asks Son's Return; Mother Dying.

An appeal made by a friend for a dying mother to find her lost son was received yesterday by Postmaster Campbell. The son is Thomas Delaney, who came to Chicago one month ago. The request is signed by Alice Keating, 529 Mourmouth street, Trenton, N. J.

RIOT AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

Republican Meeting at Little Rock Becomes Fist Battle.

TAFT FORCES HOLD THE FORT

Roosevelt Supporters Meet Outside and Elect Delegates.

Little Rock, Ark., April 25.—[Special.]—Scenes of violence were enacted today when the county Republican convention degenerated in a rough and tumble fight between Taft and Roosevelt supporters.

The first clash occurred at the door of Turner hall, where the convention was to be held. A. C. Remmel, nephew of H. L. Remmel, chairman of the Republican organization in the county, and prominent in the state, was hit over the head with a tomato can in the hands of Sam Cochran, one of the Roosevelt leaders, who, with other supporters of the colonel, was attempting to gain admission to the hall.

A general fight ensued, many cut and bruised heads and limbs resulting. The Taft supporters held the fort triumphantly and the Roosevelt faction was compelled to hold its deliberations on the lawn.

Organization was effected by both bodies and both selected delegates to the state convention on May 5. The Roosevelt faction passed a resolution denouncing the use of federal patronage to the aid of Taft.

The result of today's action will precipitate a fight in the coming state convention, it is predicted.

Since the visit of Col. Roosevelt to Arkansas last Saturday his supporters are more active and what was regarded a month ago as a hopeless fight now seems to be more than an even one for carrying the state for Roosevelt.

ROOM RESERVATIONS MADE FOR G. O. P. CONVENTION TIME.

New York Delegation Engages 100 Apartments at Congress and Many Other States Are Represented.

The last reservation of rooms at the Congress hotel for the Republican national convention season were made yesterday by Manager Edward Burk. The allotment to delegations is as follows:

New York, 100 rooms.
Rhode Island, 15 rooms.
Connecticut, 27 rooms.
New Jersey, 28 rooms.
Pennsylvania, 68 rooms.
Michigan, 4 rooms and headquarters.
Indiana, 40 rooms.
Ohio, 52 rooms
Iowa, headquarters.
Illinois, headquarters.
Tennessee, headquarters.
Oklahoma, headquarters.
Nebraska, headquarters.
Minnesota, headquarters.
Republican League of Clubs of New York, headquarters.

In addition to this roster Roosevelt headquarters have been assigned to the big Florentine banquet hall. The Taft supporters have been allotted headquarters. The National Republican league, headed by John Hays Hammond, has been given headquarters. Forty-six newspapers have engaged rooms.

Novel Features on Program at Big Banquet in New York—Opera and Comedy Heard by Wire.

New York, April 25.—Representative journalists from all over the country were brought together tonight at the annual banquet of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' association at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. The entertainment was interesting throughout, was novel in the character of some of its features.

The telephone played a prominent part in lending both variety and novelty. President Taft, although actually in Boston, addressed the assembled gathering over the long distance wires, his voice being distinctly conveyed to each guest by means of a receiving instrument. In like manner Premier Borden of Canada addressed the guests by long distance telephone from Hot Springs, Va.

HARVESTER SUIT ORDERED BY TAFT

Negotiations for Reorganization Without Court Proceedings Ended.

POLITICS SEEN IN MOVE.

Regarded as an Attempt by the Administration to Discredit Roosevelt.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—Following upon the heels of its disclosure of the Roosevelt correspondence of 1907 relating to the International Harvester company, it is stated tonight the administration has determined to file a suit in equity for the dissolution of that combination.

Negotiations for the reorganization of the combine without court proceedings were brought to a summary end today. They had been in progress for the last three months, Attorney General Wickersham representing the government, and Edgar A. Bancroft, representing the Harvester company.

The ostensible ground for the decision of the administration is that the Harvester company would not accept a plan of reorganization satisfactory to the administration. There is no doubt, however, that political exigency dictated the policy of breaking off the negotiations and filing a bill in equity.

By sending to the senate the Roosevelt correspondence, the administration indirectly charges the former president with stopping the institution of a suit. For the Taft administration to hesitate longer, in the judgment of the president's advisers, would be to make it liable to a like charge.

Aim to Catch Farmers' Votes.

Moreover, it was realized that a suit at this time might be of value politically, especially with the farmers of the states which yet have to vote upon the question of the Republican nominee.

It is reported that the attorney general wanted the Harvester company to dissolve into six independent and separate concerns. The Harvester company was anxious that the parent concern should be allowed to retain control of a foreign as well as a domestic selling company. Apparently Mr. Wickersham did not approve of this proposal. It is unlikely, however, that any proposal would have been satisfactory in view of the decision reached by the administration to prosecute the trust.

The president will be able to answer the Overman resolution asking for all the correspondence in connection with the company since 1904. Senators are wondering if Mr. Wickersham will include a report made to him by Assistant Attorney General Fowler almost two years ago, in which the latter recommended the prosecution of the trust. No action was taken upon the Fowler report.

HOT DEBATE IN SENATE.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—The first sensational political debate in the senate at this session of congress broke today over Col. Roosevelt's official correspondence about the International Harvester company, when he was president in 1907.

Senator Bristow of Kansas was the principal speaker in support of Col. Roosevelt, and Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi was the former president's principal assailant.

Mr. Williams characterized the former president as a "modern Cæsar, willing to seize power by any means," while Mr. Bristow defended the colonel as the modern tribune of the people, and warmly criticised President Taft's administration.

Williams Offers Parody.

The debate became almost ultra sensational when Senator Williams read to the senate a parody on the apostles' creed as follows:

I believe in Theodore Roosevelt, maker of noise and strife, and in Ambition, his only creed (My Lord). He was born of the love of Power and suffered under William H. Taft; was crucified, dead and buried. He descended into Africa. The third year he rose again from the Jungle and ascended into favor and sitteth on the right hand of His Party, whence he shall come to scourge the licked and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Outlook, the big stick, the Annanias club, the forgiveness of political activities, the resurrection of Presidential Ambitions and the Third term everlastingly. Amen, Amen, Amen.

The debate was precipitated by Senator Bristow's return to his charge of yesterday that collusion had existed between the senate and the department of justice in the sending of the official correspondence yesterday and that partiality had been shown in the proceeding, in that only correspondence regarding the course of President Roosevelt's administration had been sent to the senate while the papers relating to the Taft administration's proceedings had not.

Senator Johnston denied there had been an understanding and declared he had seen neither the attorney general nor the president for a month. Senator Clark, of Wyoming, pointed out that the Johnston resolution differed from the others in that it called for certain specific information. He and Senator Nelson gave instances in which Col. Roosevelt, when president, had withheld correspondence with the bureau of corporations.

Bristow Assails Taft Policy.

"It would have to be a matter of grave public concern in which vital interests of the country were affected," returned Senator Bristow, "before I would dig up the confidential correspondence of my predecessor's secretary and his cabinet officers in regard to matters which he had a perfect right to believe would be kept within the confidence of the department, and print them for political campaign purposes."

With that Senator Williams stepped out from his desk and took a position in the center aisle of the senate, where he said: "He could be more impartial as between parties and factions," and entered into a good natured lecture to the Republicans.

Senator Bristow was referred to as one of the chief uplifters of the present time, who was still opposed to lifting the lid from administration secrets. Mr. Bristow insisted that he had been misunderstood.

Senator Williams discussed the correspondence made public yesterday and then touched on the "third term."

Asks a Few Pert Questions.

"Are you going to come out for a third term?" he demanded. "Are you going to forget what Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, and McKinley did and said? Are you going to put all that behind you because of a little keynote phrasing?"

Senator Nelson interjected that his sympathies would be with the Democrats if Col. Roosevelt should be elected.

These Will Act in Comedy by College Club

Twenty-five members of the Chicago College club Dramatic Circle and Glee club will present Percy Mackaye's comedy at Ziegfeld's theater on May 4. Performances will be given in the afternoon and evening. The play is for the benefit of the endowment fund of the club. Miss Marjorie Valentine and Mrs. Harvey Welling will take part.

THOMPSON SUIT ASSAILS PRIMARY

Defeated Lorimer Candidate Seeks to Enjoin Payment of Voting Bills.

OVER $50,000 INVOLVED.

In Complaint He Contends Act Is Void Because It Is Unconstitutional.

An attack upon the present primary law was made yesterday by William Hale Thompson, defeated Lorimer candidate for the Republican nomination for the board of review. In the superior court Mr. Thompson filed a petition for an injunction restraining the county officials from paying the bills accruing from the primary on the grounds that the law is unconstitutional. The petition runs against County Treasurer O'Connell, City Treasurer Henry Stuckart, the election commissioners, and County Clerk Robert Sweitzer.

The W. J. Hartman company, printers, and other firms which supplied the election board with printed matter for the primary also are named as defendants. It is sought to enjoin the payment of about $50,000.

It is contended the act is void because the thirty-two senate amendments to the bill were not printed in accordance with the provisions of the state constitution prior to the concurrence of the house of representatives with the senate in the adoption of the amendments.

The journals of both the house and senate fail to show the amendments by the senate were printed in the house before a final vote was taken by the house, the bill alleges.

MOVE FOR BALLOT RECOUNT SEEN AS PLAN OF "H.-H." RING.

Coffey, Kellermann, and Vopicka to Make Request of Judge Owens—Would Cost the County $20,000.

A recount of all the Democratic ballots cast at the recent primary will be demanded of Judge Owens by two defeated candidates. The recount, if granted, may be extended to include all offices, from state's attorney to precinct committeemen. It would be one of the largest tasks ever attempted by the election board, calling for an expenditure of at least $20,000 and necessitating weeks and possibly several months' work.

This move is desired by the Hearst-Harrison men in an effort to gain additional strength in the fight with Roger Sullivan for control of the party organization, a fight in which Sullivan seems to have gained the upper hand in the battles so far held.

A request for a recount will be made to Judge Owens by Laurence Coffey, defeated candidate for clerk of the Municipal court, and Charles H. Kellerman, election commissioner and defeated candidate for recorder.

Charles J. Vopicka, defeated Harrison-Hearst candidate for board of review, has announced his intention of demanding a recount if not returned a winner over Fred W. Blocki in the official canvass.

Mr. Coffey last night declared that he had not filed any petition for a recount as yet, and added that he would wait until the canvass had been completed before taking any action.

LID OFF WEST SIDE, SAYS DEAN.

The Rev. W. T. Sumner Says City Administration Has Ignored the Vice Commission's Recommendations.

Dean W. T. Sumner asserted last night that the vice district on the west side which was closed up a year ago by order of Mayor Harrison was opening up again. The statement was made in an address on "Some Phases of Social and Civic Warfare" at the Kenwood Evangelical church.

"There is a general belief that conditions are better than they were a year ago," said the dean, "but they haven't changed much. The west side district is beginning to open up again.

"The present administration does not feel kindly toward the vice commission and has made no effort to carry out the recommendations of that commission. I am anxious to have Mr. McCutcheon, THE TRIBUNE cartoonist, take Dawson into some of these problems which confront the young man who comes to Chicago."

PEARSONS TALKS TO HIS FRIENDS

Aged Philanthropist Rallies and Rouses Often from Comatose Condition.

MAY LIVE, SAYS DOCTOR.

Thinks 92 Years of Right Living and Iron Will May Pull Him Through Crisis.

Daniel K. Pearsons, the 92 year old philanthropist, who is lying at the Hinsdale sanitarium dangerously ill of pneumonia, has a chance of recovery from his present illness.

This was the opinion of his physicians and nurses last evening after witnessing the remarkable rally made during the preceding twenty-four hours by the venerable patient. Wednesday night the physicians thought Dr. Pearsons was dying, but his heart action became stronger and he showed every indication of getting better.

At 12:30 o'clock this morning Dr. Pearsons' temperature was 99.6; his respiration, 34, and his pulse 98. He still was being given oxygen.

Able to Talk a Little.

He was able to talk a little yesterday morning, but later in the day he entered a state of coma from which he aroused at infrequent intervals. His strength, however, remained during these comatose periods and at times of consciousness the philanthropist spoke a few words to his attendants.

Scores of friends of Dr. Pearsons called at the sanitarium during the day to inquire about his condition.

Dr. David Paulson, superintendent of the sanitarium, returned during the day from Lincoln, Neb., to take charge of the case of his most widely known patient. He stated at night that while the doctor's chances for recovery were slender, his wonderful constitution might pull him through the present attack.

Surprise to All Attendants.

"Dr. Pearsons lived through Wednesday night and surprised us all," Dr. Paulson said. "I do not see much chance for his recovery, but he may get well. All his life he has taken most extraordinary care of himself. He never has abused himself in any way. He has a constitution almost perfect. He has lived the old fashioned life, which we are breaking away from. Besides all this he has a will of iron. These things, which are lacking in most of us, have kept him alive."

The physician said Dr. Pearsons' blood vessels are in as good condition as those of the ordinary man of 50. Since his residence at the sanitarium the philanthropist has stayed continuously on a vegetable diet. A heart tonic is the only medicine now being administered to the patient, his attendants say.

AGREEMENT REACHED TO END ANTHRACITE COAL DISPUTE.

Miners to Get Increased Wages and Partial Recognition of the Union, According to Subcommittee's Plan.

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—An agreement has been reached by the subcommittee appointed to mediate the differences between the anthracite coal operators and the miners, which brings to light the end of the suspension in the coal fields.

It will be presented to the full committee on May 2, and, if approved, will be brought before the miners. If they accept it a contract will be drawn up and signed.

By the terms of the agreement the 170,000 miners will get a flat raise of 10 per cent, but this will amount to only 5½ per cent in cash, as the sliding scale under which they now receive 4½ per cent will be abolished; part recognition of the union; several minor concessions.

Sign Soft Coal Contract.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 25.—With the formal signing of the Cleveland wage contract today by representatives of the United Mine Workers of America and the bituminous coal mine owners, peace was established in the central competitive field for the next two years so far as wages are concerned.

RITES FOR NEW CAMPANILE

Venice Rejoices at Restoration of Tower Which Fell in 1902.

NINE YEARS TO REBUILD IT.

Church and State Authorities Join in Dedication Ceremonies.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

VENICE, Italy, April 25.—After solemn dedication ceremonies the bells of the campanile of St. Mark's cathedral today rang out over Venice for the first time in nine years. Nine years of work rebuilding the famous pile culminated in a great celebration by church and state authorities, attended by representatives of every province in Italy and every country in Europe. A phonographic record of the first ringing of the bells was dispatched by special messenger to Rome to be delivered to the vatican.

Pope Weeps in Disappointment.

Pope Pius X., who more than any other man, loved the old campanile that collapsed in 1902, wept in the vatican at Rome because he could not hear the bells by telephone as first proposed. Arrangements had been made to have the ringing of the bells, the artillery salute that was fired, and the speeches made transmitted to Pope Pius from his old home by long distance telephone, but the pope's physicians decided against it.

Wonderful Piece of Architecture.

The wonderful architecture of the restored campanile flashed from behind the last disfiguring scaffold after the last of the civil authorities had made his speech. Long before the churchmen of St. Mark's had held their religious celebration, at which was sang for the first time an antiphonal chorus adopted by Pope Pius, a special prayer of benediction composed for the occasion by the pope was also recited.

RAID LOSES DOCTOR FIANCEE.

Miss Margaret Cassavaw Finds Dr. H. T. Cummings Has Wife When Flat Is Invaded.

Dr. Charles W. Cleveland, 459 East Thirty-fifth street, has lost his fiancée, Miss Margaret Cassavaw, as a result of the raid Mrs. Henry T. Cummings made on the flat at 3002 South Park avenue on Saturday night. The young woman had accepted the physician's attentions under the impression that he was free to marry. The story that he had a wife living with her father, Moses R. Cass, 365 South Campbell avenue, proved a revelation to her.

Dr. Cleveland and Dr. Cummings selected the South Park avenue flat for Miss Cassavaw and Miss Ina Wilson. The understanding was that Miss Cassavaw was soon to become Mrs. Cleveland. Two weeks ago Miss Wilson became ill and returned to her home in Fort Dodge, Ia. Dr. Cummings, it is said, then installed Miss Claudia B. Smith. The latter's companionship proved objectionable to Miss Cassavaw, who prepared to move.

Miss Cassavaw was not in the flat when Mrs. Cummings surprised her husband and Miss Smith. Miss Cassavaw also denies that she was in the Cummings office at 3019 Indiana avenue when two school teachers were entertained there recently.

WILLIAM B. SULLIVAN DEAD.

Attorney and Publisher Succumbs After Several Months' Illness Following Malarial Attack.

William Baldwin Sullivan, attorney and publisher, died yesterday at his residence, 624 Grant place, after several months' illness, the result of an attack of malaria last fall.

He was born in 1834 in Toronto, Canada, his father being the late Chief Justice Robert Baldwin Sullivan, at one time mayor of Toronto. Mr. Sullivan received his diploma as a Canadian and practiced for several years in that country. In 1864 he was in the quartermaster's service in the army of the Cumberland in the late rebellion, was admitted to the Chicago bar in 1870, and from 1872 to 1890 law editor of the Inter Ocean, as well as publisher of the Chicago Law Directory. He was prominent in the world's fair in 1893, having procured over $100,000 from lawyers.

The police have been asked to search for Miss Martha Rader, 18 years old, 2635 North Sacramento avenue, who has disappeared. She wore a long tan coat, a black hat trimmed with white feathers, a white shirtwaist, and a black skirt. She has dark brown eyes and hair and is of medium stature.

WILD ANIMALS HEM IN FEZ JEWS

Hundreds of Emaciated People Caged Like Beasts in Sultan's Garden.

7,000 ARE MADE HOMELESS

Mob in Recent Revolt Tears the Clothes from Men, Women, and Children.

FEZ, April 25.—The Jewish quarter of Fes presents a lamentable spectacle as a result of the recent pillaging and looting by the revolting populace and mutinous Moorish soldiers.

On the occasion of the preceding ravaging of the quarter the scenes enacted did not approach in horror and devastation those which occurred last week.

Of the 12,000 Jewish residents of the capital no fewer than 7,000 have been rendered homeless by fire and these have taken refuge, naked and hungry, in the gardens of the sultan's palace.

Wild Animals Surround Refugees.

Hundreds of emaciated human beings are huddled together there in empty cages of the sultan's menagerie, and these are surrounded by cages containing wild beasts, which, maddened by the sight of human flesh, fill the gardens with their roars.

When they attacked Mellah, the Jewish quarter, the people composing the infuriated mob were chiefly bent on pillaging. They tore the clothing from men, women, and children alike, and these, shrieking with terror, raced for refuge into the palace gardens.

Mob Makes Good Job at Burning.

The mob then sacked and burned at its leisure destroying everything that came in its way. The synagogues were wrecked and the sacred books and parchments torn and burned.

Objects too heavy to be carried off, like beds and furniture, were first hacked to pieces and then piled in the streets and set on fire.

The streets are a picture of desolation. Here and there are to be seen the naked corpses of persons who were struck down while trying to escape from the frenzied Moors.

ITALIANS KILL 300 TURKS IN KUMKALEH FORT ATTACK.

Constantinople Running Short of Provisions as Result of Action of Foe's Fleet Against the Dardanelles.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, April 26, 3 a. m.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Chronicle says the bombardment of the Dardanelles fort by the Italian warships was much more serious than is officially admitted.

The Kumkaleh fort was completely demolished. Three hundred Turks were killed and 315 wounded. Of the latter 265 were brought to Constantinople, while the other fifty are in the hospital at Kumkaleh.

The situation in Constantinople is becoming more serious daily. There is a dearth of provisions, and it is feared that nothing in that line is coming in.

One hundred steamships are waiting in Greek harbors for permission to pass the Dardanelles. There is plenty of cereals aboard the ships in the Bosphorus, but all are consigned abroad.

The funeral will be held at the residence Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

ROYAL MINISTER SCORED ON DUEL

Leader of Center Party Denounces Utterance of the Kaiser's Official.

ADDRESS IN REICHSTAG.

Catholics of Germany Aroused by Defense of So-Called Code of Honor.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BERLIN, April 25.—Minister of War Von Heering's defense of duelling in the army has stirred up a hornet's nest, not only in the army, but all through the country.

The paper Germania voices Catholic opinion when it declares that Von Heering's utterance was a sneer at the penal code and a deliberate expression of contempt for religion. It will do more to propagate revolution, says Germania, than any anarchist would be able to do.

The subject again occupied the attention of the reichstag today. Herr Spahn, the leader of the Center party, read a strong protest against the minister's remarks in behalf of his party. He declared among other things that Minister Von Heering had put himself outside the law and declared that the matter would be further discussed in committee.

How Build Today To Replace the Worn-out Parts of Yesterday?

Each day thinkers use up cells of the Brain.

Each day active workers destroy cells in the nerve centers.

If the food lacks the things Nature demands for rebuilding, Nervous Prostration and Brain-fag result.

Suppose a bricklayer tried to build a wall and the boss furnished brick, sand and water, but left out the lime?

Suppose you eat plenty of albumin and take sufficient water, but neglect food which contains Phosphate of Potash?

Nature cannot rebuild gray matter in nerve centers and brain without Phosphate of Potash which binds together albumin and water to make it.

Phosphate of Potash, as grown in the grains by Nature, is more than half the mineral salts in Grape-Nuts.

CHAMPION WOOER APPEALS TO LAW

Alaskan Causes Arrest of Woman After Courtship in Chicago Hotels.

SHE TELLS OF ROMANCE.

After Almost Hourly Proposals Jilted Man Wants Presents Returned.

Presents valued at $1,000 which George W. Astrup, Alaskan millionaire, says he gave to Miss Belle Morton under promise that she would marry him, form the basis of a warrant upon which she was arrested last night on a charge of larceny as bailee.

Astrup is president of the Northern Fish and Trading company of Petersburg, Alaska. That town, he says, was founded by him. He has been a guest of the Hotel La Salle for two months. His secretary is with him.

Miss Morton is a vivacious little woman of 27 or thereabouts. She says Astrup is the world's champion wooer for persistency and fervency. She met the Alaskan a week ago last Tuesday in somewhat unromantic fashion, but if half of what she says is true there has been enough romance chucked into the last ten days to last her a lifetime. She lives at 67 East Thirtieth street.

She Tells Her Story to Police.

According to the story which she told Lieut. Grady of the Cottage Grove avenue station last night, she has refused to marry Astrup—not once, but a dozen times—accepted and later refused a trip to Paris, and, fearing that he would kill her unless she complied with his demand of "immediate marriage," she fled, taking with her the presents he had given her.

These articles include a pearl coat chain, a gold bracelet, and a diamond ring.

Astrup is a widower, 48 years old. He went to Alaska twenty years ago. He is modest talking of his wealth.

"There was nothing of the romantic in our meeting," Miss Morton told Lieut. Grady. "Mr. Astrup called up a certain telephone number and I happened to answer the call. He talked so nicely over the phone that he persuaded me to go to the Hotel La Salle, where he was staying. The moment he saw me pass through the ladies' entrance he recognized me by the way I was dressed. I had told him what I would wear.

"He came up and spoke to me. I extended my hand, and that is how we became acquainted.

She Said He Proposed.

"The first day we were together we went automobile riding through the parks, and after dinner at the Congress I made some remark about going home. He said: 'You're not going home, little girl; you're going to marry me.'

"Really, I was frightened at his manner. He is a clever conversationalist, a good mixer, and the most liberal spender I ever saw. Why, he doesn't care any more for a million than if it were a nickel.

"The next day I told him I needed some articles of wearing apparel, and that it would be necessary for me to go to the house where I roomed.

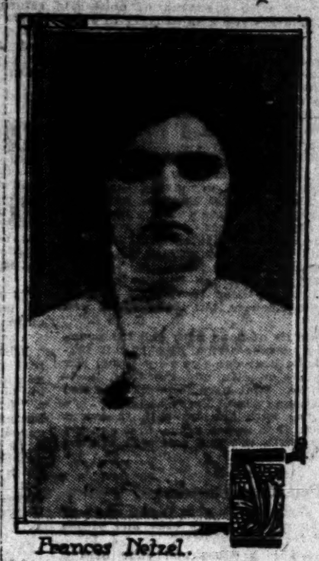

"'Make out a list of what you want,' he said, 'and we'll go to a store and buy them.' The presents of jewelry he made me were all given under any promise of marriage. I went to New York for them. When I came away from him I took them with me.

"Finally was compelled to tell him that I was married, and as I was not divorced I could not marry him. Then I ran away from him."

Report on Telephone Meters Due.

Ald. J. J. Cermak announced yesterday that he would call a special meeting of the new gas, oil, and light committee for Monday afternoon to hear a report from Prof. E. W. Bemis, city expert, upon his investigation of telephone meters. The report was ordered sometime ago.

Police Are Seeking This Missing Girl.

Frances Netzel.

The police have been asked to search for Frances Netzel, who disappeared on Tuesday morning from her home at 1621 Girard street. She was 17 years old. "She had a good home, but was not happy because I would not let her stay out nights or go to the moving picture shows," said her mother. The girl's brothers, Frank and Joseph Netzel, rubber dealers at 218 West Ontario street, said they would offer a reward if she is not found by the police. She is 5 feet 4 inches in height, has light brown hair and blue eyes, and wore a black dress with a plain white waist.

SEES NEW ERA IN MEDICINE; INCURABLE DISEASES WANING.

Dr. J. B. Murphy Says Quarter Century Will Bring Greater Progress—Speaks at Loyola Alumni Banquet.

"The science of internal medicine," said Dr. John B. Murphy last night at the eighteenth annual banquet of the Loyola University Alumni association, "will make its greatest strides of advancement during the present quarter century. Surgery came to the forefront during the last quarter. Now we shall see great discoveries in internal medicine.

"Lockjaw and hydrophobia, a few years ago almost incurable, are not at all dangerous today if caught in time. The most terrible of private diseases has been conquered, and all these triumphs in medical science belong rightfully to internal medicine."

In dwelling on the development of medical science Dr. Murphy said that the decrease in the number of medical schools in this country was one of the signals of great advancement.

"Less than twenty-five years ago we had little diagnosis and a great deal of prescriptions," continued Dr. Murphy. "Now we have more diagnosis and less of the prescriptions. We have come to regard the skillful diagnostician as the ideal physician.

"The small university like Loyola must realize that in order to hold its own it must make up in hard labor and sacrifice for the handicap in the race with the great state universities of this country with unlimited funds at their disposal."

Judge Marcus Kavanagh, Quin O'Brien, the Rev. Timothy E. O'Shea, William N. Brown, William O'Brien, and Dr. Edward F. Garraghan, president of the Loyola Alumni association, were the other speakers. The banquet was held in the Hotel Sherman. Michael V. Kannally was the toastmaster.

AWED WOMEN SEE 'GHOST' IN ATTIC

Mother Tries All Winter to Explain Weird Night Noises to Hushed Children.

NEW TENANTS SEE MAN.

Youth Who Slept in Warm Drying Room Falls Downstairs When Locked Out.

Mysterious noises have been disturbing the peace of tenants of the two story building at 741 Melrose street. In the middle of the night and sometimes early in the evening throughout the winter often came strange knocks or thumps.

"Be brave. It is the wind," Mrs. Sarah Ludlow would say to her children.

"But how can the wind pound so?" the son would often ask.

"It is because the second flat is empty."

"Is an empty house always haunted by mysterious sounds?" the daughter would query.

For answer all would huddle nearer together.

After an English family moved into the flat two weeks ago Mrs. Ludlow said to her children when she heard the noises:

"They are tacking down their rugs."

This Family Not So Calm.

But Daniel Gebbie, wife, baby, and sister-in-law, Miss Elizabeth Mittlestaedt, occupants of the second flat, were not so tolerant of the strange noises. They heard so many, they thought of moving. They just had moved from 4043 Park avenue, on the west side, for a quieter neighborhood, but had been disappointed, they said.

Mr. Gebbie is a chauffeur for L. P. Friestedt and is away from home a great deal. Mrs. Gebbie and her sister began to hear the mysterious noises every night. They pounded on the floor to attract the attention of the tenants below, hoping that they would come to their assistance. But the tenants of the first flat, not knowing one sound from the other, remained silent.

After a night or two a woman's scream shrilled down from the story above.

Find Source of Noises.

Miss Mittlestaedt had seen a man wearing a derby climbing the back stairs. He passed on to the attic above. His feet pounded dully on the stairs, resounding through the building. Then everything was quiet. The second evening, about 10 o'clock, the tall young man in the derby tumbled down the back stairs.

A policeman was called in. With a candle in one hand and a revolver in the other the officer explored the attic, used as a drying room for clothes on wash day.

It was found the strange, well dressed young man had appropriated the attic for his bedroom and had slept there undisturbed all winter while the lonely women and children filled with creepy thoughts listened below.

Gebbies Lock Attic Door.

The door of the attic had not been locked all winter. It was easy to climb to it up the back stairs on the outside of the building. The young man slept snugly between the two warm chimneys beneath the roof.

When the Gebbies moved in they locked the drying room. When the tall young man found the door to his bedroom locked he began peering in at the windows to see the new family who had moved in and cheated him of his comfortable sleeping quarters.

That is how he happened to tumble down the back stairs.

How to Save.

If you wish to know how to save, call at the Harris Trust and Savings Bank, 111 to 117 West Monroe street, and ask for a free copy of the household expense account book. This book outlines a system for saving enough money out of what is ordinarily wasted in daily expenses to start a bank account.—Adv.

WOMEN JOIN ZION CITY WAR

Try to Persuade Girl Toilers to Stop Working with 'Smokers.'

POLICE DRIVE THEM BACK.

Attorney Seeks Injunction Against Voliva Billboards.

The women followers of Wilbur Glenn Voliva took a hand in the Zion City "smoke war" yesterday. While the men confined themselves to song and prayer in the vicinity of the Cook Electrical company's factory, the women adopted suffraget tactics, with the result that the police were called to prevent a serious clash.

A whole regiment of Zionites was lined up in front of the factory in the evening when the employés walked out. The men berated the workmen for profaning Zion City with tobacco.

Police Drive Back Women.

Then out walked two young women employés, Miss Minnie Callahan and Miss Alice Ragan. A flying wedge of Zion women started for them. One of them seized Miss Ragan by the arm and shook her.

"You are not ladies or you wouldn't work with men who smoke," taunted the leader.

A call for the police had been sent in and a squad arrived and drove back the Zionites.

The erection of ten billboards on all sides of the factory has been started. On these will be painted exhortations to "turn from the road of hell and forsake the devil."

Seeks to Enjoin Billboards.

One has been erected in front of the home of William Fabry, an attorney, and one of the Independents. Fabry took the next train to Waukegan, where he applied in the Circuit court for an injunction. This will be passed upon today.

A ban on the chewing of gum was yesterday issued by Overseer Voliva to the women of Zion City.

BAKERS TO TAKE A STRIKE VOTE.

May Decide to Quit Work Saturday Night—Bread Wagon Drivers Also Consider War.

Union bakers of Chicago will meet tomorrow and decide by referendum vote whether to strike at midnight on Saturday night or continue negotiations for a new wage scale. The union is demanding an increase of $1 a week. All the big bread manufacturers have refused to sign the new agreement.

Bread wagon drivers have threatened to walk out on May 1. This organization also will take a strike vote tomorrow.

There are about 300 members in each organization.

Helen Elizabeth Reed Bride of Ohio Pastor.

THE marriage of Miss Helen Elizabeth Reed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Reed of 217 South Euclid avenue, Oak Park, and the Rev. James Howard McBane of Dayton, O., son of Mr. and Mrs. P. McBane, took place last night at 8:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church of Oak Park. The Rev. Dr. George N. Luccock performed the ceremony.

Miss Laura Lydston of Chicago was the maid of honor and Miss Hazel Moore and Miss Eunice Hostetter were the bridemaids. J. T. McBane of Monmouth, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man, and Homer W. Woodbury, Stewart Johnston of Oak Park, and Ernest and Robert Reed of La Grange, cousins of the bride, were the ushers.

The party was completed by Grace Elizabeth Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Taylor, who was the flower girl. A reception at the family residence followed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white crêpe meteor and lace with tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a gown of pink satin, with chiffon and pearls, and carried pink roses, and the bridemaids were in pink chiffon taffeta with pink marquisette caps trimmed in rosebuds. They carried baskets of sweet peas. The Rev. and Mrs. McBane will live in Dayton, O.

The board of the Boys' Shelter will give an entertainment for the benefit of the boys of Allendale farm, located at Lake Villa, Ill., at the Illinois theater on May 11. The Blackfriars of the University of Chicago will assist at the entertainment. The president of the board is Mrs. James C. Ellwood, with Mrs. James O. Hinckley and Mrs. E. L. Wickwire as first and second vice presidents, respectively; Mrs. George Lounsbery as recording secretary, Mrs. Alfred C. Crofton as corresponding secretary, and Mrs. E. B. Price as treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. John King, Harvard, Ill., announce the engagement of their daughter, Besse, to Frank P. Collyer of Wilmette. The wedding will take place on June 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McHugh of the Lexington have returned from Phoenix, Ariz., where they went to attend the wedding of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth McHugh, and Winsor Boyden Day, which took place at the Marguerita ranch Sunday afternoon, April 14. Mr. and Mrs. McHugh are planning an automobile tour of the Berkshires and the White mountains, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Day, this summer. On Nov. 12 they will sail from New York for a trip around the world.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Squires of the Hotel Windermere expect to have their son, Bradshaw Squires of Berkeley, Cal., with them for a few days next week.

Dr. and Mrs. Casey Wood have returned from California and are again at the Virginia.

Mrs. John W. Cary of New York is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Stone, 1411 Hudson avenue, Evanston. Mr. and Mrs. Stone expect to sail within a few days for Europe to be gone two months.

H. H. Windsor and family, 1026 Forest avenue, Evanston, are back from Daytona, Fla., where they spent the winter.

A number of dinners will precede the musical to be given at the Illinois theater Sunday afternoon by Miss Edna Gunnar Peterson, pianist, protégé of the Amateur Musical club; Mrs. Lulu Jones Downing, composer; Miss Grace Hickox, reader, and Marion Green, baritone.

Mrs. Charles S. Deneen, who was a sponsor for the Tifin musicales given at the Blackstone during the winter under the direction of Mrs. Eleanor Fisher, will come from Springfield to attend the musical.

Mrs. William Swift Holabird, 424 South Irving avenue, is one of the sponsors for the dramatic recital to be given May 2 at 3 o'clock by Marguerite Saxton in Recital hall of the Whitney building. Mrs. Thomas White, president of the Southern Woman's club, will head the receiving line at the reception which will follow the program. "The Master Mind" by Ophelia Lawrence Blair, will be read by Mrs. Saxton, who also will give four scenes from "Antony and Cleopatra."

The Wilson College club of Chicago is giving its annual spring luncheon at the Hotel La Salle tomorrow.

Points Out Street Dust Peril.

The menace to public health that lies in the dust laden streets of Chicago was pointed out to the members of the Hamilton club by Ald. Willis O. Nance, chairman of the city council health committee, in an address in the parlors of the club yesterday after luncheon. The alderman said smoky air is not so perilous to human health as air laden with decaying animal and vegetable dust. This is the dust that ordinarily settles in a city's streets. The carbon in smoky air, he said, does settle in the lungs and weakens their power of resisting disease germs.

Speaks in Two Cities at Once.

At the monly banquet of the Rotary club of Chicago at the Richelieu café last night, Paul P. Harris, president of the national organization, spoke on "Organization," at the same time talking to the members of the Rotary club of Kansas City by means of a long distance telephone that connected the two banquet halls.

Responses from Kansas City said the address was entirely clear, and the members of the local club, who were provided with receivers, could hear the cheering of their Missouri confreres.

Roland Cole gave a stereopticon address on office equipment.

MISS REGINA HARTMAN

Miss Regina Hartman will take part in the annual prom of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority to be held this evening at the Germania club. Miss Bess Kent and Charles McNamee, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Ratty and John Manning, will lead the grand march. Others interested in the evening's festivities are Misses Katherine Burke, Irene Crane, Agnes McDonnell, Bernice Riley, Frances Ratty, Winifred Lagoria, and Mrs. T. B. Maginnis.

Drama League Convention Closes.

The annual convention of the Drama League of America closed at the Auditorium hotel yesterday afternoon after it was decided to meet in Chicago in 1913.

A paper on "Intelligent Playgoing" was read by Dr. Richard Burton of the University of Minnesota.

Officers for 1912 were chosen as follows:

President—Mrs. Charles Howard Besly, Hinsdale, Ill.
Secretary—Mrs. Harry P. Jones, Chicago.
Treasurer—Mrs. William T. Abbott, Chicago.
Vice presidents—Dr. Richard Burton, Minneapolis; Mrs. Herman Landauer, Chicago; Mrs. B. P. Sherry, Chicago; Mrs. Louis Kaufman, Anspacher, New York; Mrs. Frank Choteau Brown, Brooklyn; Mrs. Otis Skinner, New York.
Directors—Dr. George Pierce Baker, Boston; Mrs. A. Starr Best, Evanston; Theodore B. Hinckley, Chicago; Miss Alice Murray Houston, Evanston; Eames MacVeagh, Chicago; Mrs. Paul Shorey, Chicago; John E. Williams, Streator, Ill.

"Johnny" Hand Coming Back at Show.

When the household show opens at the Coliseum next Thursday show visitors will be afforded the opportunity of seeing the famous old band leader, "Johnny" Hand, lead Hand's band in much the same manner as when he used to charm the music loving Chicagoans of a generation ago.

For one memorable day "Johnny" will be back, and then he will deliver the old memory incrusted ebony baton to his son and worthy successor, Armin, who will lead the band during the remaining days of the show.

Time was when "Johnny" would stay and see his part in the whole proceeding through.

"People in those days," says "Johnny," "took their time. I did, too, and to that I owe my sprightliness today. I think there is no better way to insure feeling young when you're old than to act old when you're young."

Kavanagh to Make Lecture Tour.

Judge Marcus A. Kavanagh of the Superior court of Cook county, who long has advocated a number of important reforms in court procedure, plans to inaugurate an effective movement along these lines.

Arrangements were closed yesterday by the Redpath Lyceum bureau of Chicago for the judge to lecture at forty chautauquas, beginning in Tennessee and closing his tour in Michigan during the court vacation.

At these forty chautauquas he will reach in all 200,000 people. The tour will require six weeks.

Hebrew Institute to Hold Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting and supper of the Chicago Hebrew institute will take place on next Sunday at 6 p. m. in the large auditorium of the Chicago Hebrew institute, 1258 West Taylor street. Julius Rosenwald will be the chairman of the evening. Judge Julian W. Mack will be the speaker.

Woman's Party Stirred; Gives Up Headquarters.

IN spite of declarations by Mrs. Myra Strawn Hartshorn, president of the woman's party, that headquarters would be permanently maintained in the Hotel La Salle and that she had private funds contributed for the purpose if the club refused to vote money, the rooms have been abandoned.

No advance notice was given and visitors yesterday were confronted by a closed door and information at the desk that the party had given up its headquarters.

Mrs. Hartshorn was asked about the situation over the telephone, but was not disposed to be communicative.

"What about the funds for maintaining permanent headquarters in the hotel?" Mrs. Hartshorn was asked.

"We will have our regular meeting on the second Friday in May," she answered.

"Did you abandon the rooms or did your committee?"

"We will serve tea at the household exhibit on Saturday and Sunday."

"Did you know they were going to be abandoned?"

"We wish to continue the splendid work of the campaign."

Mrs. Charlotte Rhodus and other officers of the organization were more communicative.

"There was an executive meeting before the general meeting on Wednesday," said a member of the executive committee. "We decided then to abandon the rooms, which easily could be reëngaged in case of a campaign or other circumstances making it advisable. We needed the money and decided to take other rooms. We are considering a place in the Security building.

"Things are in a terrible mixup. Mrs. Hartshorn called a special meeting for last Thursday. This she had a perfect right to do, but she had no right to do what she did after getting it together. The constitution provides for certain officers. All are elected. She had a third vice chairman elected at this special session of the committee, which does not have the power to elect even if there is an office vacant. She had her machine elect Miss Mary E. Miller third vice chairman.

"Mrs. Lorette Randall is the treasurer and has never resigned. Mrs. Hartshorn, however, had Mrs. Thomas Hickey elected treasurer. She had Dr. Eleanor Fish elected financial secretary. The chances are that as a result this executive meeting of Wednesday will have to be called off and all done over again."

Some of the members have said openly they think the woman's party, which claims a membership of more than 1,000, will be abandoned. Others declare there will be a complete change of officers and that the civic and industrial work attempted will go on.

Pleads Cause of Suffrage.

The benefits to accrue from woman suffrage were explained and a plea was made for support of the suffrage movement by Miss Florence King, the principal speaker at the monthly luncheon of the Woman's club of the Allied Drug Trade association of Chicago at the Hotel La Salle yesterday afternoon.

"The women that are opposed to the equal franchise," she said, "are mostly those confined to their homes by household cares and duties, and it is our duty to show these opponents in what manner suffrage will benefit them. Woman can educate her children just as well if she is given suffrage."

The officers chosen for 1912 are:

President—Mrs. Frederick Starr.
First vice president—Mrs. Albert Schroeder.
Second vice president—Mrs. George Moyes.
Secretary—Mrs. George Lens.
Treasurer—Mrs. A. B. Zuber.
Social chairman—Mrs. M. S. Stuart.

Mrs. Starr, who presided, announced that the closing meeting of the year would be a breakfast at the Hotel La Salle the morning of May 23.

Suffragists in Play Convention.

Forty girls of the Northwestern Suffrage league will reproduce a Republican state convention this evening in Fisk hall. The moment depicted will be the one when the suffragists of the state make their supreme effort to get a plank indorsing suffrage into the platform. Miss Irene Farnum, president of the league, is in charge of the festivities, which form a part of a longer program in which the subject of suffrage plays no part.

Banquet for State Lawyers.

An elaborate banquet has been arranged for the members of and delegates to the annual meeting of the Illinois State Bar association which convenes today in Chicago. The banquet will take place at the Hotel La Salle tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock and will end the meeting.

Nakama Club Installs Officers.

A program of readings and music was presented at the annual luncheon of the Nakama club at the Hotel La Salle yesterday, after which officers for 1912 were installed. Mrs. Clarence B. Dickson, monologist and reader, presented writings of Clyde Fitch and Richard Henry Little, and Mrs. G. E. M. Pratt sang several songs. The new president is Mrs. Newton B. Hall.

Pie Crust Recipe.

"I have a good pie crust for one pie, which I have used since the old nurse, once a cook, told me about it when she nursed mother, twenty-six years ago.

"I have a good muffin recipe (one egg). I have no cook book. All my recipes were given to me by friends or relatives. "MRS. W. C. P."

Grant us the benefit of some of those unpublished recipes—won't you? And why do you not collect them into a manuscript cook book for the use of yourself and friends?

That was the way I began my first cook book, afterwards edited and published under the title of "Common Sense in the Household." I argued that what helped me might probably be of use to others.

Send Hat to Expert.

"Will you kindly publish in your Corner a good dye (black) for a light yellow straw hat? I have a lovely chip straw hat that faded in ugly patches from the sun, and as I have had several spoiled by professional cleaners, I resolved to clean this one at home. If you know of any dye that will not affect the straw I should be thankful for your kind advice. "F. F. B."

Don't attempt to dye the hat yourself. You live in the city. Take it to a professional dyer and have it properly done. I have little faith in amateur dyeing where the thing treated is valuable.

Molasses Lemon Pie.

"Several have asked me for a recipe for molasses lemon pie. Being desirous of knowing myself, I take the liberty to write you. "E. J. B."

MOLASSES LEMON PIE.

Slice three lemons thin, leaving the peel on. Peel two others and slice in like manner. Line a plate with a good crust, put in a layer of lemon, half of each kind, peeled and unpeeled. Pour in enough molasses to cover the layer; cover with a second of unpeeled slices; more molasses and a third layer of what you have left. Lay on the top crust, pinch down the eges; make incisions in the top and bake in a steady oven. Cover for the first half hour, then brown. Eat cold with white sugar sifted over the top.

This recipe was given to me forty years ago by a famous Knickerbocker housewife.

Recipe for Popovers.

"Will you kindly tell me how to make popovers? I have succeeded in making them pop down instead of up. Can they be baked in an ordinary gem tin? Have you any idea why they are so hard to make? I have a colored cook who said she had made them all her life, but she could not at the present time, nor could she account for her inability.

"Also, could you tell me how to clean a Wilton rug that has been thoroughly cleaned by the vacuum cleaners, but looks soiled and dull? G. M. E."

Sift two cupfuls of flour with one teaspoonful of baking powder twice, also half a teaspoonful of salt; beat one egg very light; stir into two cupfuls of milk, add the flour, beating all the time. Beat hard four minutes and bake in heated gem pans. Serve at once.

Cover the rug with fine dry salt. Leave it on for an hour, then sweep twice, first against the nap, then with it. The salt will cleanse and freshen the colors.

Pork Cake Directions.

"Will you please tell in your Corner the way to prepare the pork for pork cake and please give a recipe for clam chowder? J. B."

Cut the pork into cubes and pour boiling water over it. Leave it alone for an hour, then drain.

Clam Chowder: Put into a pot a layer of chopped fat, salt pork, then a layer of clams; sprinkle with minced onion and parsley and cover with split and soaked Boston crackers. Proceed in this order until seventy-five clams are used, then sprinkle with pepper and cover with boiling water. Bring slowly to a boil and simmer for an hour. Drain off the liquid and return to the fire, keeping the other ingredients warm over boiling water, add a lump of butter the size of an egg rolled in flour to the liquid, and, if you like, a cup of tomato juice. Boil up once, add the rest of the ingredients, and bring once more to the boil. Serve at once.

Too Much Salt.

"Some weeks ago the following recipe was contributed to the Corner: 'My Muffins—One third of a cup of butter, one-fourth of a cup of sugar, and the same of salt; one egg, three cups of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one cup of milk. Beat butter, sugar, and egg until creamy. Add the milk, a little at a time, stirring in gradually the flour, which has been sifted twice with salt and baking powder. Grease the muffin pans, heat slightly, put in the mixture, and bake quickly. "MRS J. E. W."

"I willingly concede the above article may be well written. Do you, however, regard quite so much salt as needful? "UNPRACTICAL HOUSEWIFE."

Who proves her sagacity, her ctourtesy, and real friendliness towards the Corner by her gentle correction of an obvious and inexcusable blunder. The recipe should have called for a "scant teaspoonful of salt." How the glaring error crept in at the first, and how it escaped the censorship of editor and secretary, is an unexplained mystery. I thank the "Unpractical Housewife," who, having detected it, gave me the opportunity of rectifying it, and put the corps, having the supervision of recipes in hand, upon their guard for the future.

Use Salts of Lemon.

"Some medicine, having leaked in a trunk, left a green stain on a pair of new white canvas ties. How can I remove the discoloration? "A. I. M."

Wet with water and rub in salts of lemon. Lay in the sun, renewing wetting and salts hourly all day. Rinse, and should a blur remain, repeat the process next day.

Woman and Her Interests.

Laura Jean Libbey's Comment and Advice.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

From Highly Respectable Family.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am from a well to do and highly respected family and always have been well thought of myself. Last spring I became acquainted with a young man who had great effect on my love nature. This fellow has served a term in the prison and has the stamp of dishonorable discharge attached to him for deserting the army. He has been married once and is divorced from his wife. Do you think him worthy of a good girl, or do you think I am foolish even to consider him?

"All of my relatives say it would be an awful disgrace to the family for me to have such a man. Do you think I should give him up even though I do think more of him than of any one else? UNDECIDED."

You certainly are foolish to allow yourself to become interested in a man of such character. Give him up, by all means.

She's Tall and Beautiful.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 25 and deeply in love with a girl of 23. She is tall and beautiful with lovely dreamy violet eyes with long dark lashes and golden brown hair. O! I love her so! Now, I am a fat man and you know the old saying, 'Nobody loves a fat man.' When we are alone she says she loves me and makes a big fuss about me, but when we are out in public she ignores me. Is this because I am fat?

"Do write soon and tell me if my Clarice is worthy of my passionate love. "F. A. T."

The girl probably has good sense enough not to make demonstration of her affection in public. I am afraid you are too sentimental as well as too fat.

A Widow for Six Years.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been a widow for over six years and have devoted my entire time to the rearing of my two boys, refusing to accept any attention from men. My boys are now old enough to go to amusement places alone and I feel my life will be lonely from now on. How can I let my friends know I have buried my sorrow and am now willing to receive the attentions of men? Is it perfectly proper for a widow to receive a gentleman in her home without other guests? I am 37 years of age and feel there may be happy years in store for me yet. "LONELY."

Why not invite a few of your friends to your home for cards or an informal evening? Yes, it is entirely proper for a widow to have callers.

Whole Family Musicians.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I would be awful much pleased if I would get an answer from some pretty girl and one who can play piano. I play the violin, mandolin, or guitar and am very musical. My whole family is musical. I am a swell dresser and a good worker and am helping my father in his business. I am awfully affectionate and loving and that is the main thing in life. H."

I am sorry but I cannot furnish my correspondents with addresses. All letters sent me are treated as confidential.

Economical Housekeeping

Spinach.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

SPINACH is one of the mildest as well as one of the most universal of our greens. It is in high favor with the medical profession and is particularly befriended by all those who know what is particularly good for themselves in the way of food.

In the best markets the spinach is handled as though it were eggs, for it bruises most readily, and the waste is great if it is roughly handled, as it is for the most part. This makes it more difficult to clean. It is always best to buy it straight from the market gardener's tub when it can be so purchased.

The spinach needs almost as much and as careful washing as the dandelion. Five or six washings with a great deal of careful attention, may do. As to the cooking, there are many who steam it in only the water that clings to the leaves after the washing and draining. This is all right when the spinach is particularly young and tender, but it will not do when it is coarse and old, if one chooses to eat this latter sort. In this case plenty of well salted water is needed. The light green color is always better preserved if this green is cooked in plenty of water. For old spinach two quarts of boiling salted water are allowed for a peck of the greens.

Spinach is often served without being chopped, but for all the finer modes of serving this must be done. As to the seasoning, much depends upon taste, but the garnish is almost universally the boiled egg if anything is used, spinach with a crown of egg being one of the most conventional of modes.

Cold spinach makes an excellent salad alone or with beets or other greens and a French dressing. It is often molded for a salad. If it is cooked so that it is very dark and chopped it may constitute one-third of a salad, or even a ring around a light salad that makes for interest and attractiveness.

Spinach, Family Mode—As a matter of fact the family mode of preparing spinach is often rather a slovenly one, but the following method at some time gained that designation: Boil spinach and chop very fine; season with salt and pepper. While hot beat in three tablespoons of hot butter; put it in a stewpan and heat. When quite hot put in three tablespoonsful of cream, and one teaspoonful of sugar. Boil and then press into a bowl. Turn into a hot dish and use hard boiled eggs to garnish.

Spinach with Cream.—Boil spinach, chop fine and keep hot. Make a sauce of one tablespoonful of butter, the yolks of two eggs, pepper, salt, and one cupful and a half of cream, beaten. Heat slowly and stir into spinach. Serve in a hot dish. All such methods as this make spinach one of the smoothest eating of vegetables.

To Blanch (Miss Parloa's Method.)—For half a peck of spinach have in a large saucepan three quarts of boiling water and one tablespoonful of salt. Put the washed and drained spinach in the boiling water, and let it boil ten minutes, draw the cover of the saucepan a little to one side to allow the steam to escape. At the end of ten minutes pour the spinach into a colander and when the water has passed off pour cold water over it. Let it drain well and mince coarse or fine, as is suitable for the manner in which it is to be served. One peck of spinach will make about one and a half pints, when blanched and minced.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

The Eternal Quest for Beauty.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1912: By Lillian Russell.]

HOW few women have the intelligence to know what real beauty is or means! It is harmony.

This terrible ego makes fools of women who seem wise. No woman can be beautiful and selfish at the same time. The most beautiful women are as a rule the most unconscious of their beauty.

The beauty of figure cannot be unobserved, the beauty of features cannot be hidden, but that which makes for the greatest beauty is expression. And women with beautiful natures have a beauty of expression that cannot be photographed or painted.

In the eternal quest we should study good manners and unselfishness. When I say study I mean think long and hard, and weed out any jealous, selfish, and envious thoughts in ourselves. The faults should first be sought within ourselves and when we are absolutely confident that we are free from those three petty faults and that we can look out of clear, unprejudiced, unselfish eyes straight up to heaven with the love of God and his wonderful works in our hearts, we will attain the beauty that brightens the eyes, clears the complexion, and shapes faces into roundness and symmetry.

In the eternal quest there should be no time for worry; no furrows of care should mark the smooth surface of a peaceful face. The time that is not filled with the duties of life should be so filled with doing something for the less fortunate that there should be no time for doubts and annoyances.

Doubts and annoyances are the stencils that leave their stamp deeply imprinted upon the fairest faces.

Remember: The eternal quest for beauty is within. Look for the answer there also.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

L. M. E. H.: Address your letter to me, care of this paper. I shall be glad to give you any information in regard to beauty that you desire.

MARION G.: The stray hairs between the eyebrows can easily be pulled out with tweezers. Be sure and pull the hairs in the same direction in which they grow, for if you don't they will break off and grow back again. After pulling them apply ammonia to the roots. This will kill them. Have you tried using ammonia with the peroxide? This will gradually destroy superfluous hair. Take one-third ammonia and two-thirds peroxide of hydrogen. The peroxide will bleach the hair and the ammonia will gradually kill the roots.

A. W. Y.: Unless you want a growth of superfluous hair on your face I would not advise you to use cocoa butter. It is a flesh builder but will cause a growth of hair on the face. I would advise you to use a good skin food and massage the face. This will fill it out and will not cause a growth of hair. I shall be glad to send you the formula for the skin food, with directions for facial massage, and also a face bleach, if you will write me again inclosing a stamped addressed envelope.

Discuss Sex Hygiene as High School Study.

SEX hygiene was discussed in executive session yesterday by the school management committee of the board of education, and after adjournment the opinion was expressed that the board will adopt at its meeting next week the proposal to teach the subject in the high schools in connection with physiology.

It is planned that the Chicago Medical society select from among its membership men and women physicians best fitted to talk to the boys and girls separately on the subject.

Another proposal is to offer special opportunities for parents of children in the grades to listen to lectures in order that they may the better be able to direct their children along lines of scientific morality.

The committee also discussed in executive session the proposition to teach any modern foreign language in the high schools where sufficient demand is found. This, it is predicted, will be adopted by the board.

Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, reported to the committee that "the present high school buildings are lacking in facilities necessary if the schools are to be conducted along modern lines." In this relation she said:

"Marked changes in the theory of high school education, particularly as regards physical education and manual education, present the question as to what accommodations are sufficient for a given number of pupils in an entirely different light from that in which superintendents and high school principals have been accustomed to answering it when the question pertained to seats for classes in academic subjects only."

As an improvement along this line Mrs. Young recommended that additions, such as classrooms, gymnasiums, and manual training rooms, be granted to the Austin, Marshall, Phillips, and Waller High schools. The committee concurred.

An additional appropriation of $100,000 was voted for the construction of a high school at Marshall boulevard and West Twenty-third street. This building, which will take the place of the Farragut High school, but will be given another name, will cost $750,000 and will be similar to the Hyde Park, Schurz, Bowen, and Senn schools.

Twenty-four principals who have acquired the necessary number of credits were advanced to the upper group of salaries. Their increases will average about $100 each. Twenty-seven teachers for like reason were advanced to the upper salary group.

The committee voted to accept an offer from Julius Rosenwald to pay for the cost of printing 10,000 copies of "City Ordinances That You Ought to Know," to be distributed among the schools. The book has been given to the schools by the Chicago Woman's club.

Good Citizenship Today.

The annual convention of the National Good Citizenship association will be held today in the First M. E. church. Included in the program is a symposium of six minute addresses from representatives of many denominations.

There are twenty-eight national religious organizations represented in the conference, with a combined membership of 5,000,000. It seeks civic betterment through the inculcation of Christian principles into politics.

Sessions will be held today at 9:30 a. m. and 2 p. m. At 6:30 o'clock there will be a super at the Lincoln inn, 29 South La Salle street. The Rev. Charles D. Bulla of Nashville, Tenn., will be toastmaster.

Consecration of New Bishop.

Providence, R. I., April 25.—The Rev. Dr. Austin Dowling, formerly rector of SS. Peter and Paul cathedral in this city, was consecrated Roman Catholic bishop of the new diocese of Des Moines, Ia., today in the presence of a notable company of dignitaries of the church, including representatives of practically all the sees of New England. Bishop Matthew Harkins of Providence was consecrator, with the Rt. Rev. John James Davis of Davenport, Ia., senior consecrating bishop. The sermon was preached by the Most Rev. James J. Keane, archbishop of Dubuque. Another witness to the consecration was Bishop J. Henry Tihen of Lincoln, Neb.

Students to See German Play.

About 150 students of the classes in intermediate German at the University of Chicago will attend a production of "Flachsmann als Erzieher" at the Criterion theater, 1222 Sedgwick street, tomorrow afternoon. Prof. Phillipson, who teaches a class which is reading the play, will conduct the party.

Gifts to Ripon College.

Ripon, Wis., April 25.—President Silas Evans of Ripon college announced today that gifts aggregating $145,000 had been received. Of this $100,000 will be applied to a permanent endowment fund and the remaining $45,000 will be devoted to immediate college expenses.

McCormick Commencement Held.

The unveiling of an oil painting portrait of Prof. George L. Robinson, the celebration of the silver anniversary of Prof. Augustus S. Carrier, the establishing of a new chair, the changing of other professorships, and the giving of diplomas to forty-eight graduates were some of the features connected with the commencement exercises at McCormick Theological seminary last night.

A call was issued to the Rev. Cleland B. McAfee, pastor of Lafayette Presbyterian church, Brooklyn, formerly of Chicago, to fill the chair of didactic and polemic theology. Prof. George L. Robinson will fill the new chair of biblical literature and the English Bible.

The Rev. Samuel J. Niccolls of St. Louis, president of the board of directors, announced that the seminary closes its year without any debt. Seven of the graduates will become missionaries to India, China, and Syria.

Last Service at People's Synagog.

The People's Synagog association will hold its final services for the season on Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Ziegfeld theater, 624 Michigan avenue. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch will preach.

"The organization looks back upon the season's work with a great deal of satisfaction," said one of the officers yesterday. "Hundreds of Jews to whom Judaism was nothing else but a memory of the past have become familiar with modern Jewish thought and have learned to know that Jewish ethics is the cornerstone of all civilization and culture."

Arrangements are under way to resume the services early in the fall.

Dr. Angell's Grandson Wins Honor.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 25.—James McLaughlin, son of Prof. Andrew C. McLaughlin of Chicago university and grandson of Dr. James B. Angell, was one of twenty-two students at Michigan elected today to the National Honor society, Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. William F. Breakey, professor of dermatology in the medical department here and for forty-four years at that faculty, resigned today.

Armour Square Playground Has Meet.

The annual "stunt" night of Armour square was held last night at the playground at Thirty-third street and Armour avenue. The object of the meet is to show the people of the neighborhood the kind of work that the regular visitors to the playground can do. The Illinois training school, of which the local Y. M. C. A. is a part, conducted the meet. Prizes were given to the winners of the various events.

Little Quips and Quirks.

Two O'Clock A. M.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

TWO o'clock a. m. should be removed from the records. There should be no such thing as 2 o'clock a. m.

It could be called "x" o'clock or deuce o'clock or double 1 o'clock—anything except 2 o'clock a. m. Two o'clock a. m. is a menace to humanity, a destroyer of happiness, a blot on civilisation.

As proof of these facts let us take up exhibit A. We have here a theater and supper party. We find in this party, Mr. and Mrs. Bimp, Mr. and Mrs. Simp, and Mr. and Mrs. Gimp, all perfectly lovely people. They went to the play and sat in a box and enjoyed everything hugely. Then the gentlemen conferred and gallantly invited the ladies to a supper party. The supper was a happy occasion. The ladies hummed the merry songs that the restaurant orchestra played and told about their new dresses and how unhappy the Doodads were and wasn't it too bad they were going to get a divorce, and how Percy Flyng was going to the dogs, and otherwise enjoyed themselves hugely.

The gentlemen agreed that Roosevelt was sweeping the country like wildfire and that no other candidate had a look in. They also were a unit regarding the financial situation and agreed with great solemnity that if things didn't improve quick there was a big bump coming that the country wouldn't forget for a month of Sundays.

The party was so pleased with itself that it lingered and lingered. One subject after another was introduced, briefly responded to by one and all, hurried to the committee, approved, reintroduced into the house, and passed without a dissenting vote. Time sped on.

Suddenly a cloud seemed to pass over the gay party. And yet it could not have been a cloud, for such things are not permitted in first class restaurants. But at any rate before one could even think of John Robinson, much less say the name over, Mr. Bimp was pounding his hand on the table and saying he didn't propose to argue the matter; that what he had spoken he had spoken and that was all there was to it; and that anybody who wasn't a bonehead could receive the truth, but that a bonehead always was a bonehead and would remain such until old man Gabriel had sounded the final notes on his cornet.

Mr. Simp meantime had attempted to remove his coat, while with fury darting eyes and apoplectic countenance he had demanded if Mr. Bimp had referred to him, and Mr. Simp was saying in cold, scornful tones that if Mr. Bimp felt what he said was true why did he invite people to argue with him; that if he knew how hopeless he was then why did he not shut up. The ladies were in tears and Mrs. Simp remembered that Mrs. Bimp had owed her a call for ages and had never come to see her, and Mrs. Simp said that she had not and never would especially after the catty remark that Mrs. Bimp had made regarding her at the Tootin's party last Fourth of July.

Nobody knew what the trouble was all about, but if any one had taken the pains to look at the clock at that moment it would have been observed that the time was just 2 o'clock a. m. Now this fact, of course, explains nothing. But nevertheless it was just 2 o'clock and nothing else. Of course, this argument might have happened at 12 o'clock noon or 4 o'clock in the afternoon. But it did not. It happened at just 2 o'clock.

Let us take up exhibit B. What have we here? It seems to be a pleasant little poker party at the palatial residence of Mr. Tommy Spuds in Hyde Park. Tommy's people were spending the bright young springtime in Asheville and Thomas had summoned a number of his jolliest companions to come over to the house and have a gay little party. They had all been in school together and kept up their acquaintance afterward, so a more companionable lot of young gentlemen could not have been found in all Chicago between the Gross Point lighthouse and the steel works in South Chicago. No, not even if you had hunted with an exceedingly small toothed comb.

As the guests assembled young Mr. Spuds met them at the door and explained that the only idea was to forget dull care and the harassing details of business and sing the dear old songs and tell the dear old stories and be happy youngsters again like we were down at the dear old school. Incidentally a small game of poker, with a 10 cent limit, was to be played if the guests insisted.

The little game began and continued with much joy and hilarity. Frequently some one remarked that a 10 cent limt was the only kind of poker he liked to play. He played for Amusement, Amusement with a capital A; he didn't want any other man's money and he didn't want anybody else to get his. But in a 10 cent game nobody had to suffer anguish at seeing his wealth taken away from him; the most he could lose was a paltry three or four dollars, and an evening with such a crowd was well worth five times that sum.

Then the interest in the jackpot would die down while merry they were tonight, boys, merry they were tonight on blue Cayuga's water, and also dear old Yale, and Bingo was his name.

After the melody freshets had subsided some one would mention that old Mister Jack Fr... would most certainly like to get in out of the wet, and Bunts Spenditt would scoop it in with merry shouts of approval from all and such words as "Good old Bunts, you certainly had a right to that one; hard luck's been hanging on your shoulder for entirely too long a time."

The game went on. In some manner the 10 cent limit had been forgotten and the guests were sitting closer to the table. Nellie may have been a lady a long time ago, but the pleasant poker party had forgotten the fact and also ceased to recall that dear old Alma Mater was standing half way up the hill and that it was a way we have at old Harvard. All eyes were fastened on the cards and the breathing was deep and stertorious.

Suddenly the jolly young host said that if it was all the same to the rest it would confer a great favor on him if his merry guests would quit throwing cigaret stubs on that $3,000 rug that the pater got in Constantinople. Bluefern felt called upon to remark that if tightwads got sore whenever they lost a little change they oughtn't to invite people over, and Cluggers said some folks got awfully mad when they gave a party with the idea of shaking down the guests and found out that they themselves were the ones who were getting stung.

This sally called forth a statement from young Hi Roller that if people couldn't act like gentlemen when they were in a gentleman's house they ought to stay in the pen until Mr. Armour went after them and made them into hams.

There was much more, O, much more, but the curious fact is this, that at the very moment when the jolly young host made his peevish remark about the $3,000 rug that his pater bought in Constantinople the little cuckoo clock on the mantelpiece had cuckooed twice. It may have been a coincidence; it may have been anything you like. The fact remains that at the very moment that the jarring note of an evening of otherwise exquisite harmony, not to mention barber shop chords, was sounded the cuckoo spoke these words: "Cuckoo, cuckoo."

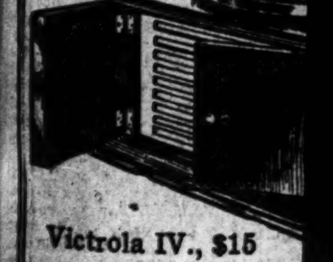

Gentlemen of the jury, the evidence is before you. The case rests in your hands. Is Two O'Clock A. M. guilty or not guilty?

SULZER ACCUSED BY COLLEAGUES

Committee Chairman Said to Have Granted Improper Privileges to Trust.

TALK OF HOUSE INQUIRY.

Water Power Attorneys Allowed to Edit Testimony Taken at the Hearings.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—Congressman William Sulzer of New York, the Democratic chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, is facing charges of granting improper privileges to the representatives of the water power trust in the consideration of legislation relating to Niagara Falls.

According to statements made by members of his own committee Sulzer allowed Rome G. Brown, attorney for Niagara electric power companies, to edit the transcript of the hearings on which the committee will base its disposition of the pending bills.

Although the indexing of hearings and reports should be done by employes of congress, it is alleged that a repesentative of Mr. Brown paid $200 to have this service performed.

The investigation of Sulzer's conduct has been going on quietly for a week or more and is to be concluded tomorrow. It is possible that Sulzer will be called upon to explain his alleged actions on the floor of the house. A demand for his retirement from the chairmanship of the committee also has been considered by his colleagues.

Bears on Federal Treaty.

The committee has been considering for several months proposed legislation carrying into effect the treaty between the United States and Great Britain regulating the diversion of water from Niagara Falls by both countries for power purposes. The Niagara Falls Power company, the Niagara Falls Hydraulic Power company, and the Lockport Hydraulic company are seeking authority from congress to divert an additional 4,400 cubic feet of water a second. This amount would bring the total diversion up to the limit of 20,000 cubic feet permitted by the treaty on the American side of the falls.

The power companies also are trying to induce congress to relinquish control of the power generated at Niagara Falls and transfer jurisdiction to the state of New York. Both of these proposals have aroused great opposition in and out of congress.

It is feared that a transfer of control from the national government to the state of New York would result in the corporations gobbling Niagara Falls for revenue only.

Changes in the Testimony.

Extensive hearings were held by the committee on the merits of the proposed legislation, but unusual delays occurred in the printing of the testimony. Members of the foreign affairs committee who started the investigation say that the delay was occasioned by Attorney Brown, to whom the manuscript of the testimony was delivered before it was sent to the government printer.

It is alleged that many parts of the testimony as it appears in print differ widely from the form in which it was given before the committee.

The index to the hearings was prepared by Tyler Page, secretary to Representative Utter of Rhode Island. Page now is employed also by Congressman McKinley at the Taft headquarters. It is said a check for $200 was given to Page as compensation for this work by Clarence W. De Knight, a Washington lawyer who represents Brown and the waterpower companies and other corporations interested in legislation before congress.

When Sulzer heard that the matter was being investigated he is said to have sent word to De Knight to recall his check. Sulzer then gave Page his personal check for $25 for the work. De Knight sought to recall the $200 check and did not stop payment on it. Page still has it. He is to be examined tomorrow by the investigators with reference to the matter.

Mr. Sulzer denies that Brown or any other representative of the water power companies was allowed any improper privileges in connection with the consideration of the legislation.

SEEK TO PROTECT PURE MEAT

Progressives Say Wilson and Others Have Nullified Laws.

ASK INQUIRY IN CONGRESS.

McCabe Declares That Charge Made Against Him Is False.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—At a conference of progressive Republican leaders in the house tonight it was decided to demand an early investigation of the charges that the inspection of meats in Chicago and other packing centers has been nullified by Secretary Wilson, Solicitor McCabe, and Dr. A. D. Melvin, chief of the bureau of animal industry.

Among the leaders who attended the conference were Representatives Norris, Murdock, Lenroot, and Nelson, who is the author of the resolution demanding the investigation.

Much of the evidence which Representative Nelson says he has to present was gathered by the Rev. Caroline Barlett Crane of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Nelson Tells of Charges.

"The fact is that the people are spending $3,000,000 a year to put the government stamp of purity on impure meats," said Congressman Nelson today. "The meat inspection law is all right, and if strictly administered would be a blessing. But under the influence of the American Meat Packers' association Wilson, McCabe, and Melvin have interpreted the law in such a way as to nullify it almost completely. Much of the inspection is worse than none at all.

"Diseased meat is passed by the inspectors and given the government stamp of approval. To be sure the diseased parts are cut out, but the remainder of the carcass is then given the government guarantee just like the carcass of an animal without a trace of disease."

Mr. Nelson said the packers have sought to influence the training of inspectors by offering to donate land for a school of veterinary science at the University of Illinois.

Denials Made by Officials.

"Any one who says the meat inspection laws have not been enforced by me or that I have knowingly permitted their violation is a liar," is the comment of Solicitor George P. McCabe.

"The meat inspection is more rigid than ever before," said Dr. Melvin, "and there has been a steady improvement in the conditions required. To say that the government inspection stamp is no longer a guarantee is absurd. Were it not for congress we might be able to require an even higher standard."

REGRET TO LOSE PINCKNEY FROM JUVENILE COURT.

Even Peter Bartzen Says He Is Sorry at Jurist's Decision to Go Back to Circuit Bench.

The announcement of Judge Merritt W. Pinckney that he would retire from the Juvenile court bench at the end of the July term caused expressions of regret yesterday from various sources. He will go back to the Circuit court.

Even Peter Bartzen, president of the county board, said he was sorry. The jurist and the county board have never been fond of each other.

Mr. Bartzen expressed the opinion that the wards of the court would suffer through the retirement of the judge.

"I am sorry Judge Pinckney is going to leave the Juvenile bench," he said. "He's a good judge and a friend of the children."

Bartzen, it is said, has changed his opinion regarding the judge. During the trial of former Chief Probation Officer John H. Witter, he assailed the judge several times, on one occasion expressing the opinion that Judge Pinckney ought to be made a defendant with Witter if he did not hold that the latter should be dismissed. Soon after this the judge praised Witter.

Since then President Bartzen has visited the Juvenile court and seen the methods pursued there.

Judge Pinckney explained why he wanted to leave the field of work in which he had become one of the best known men in the country. He said he was not temperamentally cut out for the job.

"I did not want it last year," he said, "but took it. I am going to serve the rest of my term, which does not expire till 1915, on the Circuit bench."

HOUSE DEMANDS EVIDENCE BEARING ON ARCHBALD CASE.

Resolution Asking President to Send Over All Data Signed and Sent to the White House.

Washington, D. C., April 25.—[Special.]—The house of representatives called upon President Taft today to submit the documentary and other evidence on which are based the charges against Associate Judge Robert W. Archbald of the Court of Commerce.

The resolution, which was introduced by Representative Norris of Nebraska, was reported favorably by the judiciary committee and was adopted unanimously by the house.

The resolution was signed by the speaker tonight and sent to the White House. Whether the president will comply with the request is not known, but if he does it will not be until after the Massachusetts primary.

All of the documents which the house wants are in the possession of Attorney General Wickersham, who is in Washington, but it is not expected that he will undertake to comply with the resolution in the absence of the president.

The evidence will be considered by the house with a view to determining whether it warrants the institution of impeachment proceedings.

STRONG ARM OF LAW HELPS VICTIMS OF RUG BEATERS.

Arrest Stops Noise and Dust Clouds at Calumet Avenue and East Fifty-second Street.

For several weeks a haze of dust hung over the vicinity of Calumet avenue and East Fifty-second street. There also has been unceasingly for many hours each day a staccato volley of sound. Yesterday the sound ceased and residents in the vicinity pulled cotton plugs from their ears and once more enjoyed living.

Peace settled over the neighborhood with the arrest of Nicholas E. Gates, 5306 Calumet avenue. When the spring cleaning season opened Gates took contracts to clean rugs. He got so many orders he employed two helpers. They preempted a vacant lot at Calumet avenue and Fifty-second street. The hovering dust cloud and the drone of sound followed.

Several persons complained to the police and Gates was arrested for violation of an ordinance which prohibits sifting ashes, beating rugs, or raising of dust which may be carried by the wind from private property. He will be arraigned in the Hyde Park court today.

FIGHT ARENA SET FOR BIG BATTLE

McFarland and Wells Ready for International Bout Tonight at New York.

CROWD MAY REACH 10,000.

M'FARLAND IN FINE SHAPE.

New York, April 25.—[To the Editor.]—Packey is in great shape for his match with Matt Wells tomorrow night. He was down to 134 pounds yesterday and only took a long walk today. He expects to beat the Briton just as easily as all others. We will then insist on a match with Wolgast. There is little betting, with Packey 2 to 1 favorite. We had quite a bit of trouble in selecting a referee, but at last agreed on a man suitable to all. Please tell our friends to bet the family jewels, for Packey will try hard to win on a knockout.

EMIL THIRY, Manager.

New York, April 25.—Special.]—Everything is in readiness for the international ten round bout between Matt Wells, British lightweight champion, and Packey McFarland of Chicago in Madison Square garden tomorrow night. The men must make 135 pounds at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and each has a $1,000 forfeit up. They will box under Queensberry rules, with clean breaks, in a regulation twenty-four foot ring, with no decision by the referee, Sam C. Austin.

The prize money for this bout will be divided so that Wells will take 50 per cent of the gross receipts and moving picture privilege. The same cut goes to the Garden A. C., less $10,000, McFarland's guarantee, which will be posted in the hands of the stakeholder by the club before the boxers crawl through the ropes. It is estimated that 10,000 persons will see the bout, and that the gate money will amount to nearly $35,000. Just how much has been paid for the moving pictures is not known.

Police to Be on Job.

Manager Hurst announced today that after all reserved seats have been disposed of, about 1,000 admissions will be sold to persons who can stand up at each end of the floor behind wire fences. More than forty special policemen will be on duty to keep the aisles and fire exits clear, and a squad of private detectives will look after persons who may be considered undesirable.

The doors will be opened at 6:30 o'clock, and not until then will the $1 and $2 tickets admitting holders to the balcony and gallery be placed on sale. This plan has been hit upon to keep the cheaper seats out of the hands of speculators. Wells and McFarland are due in the ring at 10 o'clock in accordance with the rule of the state athletic commission.

Betting men who considered the skill of McFarland and Wells today were not in a hurry to predict the winner. In many cases it was a case of 10 to 9 and take your pick, although a majority seemed to favor McFarland's chances. In fact, it will not be surprising if the American rules favorite at 6 to 5 when the time comes to ring the gong for the first round.

McFarland Sure to Make Weight.

McFarland ended his training at the Mott Haven A. C. today. He was apparently in magnificent condition. He weighed 135½ pounds and said he would be under the required limit at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. McFarland was supremely confident of victory. He said he would outpoint Wells without much trouble. Depending upon his wonderful speed, Packey predicted that he would prove too quick in his attack for the Englishman's defense.

McFarland is conceded to be the greatest boxer in America if not in the world. There isn't a thing he doesn't know about the game of hit, stop, and get away. There isn't a shadow of doubt that Packey intends to fight harder than ever before. There is much ill feeling between the rival camps and McFarland said today that if he found an opening he would do his best to stop the English champion as soon as possible. Packey received many telegrams from friends in Chicago and other cities wishing him success. A delegation of Chicago sporting men will arrive here tomorrow morning.

Wells Confident of Success.

While McFarland is confident, Wells feels equally sure of success. The sturdy Englishman has been working for three weeks at Rye, N. Y., and was down to weight this afternoon. His faithful trainer, Dal Dollings, said that Wells was stronger physically than when he won the Lord Lonsdale belt from Freddie Welsh in London last year.

Wells, like the American, never has been fully extended in bouts in this country. He is built like a wrestler, with broad shoulders, deep chest, and well developed arms and legs. He is quick on his feet, is a first class blocker, has a good left hand and a remarkably cool head. He may prove a harder hitter than the stockyards champion, but that remains to be seen.

Against such men as Leach Cross, "K. O." Brown, and Abe Attel Wells was the easiest kind of a winner on points. Many sharps who saw him in these bouts were convinced that the British champion was under wraps, for he overlooked numerous opportunities to land heavy punches. Wells is not a slugger, however, and he doesn't employ incessant rushing tactics. He is a rugged boxer with a knowledge of ring tactics, and has a world of confidence in himself. When he came here more than a month ago he weighed 143 pounds, which he has gradually worked off by dint of steady work. Long road runs have strengthened his legs and bellows, while much boxing with fast sparring partners has keyed him up to concert pitch.

Packey May Start Forcing.

Unless the men change their tactics McFarland probably will begin the forcing with left hand jabs, working Wells' guard up until he can use the right hand to the body. If Wells can block the left hand blows and counter with effect he may upset Packey's plan of action. Incidentally McFarland's defense for left hand punches may be severely tested, in which event Wells, if partially successful in landing, may force the issue. The men are clean fighters in every sense of the word. They do not believe in hugging and clinching, so that it is believed the referee will not have much trouble in breaking them.

Referee Austin notified Tim Hurst today that he would accept the invitation to referee. He said that he was surprised by his selection and deemed it a great honor.

"I decided to quit the game some time ago," said Austin, "because I had other things to look after. But I cannot well refuse to referee this big international bout. I have no entanglements of any kind and I have been assured by the Garden A. C. that I will go into the ring entirely unhampered. I will protect the club and the public to the best of my ability and the boxers can rest assured that they will receive impartial treatment.

Austin to Enforce Rules.

"I shall enforce the rules to the letter and will so inform the men when they come to the center of the ring for instructions. They must break out of clinches when ordered, and there must be no hitting on the breaks. If they live up to these conditions there will be no trouble at all. All that I desire is a fair standup boxing contest, so that if one man is the other's master it will be clearly apparent to the crowd. As far as I am concerned you may say that I've never met either of the principals or their managers, and have no prejudice either way. May the better man win, and we'll all be satisfied."

McFarland's Foe in Bout Tonight.

JOHNSON TO SUE TRUCK OWNER; FILES ACTION IN PITTSBURGH.

Champion Seeks Damages for Himself and Car in Motor Accident—Feels "Rotten," He Says.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 25.—[Special.]—Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion, today retained Attorney David Ralph Tannehill to file action against the owner of an autotruck which struck his automobile here yesterday, smashing the machine and so injuring the champion that he may cancel his contract to fight Flynn on July 4. Johnson's car cost $2,500, and he will claim that amount besides damages for personal injuries.

"Rotten," was Johnson's expression at Sutton's hotel today when asked how he felt. "I can't raise my right arm. On the doctor's advice I have canceled my engagement to appear here the rest of this week and the engagement for the entire company at Baltimore next week."

Johnson's spine, right shoulder, and the muscles of the right side of his back were injured. "What effect this is going to have on the July 4 fight I don't know," said Johnson. "Unless I get to feeling right soon, I shall seriously consider calling the thing off. If the doctor says I mustn't take the chances on training work within the next few weeks there's nothing else to do."

According to reports received at Jack Johnson's home on the south side yesterday, the champion will be brought to Chicago at once for treatment. He is expected either tomorrow or Sunday. His Chicago representative received word that his accident would in no way cause a postponement of the Flynn battle.

LOCAL BOXING GOSSIP.

Approximately 300 local fistic fans left for New York yesterday to see the McFarland-Wells battle. The selection of Sam Austin as referee met with popular approval.

Danny Goodman has been matched to meet Grover Hayes in Columbus, O., on May 9. The weight will be 133 pounds at 5 o'clock. Goodman will start training today.

Morrie Bloom is anxious to meet any of the welterweights, Ernie Zanders and Billy Waters preferred. Bloom is willing to make 142 pounds afternoon or ringside weight.

Charley White, who will meet Johnny Dundee in Syracuse, N. Y., Tuesday night, yesterday boxed three rounds with Morrie Bloom. White is down to weight, and will leave tomorrow for the scene of battle, where he will do light road work on Sunday.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Oakland, Cal., April 25.—Howard Morrow, middleweight, won the decision from Kid George of Brooklyn at the end of a ten round bout here last night.

New York, April 25.—Bob Moha of Milwaukee and Joe McKinnon have been matched to box ten rounds before the St. Nicholas Athletic club next Tuesday night. The agreement calls for 158 pounds ringside.

Kansas City, Mo., April 25.—Forfeits were posted yesterday for a ten round boxing bout on May 10 between Clarence ["Wildcat"] Ferns of Kansas City and Paul Kohler of Cleveland. The boys will make 142 pounds at 3 o'clock.

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—Battling Hurley had a slight shade on Frank Loughery of Philadelphia in ten furious rounds at the National Sporting Club of America tonight. It was a slugging match from start to finish, with little attempt at clever boxing.

Thatcher, Yale Sprinter, Hurt.

New Haven, Conn., April 25.—R. U. Thatcher, 1912, Yale's strongest sprinter, has sprained a tendon in his leg so badly in practice that he will be unable to participate in any track events this spring.

UNKNOWN ROLLS FIRST IN SINGLES

George Haug Takes Lead in Individual Event of State Tourney, Scoring 671.

BEATS RITTER TWO PINS.

George N. Haug, an unknown bowler before yesterday, rolled into fame on the 4 o'clock shift of singles in the Illinois Bowling association tournament yesterday at Bensinger's Randolph alleys by scoring 671 pins, two more than Bob Ritter had been holding down the leadership with for four days.

The new leader is entered in the meet with the Pasdeloup team, but never has before competed in a big tournament. His home alleys are Schindler's, where he rolls with the house league. None of the early players was able to catch the Goldammer brothers, the leaders in the doubles, although Ed Stretch and Peter Peth scored 1,195 for second place.

Starts with 277 Game.

Starting with 277, the best single game of the meet, Haug had an almost certain hold on first place, his opening game being made with a spare and then a row of strikes until the tenth frame, where he counted 19. He almost threw away his chance in the middle by getting 163, although he cut down the 3-10 in the sixth frame. Two errors followed, one a cherry-pick and the other a miss of the No. 10, the game winding up with a railroad. Haug in the last game opened with five strikes, the third being a sloppy one. He drew a spare and then a double and then had the "dinner pail," the 2-4-5-8 stick on him, the first two being gathered in. He cleaned up 20 in his final frame. W. E. Anderson with 633 and A. Johnson and G. Cobb with 624 each were other high individual counters.

Fred and Hank Rogman of the Alvords rolled into second place in the doubles on the late shift with the score of 1,204, the pair missing the lead now held by the Goldammers by eight pins. With victory in their grasp Hank drew the 3-10 split and his brother Fred bumped into the 6-7-10.

Jiruska's Windy City team ran the highest in the second shift of five men teams with 2,710, the combination making a brilliant finish after two comparatively small games. The Bingos ran second with 2,679, while the Mendels with 2,674 and the Birk Bros. with 2,685, all rolled well enough to look sure of a place in the prize list.

DALY LEADS FOR CUE TITLE

Challenger Beats Horgan in First Block by 50 to 39.

AVERAGE OF VICTOR IS 52.

Three Cushion Contest Drawn Out Because of Safety Play.

St. Louis, Mo., April 25.—[Special.]—John Daly, challenger, got away to a substantial lead tonight in the first block of points of play for the world's three cushion billiard championship against John Horgan of St. Louis, title holder, the score standing 50 to 39 in favor of the visitor. Daly's average was .52 and his high run was 4. Horgan's average was .40 and his high run 3.

While the match was hard fought, with Daly in the lead for the greater part of the route, the play was slow. Something like two hours and a half were required to play the block, and spectacular plays were rare.

The damp weather affected the ivories, and they rolled dead. New cushions and new cloth also had their share to do with this, and the most interesting side of the contest, therefore, was the way both Horgan and Daly fought for every point.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

Campbell [175] defeated Brown [250], 175 to 215 in the Class A 18-2 tournament at Mussey's. Conklin [350] and Schevenell [300] tonight.

George Sutton defeated Schevenell, 500 to 188 in a 500 point match at 18-1 yesterday afternoon, averaging 25. Sutton and Page this afternoon.

Patterson of the Drexel defeated Swimmer of Weeghman's in the Chicago three cushion league at Weeghman's, 50 to 38 in 102 innings.

Baldwin [50] defeated Dee [50], 50 to 38 in the Class A three cushion tournament at Stillson's. Baldwin and Berry tonight.

Fred M. Tallman, the pocket billiard expert and fancy shot player, will give an exhibition at Nate Lewis' rooms at 8:30 tonight.

Clarence Jackson defeated George Wheeler, 700 to 486 in their 18-2 match, which finished last night at Flenner's. In the final block Jackson scored 350 to 209, averaging a trifle over 20 and getting high run of 107.

I. A. C. TO HAVE MOTOR TEAM IN CONTESTS THIS SUMMER.

Decision Reached When Eight Members Signify Intention of Entering Competition if Matches Are Arranged.

A motor team will represent the Illinois Athletic club this season. This was decided yesterday when F. C. Lewin announced that eight members had signified their desire to compete if a match could be arranged. Those who favor a team are August Seivers, Herman Peth, M. L. Caton, George Moser, Nicholas Wolf, Carl Stein, Leo Galitzki, and F. C. Lewin.

Mr. Lewin said yesterday that he was assured twenty motorists would contest, providing a meeting was arranged with the Chicago Motor club. Charles Gregory, president of the club, yesterday said that he thought the C. M. C. would enter a team against the I. A. C.

Official practice for the Indianapolis motor races starts on May 1. A number of machines have been on the track already, but the opening day of trials is expected to bring out a number of the pilots. P. P. Willis, chairman of the press committee, expects the largest crowd in the history of the motordrome.

NOTES OF THE GOLFERS.

Next Monday has been set as the positive dead line for handicap reports from clubs of the Western Golf association. After that date members of delinquent clubs will have to go without an official rating.

Secretary Charles Willard and Assistant Secretary Crafts Higgins finished checking up the list yesterday and announced that seven Chicago clubs were missing. These are Chicago, Edgebrook, Glen Oak, Midlothian, North Shore, Ravisloe, and West Pullman. Three Wisconsin clubs, Lake Geneva, Oconomowoc, and Tuscumbia, which are composed largely of Chicago players, also are among the missing.

PICK CARPENTER MAROON CAPTAIN

Teammates Select Tackle Leader of the Football Squad This Fall.

REFORMS UP TO BOARD.

BY MAROON.

Halsted Carpenter, for two years right tackle on the University of Chicago football team and present Maroon pitcher, was elected yesterday captain of the football squad for next fall.

Carpenter hails from Monticello, Ind., and was graduated from Lake Forest academy. He is a junior in college and a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity. He is 22 years old and weighs 185 pounds.

Director Stagg will meet with the board of athletic control tomorrow morning for definite action in the matter of the recent recommendations of the "big eight" conference representatives to rule Directors Stagg of Chicago and Ehler of Wisconsin out of the conference and to form a separate committee to frame football rules. It is believed Chicago will reject both proposals.

The Chicago one mile relay team which will run in the Penn games tomorrow left for the east yesterday.

MICHIGAN TEAM OFF FOR MEET.

Six Athletes Leave Ann Arbor for Annual Track Games at Philadelphia.

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 25.—Six athletes leaving here tonight will represent Michigan in the relay meet at Philadelphia Saturday afternoon. They are Hanavan, Haimbaugh, Brown, Smith, Beardsley, and Kohler. Out of the first five named four will be selected to compete in the four mile relay race, while Kohler is entered in the hammer throw and shotput.

Not Confident at Illinois.

Urbana, Ill., April 25.—[Special.]—With Rusk and Wilson somewhat off color the chances of Illinois in the one mile relay championship at Philadelphia are not considered so bright. The relay runners left today for the east. Capt. Murphy in the pole vault and Jack Case in the hurdles will be the individual entries.

About All You're Able to Borrow on Sentiment Is More Sentiment.

RALLY IN EIGHTH GIVES CUBS GAME

Heavy Fire on Hurler Sallee Breaks Tie and Beats Cards, 5 to 2.

THRILLS FEATURE PLAY.

Tinker's Fierce Swatting and Base Stealing and Catch by Sheckard Stir Fans.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Grimly reserving their fire until they were in sight of the finish, Chicago's Cubs pounded out a 5 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in the eighth inning of yesterday's opening game of the four day series.

Up to that winning rally it was "horse and" with the count 2 to 2 and both teams extending themselves to the limit in support of Harry McIntire and Sally Sallee, both of whom were pitching the ball their defense demanded.

With a joyous jump the Cubs lit on Sally for one run in the opener and held that slender lead until the third, when the Cardinals crowded ahead by scoring two runs after two were down. Chance's men tied the knot in the count in the fourth round and there it hung until the Cubs assembled a trio of tallies with four coagulated swats in the last half of the eighth.

The last time Sallee faced the Cubs he emerged with a twelve inning victory over Mordecai Brown and achieved it with the help of a handful of horseshoes. Yesterday luck broke the other way and that fact, combined with the recent switch in his batting order by Manager Chance, smashed the southpaw's mascot to smithereens.

Cap Tinker in Limelight.

Cap Tinker was decidedly prominent in the doings. In four trips to the takeoff Tinker made three singles, swiped three bases, and scored two tallies. He led the winning rally in the eighth with his third safety. Eddie Lennox finished it with his first and only single, a timely drive that sent home two runs, putting the scrap on hard water.

Everybody got at least one safe crack at the ball except Sheckard and McIntire, and both of them were so noticeable in the defense they needed no swats to earn honorable mention. Sheckard perpetrated one of his copyrighted catches in the ninth inning and by means of it saved McIntire and the bugs considerable trouble.

The Cubs had three runs lead, to be sure, but Ellis was on first with one out when Oakes popped a short fly to left center. James Slden raced after it, but the wind blew it farther and everybody was getting ready to credit the Rebel with a safe hit, when Sheckard dove forward, reached the ball a foot from the alfalfa, and held it. He finished by skating a couple of feet on the tip of his left ear, balancing there for an appreciable instant, then completing the somersault in time to come up with the ball and hold Ellis on first. Missing that play might have cost us the game; you never can tell.

"Cinder King" in Great Form.

McIntire held the Cardinals to five hits, two of which were for extra cushions. He issued only one pass and whiffed six opponents with the sharp breaking side arm spitter of which he had scrumptious control. In holding the visitors so low in the peat market the cinder king had considerable help. Besides the Sheckard feat, Lennox knocked down one liner so that Tinker could retire the man. Zim blocked another enough to let Evers and McIntire get the runner, and Evers was pulled right into the path of a third hit when he ran to cover second. The Trojan stabbed that swat securely and closed what would have been a dangerous session with a double play. Frank Schulte cut off a Cardinal tally at the plate by a sterling throw which beat Steve Evans so far that Archer got impatient waiting for him.

Two fortunate breaks came in the first inning and enabled McIntire to start with a blank. Huggins lined to Lennox, who stabbed the ball and diverted it within Tinker's reach. Joe did the rest. Ellis whiffed, then Oakes mauled one toward right. Zimmy checked it just enough to let Evers grab it, and McIntire was found on the job at first in time to get the out.

Double Steal Misses Fire.

The Cubs counted in their half despite hard luck. With Sheckard out, Schulte hit one back at Sallee seven miles a second, and the big string could not get his hoofs out of the way. The ball stopped dead behind the slab, and Sallee recovered in time to throw out Wildfire, then nursed his foot gingerly for a while. Tinker smashed his first single through short and stole second while Hofman was working Sally for a pass. Zimmy pasted a clean one to center and Tinker went home. The swat sent Hofman to third, and they tried a double steal, but a bluff throw caught Artie for the third out.

The third saw the Cardinals' only successful attack on Diamond Harry. Two were out when Sallee smote a single to center. Surprised by this from so attenuated a person, McIntire passed Huggins. Ellis responded to the opening with a two bagger down the left foul line, scoring Sallee and Huggins.

Schulte peeled off a screamer to center for two bases with one out in the Cub third, but Tinker and Hofman rolled out. In the fourth the visitors came mighty close to counting again. One was down when Evans poked a long one over Hofman's head for three bases. Mowrey raised a fly to right. It was not much of a throw home—for Schulte—but Evans tried to score from third on the catch. The ball came in like wildfire and true as a bullet, doubling up the daring Steve by a couple of steps.

Cubs Tie Score in Fourth.

The Cubs tied a knot in the count in their fourth. Zimmerman singled, but was cut down in a missed hit and run play. Evers was tossed out, but Lennox worked Sallee for a pass, which proved to have a round trip coupon attached. Archer scored Eddie with a wallop over Oakes' head for two bases. McIntire flied out.

Neither team could break that tie until the Cub half of the eighth. Schulte grounded out to start that, and so airtight was the game that people were beginning to settle back for extra innings. Up came Cap. Tinker with two safe belts already to his credit and smashed out a third. For the third time he stole second, and Hofman came across with the necessary single to score the run that would have won the game. Zimmerman popped out, but Evers wasn't satisfied with one run margin, so kept up the pounding with a double to left. Ellis played it in swell fashion and held Hofman on third; then Lennox cinched the victory with a single into right, driving home Circus Solly and the Trojan. Archer grounded out.

Huggins went out in the ninth, whereupon Zimmy missed a chance to retire Ellis on a high bounder. Here Sheckard staved off a lot of fuss by pulling his celebrated catch of Oakes' Texas leaguer. Koney lofted to Hofman.

RICHTER GOES TO LOUISVILLE.

Cub Pitcher Disposed Of Under an Agreement by Which He Can Be Reclaimed in August.

Emil Reggy Richter was disposed of yesterday to the Louisville club of the American association under an option agreement by which he may be reclaimed in the latter part of August if wanted. That cuts the Cub roster to within one of the twenty-five player limit which goes into effect the middle of next month and reduces Manager Chance's pitching staff to an even dozen. Richter broke into the majors with the White Sox in 1910 from the local semi-pro field. He was sent to Louisville that spring under an option contract that was allowed to expire. In the middle of last season Richter came to the Cubs in exchange for Jack Pfiester, the come-back southpaw, who was reclaimed this spring. Waivers were sought on Richter before the season opened, but the St. Louis club refused to waive claim until recently.

Chivington Meets Umpires.

President Chivington of the American association yesterday held a conference at the local office with the eight arbiters who were passing through Chicago from the eastern to the western end of the circuit. The league head left last night for Minneapolis to attend the opening of the season there today.

Indianapolis Buys Ingerton.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 25.—[Special.]—President W. H. Watkins of the Indianapolis club, who has been on a scouting trip through the east, today notified Secretary Sol Meyer that he had purchased Scotty Ingerton from the Boston Nationals.

CUB SYDELIGHTS.

St. Louis some more today, tomorrow, and Sunday.

That bunch of three runs in the eighth put the Cubs into the first division.

It is getting so that the fans feel disappointed if Sheckard does not pull a somersault catch every day.

The Indianapolis and St. Paul teams and several American association umpires watched the battle. It was an open day to travel in their league.

Tinker's second single came with two out in the fifth inning. He stole second and kept on to third because Bliss threw wildly. Hofman left Joe there by flying out.

Archer nailed the only Cardinal who tried to steal. The daring person was Koney, who opened the second with a single and stood on first until two were out, and then tried to go down. Jimmy pegged him out.

Schulte was the whole defensive works in the fourth, except for Archer's put out. Koney lifted a fly to right to start the inning. Evans tripled, then tried to score on Mowrey's fly to right, but Schulte doubled him up easily.

Billy Sullivan and Doc White, two members of the Sox hospital squad, were among the interested spectators. They kept one eye on "The Tribune" board to see how the boys were getting along over in Cleveland.

There being no chance to advertise that Dollar Sign O'Toole might pitch against the Cubs, there was a noticeable diminution in the throng. Apparently the scheme is to let people think O'Toole is to pitch every day, but to save him for home consumption.

Clarence Owens made his first appearance of the season here as arbitrator, and handled the game from behind the bat in a way that impressed everybody. Usually a new umpire has to win his spurs before the players quit nagging, but Owens has listened like the real goods in the American association for so many years that he is treated like a veteran.

Evers robbed Zimmerman of a putout in the seventh inning. Koney was on first with one out, and started "hit and run" with Mowrey. Evers skipped over to cover second, and Mowrey spanked a liner right into his hands. Johnny caught the ball, and was between Koney and first base, so the runner went along. Instead of tossing the ball to first to double up Koney, Evers gave it to Tinker at second, and Joe tagged the victim.

Doc Semmens appeared in a new rôle for a few minutes when fire started under the right field stand. With one of the characteristic sprints by which he responds to the ambulance call when a player is hurt, Semmens rushed out of the clubhouse, limbered up the hose, turned on the water, and made an unassisted play that retired the blaze in quick order. Later there was a slight smudge in the main stand, but Doc did not know that in time to respond, so a pair of ushers put it out.

Students at Wellesley This Week to Play for Championship — Chicago Player on "Athletics."

Wellesley, Mass., April 25.—[Special.]—All is in readiness for the baseball series for the championship of Wellesley college. The "Athletics," composed of seniors, and the "Giants," whose members are juniors, will meet this week. Miss Edith Sackett of Rockford, Ill., is captain of the Athletics. Elizabeth Albright of Chicago is down to look out for center field. Another Illinois girl, Martha Charles of Evanston, is on the Athletics' roster, playing the initial bag.

SOX, IN STAMPEDE, BEAT NAPS, 8 TO 0

Make Result Only Question of Score by Counting Five Runs in First.

BENZ PUZZLE ON MOUND.

"Blitzen" Allows Five Hits, Going Easy All the Way; Block Stars with Stick.

BY SAM WELLER.

Cleveland, O., April 25.—[Special.]—Beating Cleveland seems to be about the best thing the White Sox do. Today they tore the Naps into shreds once more and trounced them for the third straight time, the score being 8 to 0, better than either of the other two victories.

In the morning Manager Callahan was a bit worried because he thought his pitching staff was depleted. Walsh was willing to work, but needed another day of rest. Scott was unfit because of his sickness of the two previous days. Peters had a lame shoulder and was out of it and Doc White had been sent home ailing. Mogridge was here, but the manager didn't like to use a young left hander.

The morning train, however, brought Joe Benz into camp and Callahan at once elected him to pitch. However, he didn't have complete confidence in the boy, so had Walsh start warming up in the first inning ready for relief duty at any time. Joe Benz proved he didn't need to be relieved. On the other hand, he just eclipsed the others and shut out the Naps, allowing only five hits all told and never once getting in danger. After four innings had been played Big Ed stopped warming up and sat out in the sun and watched the game.

Sox Look Like Champions.

In their attack the Sox were more belligerent than ever. It was splendid to look upon for they were working together better than ever and looked more like champions than they have since 1906. Although no one ventured to speak of winning a pennant, they all are firmly convinced that this year they are going to be fighting for the old flag.

Harry Davis, who has taken the burden of managing the Naps, was so desperate over the way the Sox had torn his team to pieces that he got into a ball suit himself and played first base, hoping to put a stop to the stampeding. He also switched the batting order, placed young Bronkie on third in place of Tuck Turner, and called out young Pitcher Krapp, who has been going well this spring.

All the changing did no good, and before the first inning was over the Sox had the game salted away, for they had made a vicious attack and scored five runs before the first three men could be put out.

That commanding lead put the Naps on the defensive, otherwise they might have been able to score at least one run. One would do them no good, so it was foolish to sacrifice or play the hit and run game. Consequently they hit into a lot of double plays in the few chances they did have to get a man around.

Hose Play Daring Game.

On the other hand, the Sox were free to try anything and play the most daring kind of baseball and because some of their daring plays went against them they were held to eight runs. Otherwise they might have had a dozen or fifteen.

After the first inning, young Krapp pitched in a deserving manner, and the Sox were held down to one run until the eighth. At that point Cleveland brought out another pitcher, a tall young fellow named Steen, who is trying to hold a big league job. The Sox landed on him hard and scored another pair of runs, after which they were willing to take it easy and get through the game as quickly as possible.

Benz's showing was pleasing to the Sox leader, for he thinks now he can rely on him to take a regular turn on the slab and help matters greatly. Joe had a lot of speed and he had his "spitter" breaking down nicely. He also had splendid control. He walked the first batter that faced him and not another one during the game. He wouldn't have walked that one, but "Bull" Perrine missed a couple of those first "spitters" that should have been strikes. Joe and Jimmy Block talked a bit of strong German to make it known to Perrine that they hated him for his mistakes and after that the umpire was more careful.

Block Poles Three Hits.

Block had quite a day of it himself, making three hits and getting a base on balls in his four trips to the plate. One of the hits was a corking drive to the fence for three bases, too. The only trouble Jimmy had was in figuring in double plays. Twice he was a party to them while on the runway.

"Buck" Weaver played another dazzling game at shortstop with six put outs and four assists besides scoring two of the runs and getting two hits, one of which was a two bagger. Rollie Zeider did a lot of fancy stuff on the first bag, but made one bad play when he got his foot off too quickly and lost a man. The only other mistake was made by "Shano" Collins when he dropped a fly ball, but neither mistake caused any trouble.

Had it not been for King Lajoie, Benz never would have allowed a man to reach second base. The king got a double in the fourth inning, but he died right out there on second. Three of the five base hits were made by the big Frenchman.

It was a clear and warm day and the crowd was better than on the other day, just a few under 4,000. They had read that Harry Davis had benched the lanky Hohnhorst and was to be in spangles himself, so they came out to see what would happen.

Story of Five Runs.

Rath started the game with a base on balls and Lord was safe on Bronkie's punk throw. With Cal at bat, the hit and run play was tried, but it was a low ball and Cal missed, while Rath was pegged out at third. Callahan then singled, scoring Lord, and Cal took second on the throw home. A wild throw let Cal take third and he trotted home when Bodie cut a single to left. Ping made second on another wild pitch. Collins popped to Olson, but Zeider walked. Then Weaver lined a double over third base, scoring both Bodie and Zeider, and Buck made third on the throw to the plate. Block ripped a single to center, bringing Weaver home. Benz fanned, ending the mêlée.

The Naps got the first man on the bases, but a double play killed their chances. Again in the second the first man for the Naps got on, but no one got as far as second base.

In the third the Sox batted home another run. With one out Zeider walked. Weaver singled, Rollie stopping at second, from where he scored on Block's single to center. Weaver stopped at second. Buck then attempted to steal third, but the pitcher wheeled and had him trapped. He was run down between third and second. Then Block was trapped and doubled between first and second.

The Naps changed pitchers in the eighth and the Sox proceeded to do some more batting. Weaver started and was safe on Lajoie's fumble. Block followed with a terrific drive to the wall in right center for three bases and Weaver scored. Benz ripped a single inside of third and Block came home. Rath forced Benz at second and Lord flied out but Callahan singled past second. The round ended when Graney hauled down Bodie's long fly to left.

SAM WELLERISMS.

Cleveland, O., April 25.—[Special.]—The series with Cleveland will end tomorrow. Walsh is slated to pitch against Vean Gregg.

Jim Scott watched the game from the balcony. He intends to work a bit in uniform tomorrow and thinks he'll be able to pitch a game in Detroit.

Rollie Zeider sprinted to the grand stand and plucked a foul fly off the edge with one hand in the ninth, which brought him much applause.

Ping Bodie robbed Graney of a triple in the eighth by a great running catch within three feet of the wall in right center.

Morris Rath didn't get his base hits today, but twice he hit hot liners right into the shortstop's hands. In the fielding end of the game he was more brilliant than usual.

Joe Jackson, the clouting outfielder, was one of the easiest victims for Benz. Three times Benz made the star die on popups to the left side of the diamond.

The players will leave here tomorrow for Detroit, where they are booked for four games before returning to the home lot. With an even break in luck they should return in first place.

It was rumored that President Johnson of the American league was concealed in the grand stand watching his umpires work, but none of the Chicago party saw him.

Harry Davis had his alibi published in the morning papers before he went into the game. He was quoted as saying that he might not be able to hit 'em, as he had not had batting practice. He was up three times, getting two pop flies and an easy grounder to Weaver.

In the eighth Jackson stopped Callahan's single to center, then rolled over on the ground and writhed in agony. All the players ran out, and in two minutes Joe clambered to his feet and went back to his position. This got him his only applause of the day.

ASKS $100,000 FOR AERO MEETS

General Manager Stephens to Inaugurate Campaign to Raise Money for Their Promotion.

James S. Stephens, general manager of the 1912 events of the Aero Club of Illinois, will inaugurate a campaign to raise a necessary $100,000 fund next week when the club's prospectus will be in the mail. Within the year's program are a June meet at the Cicero flying field, night evolutions at Grant park in July, and the James Gordon Bennett high speed race, 2,500 mile grand circuit race, and international aviation meet in September.

"The means of securing subscriptions will be the same as last year," Mr. Stephens said yesterday. "The administrative body, consisting of bankers, merchants, and prominent professional men of Chicago, will be divided in teams and will visit the individuals and concerns that helped in such a praiseworthy manner last year."

The finance committee of the club is unchanged, with Harold F. McCormick, chairman; Charles G. Dawes, treasurer; and these members: James A. Patten, Alfred L. Baker, and Charles Dickinson.

Give Suburban "Preps" Chance.

In order to stimulate interest among the suburban preparatory schools, contests will be held in conjunction with the annual open interscholastic track and field meet at Northwestern field on May 25. This meeting has been styled the Central States Suburban championships and the usual list of events will be held. The object of the meeting is to give the smaller schools an opportunity to win school and individual trophies in the hope of developing athletes who otherwise would not receive any encouragement. Any athlete who is entered in the suburban championships will be allowed to compete in the open events, and none of the entrants in the major contests will be permitted to contest in the minor division.

ENGLEWOOD HIGH IN FIRST PLACE

Gains Lead in Southern Section of School League by Beating Hyde Park.

SCORE OF CONTEST, 20 TO 7.

University Triumphs Over Lake, 4 to 1, While Lane Is Victor Over Waller, 4 to 2.

BY PREP.

Englewood High took the lead in the southern section of the Cook County High School Baseball league race yesterday, defeating Hyde Park, 20 to 7, at Jackson park. Englewood jumped to the front in the first frame and scored runs in every inning except the fourth and ninth.

Deutch led the slugging with three hits, a homer, a triple, and a double, while Shortall slammed out three two sackers. Blackburn hurled his second victory and although not as effective as in his first game, scattered the hits in all but the seventh when Hyde Park scored four times, assisted by errors. Score:

CAN THE PEOPLE NAME THE PRESIDENT?

Can the people of the United States name the next president? Had this question been asked of a disinterested observer six months ago he would have answered in the negative.

Six months ago it seemed certain that the federal machine would renominate President Taft on the first ballot without consulting the rank and file of the Republican party.

Six months ago the Harmon-Underwood-Champ Clark compact had been made, and it seemed sure to eliminate Wilson, the only candidate for the Democratic nomination who represents popular government. But in six months much has changed.

Roosevelt has become a candidate on the platform of popular rule. The states with direct primary laws have smashed the federal machine into flinders and have demonstrated that they will name the president, not the officeholders.

Undoubtedly delegates nominated without reference to the voters or in contravention to their wishes by caucuses, soap box primaries, pay roll primaries, and fraud will yield in the national convention to those delegates whose wills are strengthened and arms upheld by the unmistakable voice of the party expressed at the polls.

The Republican party, true to its old traditions, will obey, not attempt to command the people.

In the Democratic party the outlook is not so hopeful.

Wilson has shown great personal strength, but he has neither the organization nor acquaintance of the Harmon-Underwood-Champ Clark accommodation, nor has he any campaign funds to counteract the millions and billions of Wall street.

With Wilson eliminated the Democratic party must choose between Harmon, Underwood, and Champ Clark. Either Underwood or Harmon would prove a more capable executive than Clark. Neither would make such an absurd break as was made by Clark in his speech advocating the annexation of Canada. Neither would insult his party or nation by comparing Cleveland to Benedict Arnold or Judas Iscariot. Unfortunately for them, the dollar mark is clearly printed on each. Clark has worked skillfully to escape the appearance of this sign. His slouch hat and Prince Albert coat are carefully patterned after the rural type. His hound dog type of conversation disarms suspicion, the deals he has made for political support are kept in the background of his campaign. He will be the candidate of the interests.

Then will arise to confound him his acquiescence in the prevention of the investigation of the money trust, the trust which controls and directs all other trusts; the trust which plans to govern the country by dominating the political machines of both parties; the ill defined organization of men owning and controlling money, who are determined that this nation shall be ruled by and for oligarchy through the forms of democracy.

Clark has bowed before this idol of mammon, he has become its candidate, and therefore cannot be elected.

Six months have passed. The unattached observer, if asked today, would say that the people will name the next president, and that his name is Theodore Roosevelt.

IS THIS AN ISSUE?

When the Illinois Central railroad endeavors to prevent the state from conferring on a municipality the right of eminent domain it places itself in an unenviable position.

We flatter ourselves in Illinois that we are not subject to the domination of great railroads. It may be that the facts, if known, would rob us of some of our complacency in this matter, but at least the railroads are under cover. We are fortunate in having a governor they cannot control and their influence in the legislature breaks down almost as often as it succeeds.

Illinois is not a railroad controlled state and it will not submit to be one. No doubt now and again the railroads "put something over," but state policy is not dictated by railroads and it will not be.

The position of the Illinois Central in the matter of giving the south park commissioners the right of eminent domain is unenviable and it is likely to work itself into a positive embarrassment to the corporation.

Even if the company should have some temporary success with the legislature it will be a success with a bitter ending. The theory of government which concedes the right of the state to vest municipalities with the right of condemnation for public purposes is not disputed. It has been recognised in enactment after enactment. The right has been conferred on the Lincoln park commissioners for precisely the same reason that it is sought for the south park commissioners.

In the case of the north side park it happened that the property affected was held in private ownership. There was no dispute of the right of the legislature to give the commissioners the right to condemn. Bear in mind that it was private property. The Lincoln park commissioners did not use the right given them, but it was important that they should have it.

The question arose of giving the south park commission the same right. The Illinois Central was instrumental in taking the provision providing for this out of the bill. The question arises again in the legislature. Again the Illinois Central railroad seeks to prevent the enactment of such a law.

Why? Because an act which is applicable to private property may not be applied to the Illinois Central? Because there is a divinity in railroads that exempts them from what otherwise is sound public policy? Because there is an influence in railroads which makes it impossible to deal with their property as with the property of other concerns?

If this is the attitude the Illinois Central wishes to take something will be heard on the subject.

This question has nothing to do with the location of the Field museum. It has nothing to do with the plans of the south park commission to create a lake front park. Such plans are mere incidents to a larger issue. That is whether the Illinois Central railroad is powerful enough in the legislature of Illinois to prevent the enactment of a law which is in exact accord with the policy of the state.

If it is then Illinois has a new problem before it and might as well settle down immediately to its solution.

The Illinois Central, pleading through its lobbyist, Mr. John Drennan, that it fears the arbitrary taking over of property necessary for the operation of its lines is hypocritical. It fears nothing of the sort. Nothing of the sort is contemplated. Nothing of the sort could be done. If there is a railroad in the United States which is the possessor of substantial evidence of public encouragement that railroad is the Illinois Central.

It was the pampered common carrier of Illinois and its importance to the state was and is recognized. State grants gave it lands and Chicago finds it occupying the most valuable right of way in the city. The benefit of the doubt has been given to the Illinois Central on every occasion and it is fitting to refer to the fact that now it is defendant in suits brought by the state to recover $15,000,000 in back compensation under its charter.

If the Illinois Central prevents the enactment of a law conferring the right of eminent domain on the south park commissioners the state will know that it has a railroad problem on its hands and it will be a sad day for the railroads if this be demonstrated.

There is no disposition to deal unfairly with them. Their importance to Chicago and to the state is recognized. But they will not be allowed to control the state and the sooner they come to complete realization of that fact the better for them.

WHAT THE EXPLOSION SHOWED.

The great mine laid by the president's political engineers has exploded—and what is the result?

The nation sees, first of all, the scurrying figure of Senator Murray Crane, Republican and generalissimo of a Republican president engaged in a campaign for renomination.

Senator Crane had been secretly across the party lines. He had been visiting his friend, the enemy, and had induced him to plant the mine and touch the button which was to blow up a Republican candidate, which was to destroy the political life of a former Republican president, which was to cover the fame of a Republican administration with the wreckage of dishonor.

No wonder Senator Murray Crane did not dare to do that in the open! No wonder he made his trip across the party line and got the reactionary Democrat, Senator Johnston, to do the work.

We know that sort of thing well in Illinois.

We have come to call it Lorimerism, and it is not unworthy of note that both Senator Crane and Senator Johnston are champions of Lorimer in the United States senate.

So much for this new revelation of bipartisanism. But what else is revealed?

That what Theodore Roosevelt has held in message and addresses again and again, that what he is urging in the present campaign he tried under the law as president to apply.

The correspondence guiltily brought forth by Crane and Johnston can be used by Col. Roosevelt and his friends in this campaign without the change of a word nor the addition of a foot note.

If the Taft forces will meet Roosevelt on this issue nothing could be more welcome to the Roosevelt cause.

Col. Roosevelt is opposed to regulation by lawsuit.

He has said it again and again.

He is saying it today.

It is President Taft who sings the praises of the Standard Oil decision and puts his faith in litigation and "interpretation."

Col. Roosevelt has declared for regulation by administrative action, for official publicity, examination, supervision, and coöperation wherever business men show a willingness to throw their business methods open to official examination and to coöperate with government to bring corporate organization and corporate methods safely within the dubious precincts of our trust law.

The great mine has exploded, as it was timed to explode, on the eve of a critical contest.

And what has it revealed?

That Theodore Roosevelt in office had the courage of his expressed opinions.

And Murray Crane, Republican senator and commander in chief of the Taft forces, at work under cover, with a reactionary Democrat, to discredit by an appeal to prejudice a Republican candidate, a Republican ex-president, a Republican administration.

SOME folk are so severe on Ismay that there is danger of arousing sympathy for him.

WE could mention hundreds of things the people need now more than they need a railway strike.

HOUSING PLANS.

A FEW years ago a presidential campaign orator said 41,000 of the 100,000 laboring families of Glasgow lived in one room tenements. The inference was that American methods should be continued as, under them, no such conditions prevail. Whereupon Kober commented, "We need not go to Glasgow for such illustrations, for, to our shame, it must be confessed that similar conditions obtain in nearly every American city."

The New York tenement house commission found 370,000 dark rooms occupied as living rooms in 1903. No full survey of Chicago has ever been made, but two partial surveys indicate, first, that hundreds of thousands of Chicago laborers are physically handicapped, made inefficient, and frequently made ill by living in dark rooms, and, second, that things are getting worse rather than better.

Our journey from Glasgow to New York to Chicago can be continued to the smaller cities of this state, for Prof. Tufts has found bad housing in every one studied.

The fact is that, while our workingmen earn more, our land values are higher, our building costs are higher, we have less town planning and less regulation of building, so that, all in all, our housing is no better and, in some particulars is worse, than that of Europe.

In Europe and America the plans for improved housing have taken many directions. In some cities, homes and housing companies have built sanitary apartments so constructed that the rents are low and yet the capital invested earns 4 per cent. In other places these societies have built separate one family houses, and, in still others, houses two stories high and for two families. Plans for such houses, so built as to render a proper return on the investment and yet with a rental of only $13 to $14 a month, are printed in the Survey and in the Journal of the American Medical Association for 1911.

That which makes the situation so difficult is that cities seldom get interested in their housing until conditions are very bad. They then try to cure, rather than to prevent, and curing anything, whether a sick body, a sick house, or a sick situation, is always more expensive than preventing it.

The crux of the situation is the price of land. English authorities say laboring men cannot live on ground worth over $1,500 an acre without being badly housed. Chicago's poor people live on ground worth more than $10,000 an acre.

Had Chicago planned ahead its people could have been properly housed without high rents. Not having done so square miles of congested, insanitary, incapacitating housing must remain for many years. The property will not stand the burden of the taxation necessary for cure.

TELLS OF POOR VENTILATION.

A. E. C. writes: "In Memphis in the basement of one of the large hotels is a barber shop, employing six men. At the rear of the shop is a pressing room where clothing is pressed and repaired. Three men hire it. There is not one opening for ventilation excepting the stairway leading to the basement. At a depot doing a heavy passenger business the only ventilation the ticket agents have is from the waiting room, and the windows in this room are never open. A few women feeling the atmosphere close propped the door open. The ticket sales at this office will average $20,000 to $23,000 a month, so that one can safely say that 35,000 to 45,000 people pass through the depot each month, an average of 1,200 to 1,500 a day, and yet these five men in that office have no outside air. On the train from Jackson to Vicksburg, Miss., I found both the ladies' and gentlemen's toilets in very insanitary condition."

REPLY.

We hope that traveling men who are compelled to put up with insanitary conditions will widely advertise the place and the conditions found. If they make towns where contagion is uncontrolled or water is unsafe they owe it to their fellow travelers to say something of it.

NO NEED TO FEAR.

STOVE IS EXPLANATION.

S. H. B. writes: "Apropos of your remarks a few days ago on the use of gas stoves for heating, could the constant use of a ten jet heater as the only means of heating a room used day and night account for chronic headaches of the occupant? The extremely severe weather necessitated having the stove lighted all day. A window was kept open at night for ventilation, but in the day time an open fireplace furnished the only ventilation, if any. After about three weeks my head began to ache, and almost never ceased, until with the spring weather the stove was no longer used and the windows were kept open day and night. The headache has now almost ceased. Is this situation sufficient to explain the headache?"

REPLY.

It could. It did. It is.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1912: By the Brentwood Company.]

AMONG the distinguished Frenchmen who reach New York today, forming the Hanotaux party, who are bent upon presenting to this fortunate country the bust by Rodin of "La Belle France," there should be, according to the original program, Gen. Brugère, who at one time was said to be more powerful than the whole French parliament combined, and the real master of France; but that was a long time ago.

Gen. Brugère saw active service during the Tunisian expedition. He was in command of the Twelfth regiment of artillery, then at Vincennes, and, as general of division, was placed successively in command of the Twelfth infantry division at Rheims, the Eighth army corps at Bourges, and of the Second army corps at Amiens, these promotions being rapidly followed by higher and higher honors, until there remained nothing for him to desire.

Of course there are wicked people—there are always wicked people to be found—who claimed, and will continue doubtless to assert, that this fine soldier made his way more easily and at greater speed on the thick Aubusson carpets of the Elysée palace, or even upon the velvety moss of forests deep and green and dewy, like, for instance, that of Rambouillet, where he received the wound—I am still quoting—to which he owed his highest military honors, as also his retention, at a critical moment, on the staff of the president, who had slated him for removal.

The story that he was accidentally shot by Sadi-Carnot during a battle on Jan. 11, 1888, at Rambouillet, has been repeated over and over again in both the French and the foreign press, and even embodied in a number of books. His promotion was declared to be by way of compensation for injuries thus received.

Brugère bore everything in silence for a long time. It was not until Camille Pelletan, the former minister of marine and a political adversary of the general, insisted, in his Parisian newspaper, that Gen. Brugère owed all his advancement and his high military position to an accidental shot that he published a protest and denial.

The general, who is after all a gallant and efficient officer, declared that he was not shot in the back at all but in front, and that the author of the accident was not President Carnot but one of the head gamekeepers of the name of Darrien.

President Carnot's son forwarded to me this explanation of Gen. Brugère at the time it was made, with the request that I publish it in order to relieve his father, in the estimation of the American people, of the imputation of prevarication. Now that Gen. Brugère may be this country's honored guest, I think it is only right that I should, for the sake of both the general and for that of the murdered president of the French republic, repeat the version of the accident, as it was given to me by the son of President Carnot.

It is always difficult to get at the truth of these shooting accidents where important personages are concerned, and even to this day there are many people who refuse to accept the explanation of Brugère, and insist upon the more entertaining account of the affair and its alleged consequences.

A certain order of minds evince a reluctance to spoil an amusing story, even in the interests of truth. As to Darrien, the gamekeeper, the last I heard of him he was still in the service of the French government, though not as a gamekeeper. Something more lucrative and more safe had been found for him.

I am sorry to say that the French press received Gen. Brugère's version of the accident with reluctance, declaring that, although it might possess the merit of being true, it spoiled an excellent story that was both picturesque and amusing, and would bear frequent repetition.

It reminded them, the papers declared, of a delightful fairy tale of their childhood, where the hero of the name of Nigodinee was the recipient of mysterious kicks from some undiscoverable source, and being handsomely recompensed by his king each time he received one of these uncanny blows of the foot, he rose, step by step, from the lowly station of a farm laborer to the proud position of prime minister.

His explanation, they assured the general, came too late, the incident was irrevocably embodied in the light literature of France, and was a valuable contribution to the gayety of the nation.

I sincerely hope that if the gallant general lands on these shores the shooting incident will be ignored and that he will be appreciated for what he is, a highly efficient general of the French army, owing his position to merit alone.

Some funny stories are also told of Napoleon I., whose ability as a marksman was execrable, according to all accounts.

It is related of him that one day while out on a grand hunt a stag was run down and brought to bay. As his special privilege he was to give the coup de grâce, for which purpose a firearm was shyly handed to him.

The poor wounded animal was lying on the ground, almost at the last gasp, when the huntsmen, desirous of pleasing their emperor, propped up the head so as to offer a good target, being themselves hidden in the underbrush from the emperor, who was several yards distant.

Napoleon took careful aim and fired, the huntsmen promptly letting the stag's head drop.

"There!" exclaimed the emperor; "you saw that? And yet people say that I am not a good shot!"

As he spoke a dolorous howl of pain went up from one of the hounds. Like Mr. Tupman in the famous shooting expedition in "Pickwick Papers," it had received the charge intended for the quarry.

On another occasion the emperor's appearance in the rôle of Nathaniel Winkle was attended by more serious consequences, no less a personage than a marshal of France being the sufferer.

It was in 1809, at an imperial shooting party at Marly, that Emperor Napoleon, by an accidental shot, destroyed one of the eyes of Massena, Duc de Rivoli.

With wonderful self-command and presence of mind, Massena immediately turned upon Marshal Berthier, his old friend and comrade, and gave him a fierce tongue lashing, hurling the most bitter imprecations for his carelessness and stupidity.

Berthier took the cue, accepted all the blame, and became abjectly apologetic, not even showing any resentment when the emperor himself, with the most amazing effrontery, joined in the tirade and in the presence of the entire party assailed Berthier with withering reproaches for his bad shooting.

As soon, however, as he could get away from the others and could see them in private, the emperor overwhelmed with expressions of gratitude his two generals for their devotion and readiness of resource on his behalf.

LAKE BOATS MUST BE SAFE.

Chicago, April 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The time seems opportune just now (when the greatest sea disaster in history makes us realize what might have been done to prevent its occurrence) for THE TRIBUNE to do more great good for the people at large, and I hope your paper will bring forcibly to the attention of the government, state, and city officials the urgent need of proper laws and their enforcement covering the inspection and control of lake passenger steamers.

There is no doubt in my mind, as well as in the minds of thousands of your readers, that a great calamity on Lake Michigan can be avoided if steps are taken at once to safeguard the lives of lake passengers.

I have trembled with fear many times for the safety of excursion steamers which go out of the Chicago harbor on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, overcrowded with people loaded like so many cattle.

These boats cannot accommodate one-half the people they carry with seats, let alone life preservers, and as for lifeboats, these are for show, few at that, and so fastened as to be useless in case of emergency.

Aug. 29, 1911, you published a letter I wrote to you on the subject of the wretchedly poor attempt at life saving by the crew of the steamer South Haven. You also published with comments letters from J. H. Baldwin, E. E. Walker, and Mrs. Blanche Swift, who were also eyewitnesses to this same sad accident. T. A. MOORE.

AT the time T. The Colonel was pictured as Ulysses sailing away while Penelope wept by the shore.

AS a matter of cold fact neither gentleman is under any obligation to the other, and so far as this campaign is concerned both are at liberty to go as far as they please. Mr. Taft's statement at Springfield, that he spoke plainly "only because it was time," means only that he feels that if he does not carry Massachusetts he may as well withdraw from the race.

A bit of circumstantial evidence supporting our contention comes from Col. Brand Whitlock of Toledo. He writes us that at the Nikisch concert which he attended some women in the audience got the programs mixed and sniffled through the Brahms symphony, thinking it was the Tschaikowsky.

THE ENRAPTURED REPORTER.

Softly, slowly, in sweet and solemn earnestness came the question: "Wilt thou Russell take this woman to be thy wedded wife . . . to have and to hold . . ." And in clear, unhesitating tones came the man's answer: "I will." Through the high windows the sunshine stole, filling the vast room with a golden peace, a sacred purity that breathed of heaven; and into the hearts of those who saw and heard there crept the great faith—faith in the great God of love and marriage, faith in the divinity of man, faith in the sacred beauty of wifehood, faith in the struggle and eventual goodness of life.

CONDUCTOR SHOULD STOP THERE.

Chicago, April 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—When going to work in the morning I very often find it necessary to take the Center avenue car to the "L" station at Sixty-third street. I have often boarded one particular car, and the conductor, No. 3246, has refused to stop there.

April 9 this conductor gave the signal to stop for a man, and I was on the step just going to step off, when he rang the bell to go ahead. To avoid an accident, I got up on the platform and rode to Sixty-third street, and in so doing missed my train.

Is the "L" station a scheduled stopping place? If not, why does he stop for some and run a risk like the above? I assure you it was no trifle. F. M. O.

Our rules require that cars be stopped at all elevated stations. The case complained of will receive prompt investigation and attention.

CHICAGO CITY RAILWAY COMPANY.

NO FIRE ESCAPES REQUIRED.

Chicago, April 20.—[To the Friend of the People.]—There are no fire escapes leading from the third floor of the Shakspeare school at Forty-sixth street and Greenwood avenue, and as this floor is used to a greater or less extent for gymnastic exercises, I believe it is essential for the protection of the children that fire escapes should be provided.

I am also informed that when school is dismissed the main doors are not kept open for the children to pass out, but that each one must push open the door. This, it seems to me, would be a still further handicap to the rapid exit of the children in case of a fire.

I understand the attention of the proper authorities has been called to these facts by a committee of ladies appointed by one of the numerous clubs, but evidently their request has not met with favorable response.

Will you not kindly look into this matter and favor me with a reply through the columns of your worthy paper? SUBSCRIBER.

I have investigated the matter and find that no fire escape is required on the Shakspeare school, Forty-sixth street and Greenwood avenue, under the ordinance of the city of Chicago.

Instructions have been given that the main doors be kept open while the children are passing out of the building. L. E. LARSON, Secretary Board of Education.

DISFIGURING SIGNS.

Chicago, April 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am interested enough to make inquiry as to who authorizes the tying and nailing of the large frame and muslin signs to trolley and telegraph poles throughout the city. I always understood this was against the ordinance of the city.

A specific instance is the advertisement of a dance. Signs are attached to poles at Sixty-ninth and Normal boulevard, Sixty-fourth and Halsted streets, Sixty-third and Halsted streets, Fifty-ninth and Halsted streets, Fifty-second and Halsted streets—these all advertise the same thing. It would seem that the police would prevent their erection or cause their removal if placed without a permit.

If they are authorized by a permit some city officer is to blame for allowing the streets to be disfigured in this way. D. J.

STREET SHOULD BE PAVED.

Chicago, April 23.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Being a stranger in your city, I should like to know who to complain to regarding the condition of the east side of Seminary avenue, between Byron and Dakin streets. Last summer it was not much more than a mud hole, but now it is dreadful. The water and ice have stood all winter, until now it is as high in places as the horses' stomachs. The children have played boats, and now it is full of bricks and planks, making it almost impossible for the horses to pull through. J. T. M.

The only remedy for the conditions complained of in the inclosed letter would be to pave the street. F. W. SOLON, Acting Superintendent of Streets.

SHOULD CLAIM DAMAGES.

Chicago, April 18.—[To the Friend of the People.]—On March 20, the day of the terrible blizzard, I transferred with other passengers on a State street car at Forty-seventh street. When the car started it caused me to slip on the icy step and floor of the car, from which I received an injury to my left foot and ankle, right knee, and right shoulder. Was under the doctor's care some time and had to have a cast put on the foot. The conductor denied that such an accident occurred on his car and said that I fell at his side after handing him my transfer. I am not surprised at his denial, for if one heard his argument with a woman over a twenty minute transfer he would not think him worthy the name man, let alone gentleman; this first called my attention to his insolence. A passenger told him to put sand on the icy floor, which he did reluctantly. After my fall a passenger who was a gentleman helped me up, got me a seat, and when he saw the conductor was not gentleman enough to help me off at my street, he assisted me again. Now I do not wish to condemn all car men. Their work is not all easy and they deserve much praise, and in nine years of travel on a street car this is the first conductor that was not a gentleman. Many of them now since I am compelled to use a cane even get off the car to assist me to the ground. When I thank them I have had them answer me, "That is our business, to look after passengers, especially the unfortunate ones like yourself." In conclusion I would like to thank the gentleman for his assistance, as I did not get his name. MRS. L. SMITH.

We advise you to put in a claim for damages with the company, giving the conductor's number and all the details.

ROAD PROMISES TO CLEAN ALLEY.

Chicago, April 22.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The Metropolitan elevated road between Center avenue and Aberdeen street is a disgrace, the Metropolitan elevated for years having left this place an eyesore. When it rains the water in summer time turns green and rubbish of all kinds is there. The alley is soon to be paved, but what is the use if the Metropolitan elevated won't clean up? THOMAS J. BROWN, Center avenue and Congress street.

We will endeavor to clean this section up, but the results will not be permanent unless the neighbors and police coöperate in preventing teamsters from hauling all sorts of rubbish on the railway company's property instead of taking it to the city dump.

THE METROPOLITAN WEST SIDE ELEVATED RAILWAY COMPANY.

THE USUAL RUSH HOUR CRUSH.

Chicago, April 24.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Why does some one not prevent the scramble for the Halsted street and Wentworth avenue cars at Clark and Washington streets, between the hours of 5 and 6 p. m.? It is almost impossible to get on a car. Last evening I was standing waiting for a Halsted street car; finally, after eight Wentworths had passed a Halsted came. There was a crowd waiting to get on and the motorman let down the step before the car stopped, which, of course, gave the men a chance to get on, and, as the car moved on the men knocked all standing there with full force. Those in front could not get back because those in the back would not move.

Then about five policemen got off and instead of making the men act as gentlemen should they pushed their way through and then stood there and laughed. After all of this commotion the car pulled out with about ten people in the car and the platform and step full of women hanging on. L. E. K.

The conditions described have existed for some time and, will continue to exist until downtown loops are established or some other system is devised to prevent congestion of cars.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

BOILERS IN STEAMER WRECKS.

Chicago, April 23.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The final convulsion, mechanically speaking, which sent the Titanic to the bottom seems to have been the blowing up of its boilers. As soon as the engineers had to abandon the fires and were driven out of the boiler room by rising water the danger from boiler explosion slowly but surely must have increased, accentuated by the tilting of the ship.

If at this moment the boilers could have been "blown down" the danger from boiler explosion would have passed and some time gained before the vessel went down—possibly it would have continued to float. To do this an "emergency blow off" could easily have been arranged. It could have been operated from the upper decks. The blowing out of the contents of the boilers would relieve the ship of that much weight, and ought to cause it to rise a little. Then an automatic air vent properly arranged would allow the boilers to draw in air enough to avoid the consequent vacuum, and the probability of its collapsing the boilers. Then the boilers, being under water, would by their buoyancy assist in keeping the ship afloat. There were six sets of boilers in this ship. If only a few minutes were gained as each set was manipulated they would have been minutes of incalculable value.

If, in addition to discharging the contents, the outlet pipe or blow-off from each set of boilers was arranged on the "ejector" principle, carrying with it additional water from the boiler room, it would still further lighten the ship. Such a device would have a tremendous discharging capacity if properly arranged. R. C. WISE, Mechanical Engineer.

"WRECKING" THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

Three Lakes, Wis., April 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It seems to me that about enough has been said about the "local issues" of the present campaign. It should be plain to every one that what we call "Lorimerism," "jackpotism," "Penrosism" are simply different aspects of the same great issue. No matter whether it buys a seat in the senate or invades the courts, or buys legislation, or thwarts the will of the people at the polls, political corruption—call is "Lorimerism" if you like—is not only a national issue, but it is the most important issue in this country at the present time.

Col. Roosevelt has the clear vision to see this and the courage to proclaim it. Mr. McKinley is afraid that he will "wreck the Republican party." If the party consists of a few groups of professional politicians and a pack of officeholders, whose allies they are, then undoubtedly the colonel will wreck the party.

It is safe also to predict that he will do it with all that thoroughness and attention to detail for which he is noted. But if the Republican party is made up as in Lincoln's time of the great masses of the common people, who believe in human rights and the right of the people to govern themselves, then it would seem that, judging from the sweeping victories of the aforesaid party in Illinois and Pennsylvania, it is not in any immediate danger of dissolution. MORE SLOW MAIL.

Warsaw, Ind., April 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I left Chicago Tuesday morning and at 9 o'clock my wife discovered I had left my spectacles at home and mailed them at once to Warsaw, Ind. They were not here at 4 p. m. on Wednesday, so I waited over till the 6:49 train, leaving Chicago Wednesday afternoon at 3:15, and did not come on that. I would like to ask our Chicago postmaster if Mr. Taft is nominated and elected again if we may expect the same "retrenchment" and "economies" in the mail service that we are now receiving. One hundred and nine miles from Chicago and can't get a piece of second class mail in two full days' time. Very respectfully, GEORGE E. EMMONS, 2146 Sunnyside avenue.

WHAT INFLUENCES VOTES.

Chicago, April 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I note with interest a letter by "Mrs. C. S." She speaks of Miss Addams in connection with the recent vote upon woman suffrage. She says, "Miss Addams needs no single vote, for she controls myriads of votes." Does "Mrs. C. S." really think that "myriads" of men voted for woman suffrage last week because influenced to do so by Miss Addams' speeches and articles on the subject? I'll venture to say that that woman who was out with her hot mince pies on election morning actually controlled more votes than did Miss Addams with all her excellent speeches and her influence over the "myriads of voters."

And "Percy Baldwin" is so sympathetic for the overworked women who may have the ballot thrust upon them by some unthinking men, before "practically all the women want it." But what about the overworked women, unfortunately too many, who support a family, including a lazy, drunken husband? He kindly lifts from her weary shoulders the heavy burden of the ballot, even at great personal sacrifice, and she doubtless influences him so that he votes as she wishes, regardless of his own opinion.

I had the privilege of being a "watcher" at a polling place. The men were courteous, some so effusively so as to make one doubt its genuineness. But what I saw of the men who came there to vote made me more than ever in favor of woman suffrage. Undoubtedly with the extension of the franchise to women there will be attendant faults and evils; but—could it be much worse than it is now under suffrage for men alone? A MERE WOMAN.

GUARD GAS USERS, PLAN OF NEW SUIT

City to Keep Up War on Corporation Despite Adverse Court Decision.

WANTS 5 CENT HOLD OUT.

Warns All Consumers to Protest Payment of Bills Over 75 Cent Rate Ordinance.

New litigation will be started by the city against the People's Gaslight and Coke company to protect gas consumers paying the company 5 cents a thousand feet in excess of the maximum price as fixed by the recent ordinance.

The determination to take this new step was announced by Corporation Counsel Sexton yesterday following the decision of the Appellate court against the city. This court reversed the interlocutory order entered by Judge Scanlan restraining the company from charging more than 80 cents a thousand for gas and impounding the 5 cents a thousand now charged by the company in excess of the 75 cent rate fixed by ordinance.

Warns Consumers to Protest.

"We were not surprised at the new court decision," Mr. Sexton said, "but we still believe there is some way to protect the consumers of gas who are paying 5 cents more for gas than the ordinance provides. We want to start some sort of proceedings whereby the corporation will be compelled to pay back to the consumers this excess should the ordinance rates finally be held valid by the courts.

"The only protection now is for the consumer to pay all his bills under protest. If he does not do that and later tries to collect any excess he may find the claim made that the payment was voluntary and he has no right to a rebate."

Releases Company from Impounding.

The effect of the Appellate court decision is to permit the gas company to continue to charge 80 cents for gas, the price fixed by Judge Gibbons when the company attacked the new ordinance rates last summer. The decision also releases the corporation from setting aside the 5 cents difference between the ordinance and company prices as ordered by Judge Scanlan.

Since the entry of the Scanlan order in October the company has deposited $275,000 from this alleged excess charge with the Central Trust Company of Illinois. This sum now reverts to the gas corporation and the customers are left without protection for extra gas payments.

The Appellate court in criticising the Scanlan order declared justification for the impounding feature could only be found in proof of an extraordinary situation sufficiently extreme to warrant unusual procedure on the court's part.

The ordinance litigation as to the reasonableness of the rates is in Judge Burke's court.

ALDERMEN FIX A SCHEDULE

Set Time for Meetings of All the Committees.

AIM FOR FULL ATTENDANCE.

Time Table So Arranged All Members Can Be Present.

Chairmen of the sixteen city council committees met yesterday afternoon and perfected a meeting time schedule for the coming year. The new time table is so arranged that every alderman may attend the meeting of every committee of which he is a member without a conflict of committee meetings.

The new schedule, showing committee, chairman, day of the week and hour of meetings, follows:

Finance—Richert, Friday, 2 p. m.
Local Transportation—Block, Wednesday, 2 p. m.
Harbors, Wharves and Bridges—Littler, Tuesday, 2 p. m.
Gas, Oil and Light—Carmak, Thursday, 2 p. m.
Judiciary—Donahoe, Friday, 2 p. m.
Buildings—Thomson, Monday, 3:30 p. m.
Schools and Police—Geiger, Tuesday, 11 a. m.
Local Industries—Fisher, Tuesday, 2 p. m.
Water—Wilson, Thursday, 3:30 p. m.
Streets and Alleys—Healy, Monday, 2 p. m.
License—W. F. Ryan, Thursday, 3:30 p. m.
Health—Nance, Wednesday, 2 p. m.
Track Elevation—Janovsky, Wednesday, 3:30 p. m.
Special Parks—Sellfuss, Wednesday, 10:30 a. m.
Bathing Beaches—Long, Friday, 3:30 p. m.
Compensation—Reading, Friday, 11 a. m.

Herbert Evans, secretary of the local transportation committee, is to have charge of the clerical work of three of the important committees. Besides the old committee he will look after the records and other matters of the "G. O. L." and the harbors committee.

Ald. Block, chairman of the transportation committee, has appointed several subcommittees. The members of the four car service complaint subcommittees were named as follows: Northwest side, Twiss, Rydahl, and Clancy; north side, Capitain and Lipps; southwest side, Schultz, Donahoe, and Stewart; south side, Fisher, Bergen, and Carr.

Ald. Block, Lipps, and Healy make up the subcommittee to investigate and recommend through routes, and Ald. Block, Twiss, Schultz, Fisher, and Capitain were selected to investigate the new Limette extension of the Northwestern "L" and report on the traffic conditions of all the elevated lines.

WOMAN TESTIFIES TO HELP FORMER BANKER M'CARTHY.

Miss Lyon, Once Clerk for Defendant, Details Dealing with Thomas White Before Crash Came.

Miss Mary K. Lyon, 4209 Calumet avenue, took the witness stand in Judge McGoorty's court yesterday in defense of P. F. McCarthy, former south side banker and real estate dealer, who is on trial for embezzlement and larceny by bailee. She was formerly a clerk for the defendant.

Miss Lyon testified McCarthy gave her an envelope May 23 of last year which she was instructed to give to Thomas White, the complaining witness, and which contained a mortgage for $1,500 and an extension agreement for $500 on another mortgage. White, she said, refused to accept the contents of the envelope.

May 23 was the day McCarthy's business was placed in the hands of a receiver. The plan of the defense was to show that McCarthy attempted to protect White because the money on the mortgage the latter held was due on that day.

The introduction of the defense's case was begun following the overruling of a motion to direct a verdict for McCarthy.

RULES FOR MODEL HUSBAND OUTLINED BY JUDGE GOODNOW.

Stay Home and Get Acquainted with Your Wife, Declares Court to Man, Who Takes Advice.

Some rules for the model husband were outlined by Judge Goodnow yesterday when Loyal Abbott was arraigned in the Court of Domestic Relations on the charge of failure to support his wife, Margaret, at 1339 West Jackson boulevard.

Abbott said he had no particular reason for leaving home and there was "no better woman in Chicago than Mrs. Abbott."

The judge then told Abbott he ought to start afresh and detailed some of the things to be done.

"Stay home and get acquainted with your wife," he said, "and you won't want to go out at night.

"'Bum' around with your family. Take them to the park every Sunday. During the week you should visit the nickel shows with them.

"Aim to be in early every night. Husbands shouldn't be out after 9 o'clock without a good excuse. Keep away from questionable districts. They break up families. Kiss your wife now and then. Treat her the way you did in your honeymoon and you'll get along all right."

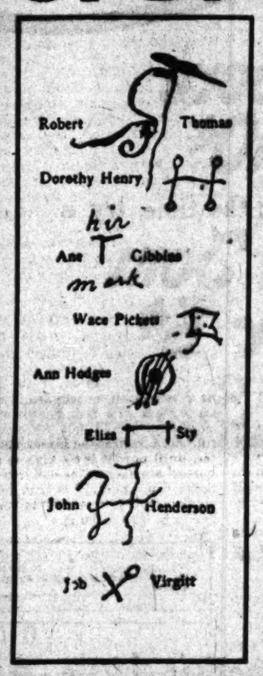

Abbott said he would try to put the judge's advice into practice and do better.

$90,000 Made on Uhlich Property at Clark and Water Streets.

MICHIGAN AVE. FEE SOLD.

Congress Hotel Company Gets the Premises at 520 Under an Old Option.

Two important transactions have just been closed of special interest because both show large profits, one within a year.

One of these is the sale by John R. Thompson to Richard W. Sears, founder of Sears, Roebuck & Co., of what is known as the Uhlich hall property on the west side of North Clark street, extending from North Water street to Kinzie street, about 200x80 feet, for $300,000. Mr. Thompson paid $210,000 for the property less than a year ago.

The property is improved with an old four story hall, office, and flat building, known years ago as a popular resort in that section of the city. There were also many offices of justices of the peace in the building. The sale was at the rate of over $1,500 a front foot for the Clark street frontage and $19 a square foot.

Mr. Thompson has taken back a lease of the property for 198 years at an annual rent of $15,000, or 5 per cent on the purchase price. Albert L. Strauss represented both parties to the transaction.

$200,000 Building Planned.

Mr. Thompson will raze the old building and erect a building seven or more stories high to cost around $200,000, which will be used for the baking, commissary, and auditing department of his business in connection with his restaurant business.

Elmer Schlesinger of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt represented Mr. Thompson in a legal way, while Sidney Adler represented Mr. Sears.

Mr. Sears within a few years has become a large owner in well located Chicago property. Some of his purchases comprise the Portland block, at Dearborn and Washington streets, which he acquired from the heirs of D. Percy Morgan for $1,000,000; the southeast corner of Jackson boulevard and Plymouth place, from W. C. Lobenstine, for about $850,000; the southwest corner of Randolph and Dearborn streets, for $265,000, and other purchases in the central district aggregating nearly $500,000.

Congress Hotel Co. in Deal.

The other transaction comprised the purchase by the Congress Hotel company from E. Burton Holmes, the lecturer, and his grandmother, Ann W. Burton, of the fee at 520 South Michigan avenue, 26x172 feet, adjoining on the north the William Blair property, and forming a part of the site of the Congress hotel.

The purchase was the exercise of an option contained in a 99 year lease of the property to the hotel company in 1902 by Virginia B. Holmes, the mother of Mr. Holmes, and by her mother, Mrs. Burton, who held a life interest in one-third of the property.

The lease provided for an annual rent of $4,000, which, capitalized on a 4 per cent basis, gives a leasing value of $100,000. The lease contained an option to purchase prior to July, 1912, for $115,000. This the hotel company has now exercised and it is of interest to note that by so doing the company has taken a profit of approximately $171,000, measuring the value of the land by the value given the Blair holding on the south at an appraisal made earlier in the year. This appraisal placed a value of $11,000 a front foot on the property, on which basis the Holmes property is worth $286,000, or $171,000 more than the hotel company paid for it. Simeon Straus attended to the legal details.

Mrs. Virginia B. Holmes acquired the interests of her brothers, S. Lester Burton and Le Grand S. Burton, subject to the one-third life interest of her mother, Mrs. Burton, and she subsequently disposed of her interest to her son, E. Burton Holmes.

$470,000 for State Street Fee.

Record has been made of the purchase by Mrs. Lena Gilmore from Charles F. Gunther of the fee in the 29x145 feet of ground at 218 South State street for $470,000. The ground is under lease to Jacob L. Kesner for ninety-nine years at an annual rent of $20,000, making the sale on a 4¼ per cent basis. Albert L. Strauss is the broker.

Israel Samuels has sold to Michael Schiavone the property at the northwest corner of Taylor street and Center avenue, 75x125 feet, with store and flat improvements, for $43,000, subject to an incumbrance of $20,000.

Greenebaum Sons Bank and Trust company are trustees in two loans of $24,000 each, five years at 5½ per cent, one secured by the twelve apartment building at 5723-29 Indiana avenue, lot 100x161 feet, and the other secured by 115x125 feet of ground on West Madison street, near Forty-first avenue, being improved with a high grade store and flat building.

Realty Board as Entertainers.

The entertainment provided by the luncheon committee of the Chicago real estate board at the weekly luncheon of that organization yesterday attracted a crowd which taxed the capacity of the big assembly room.

Miss Klara M. De Vine rendered several vocal selections, as did the Shattuck quartet, the latter making a big hit. John Robbins also recited several of James Whitcomb Riley's poems.

Roy B. Tabor, former president of the Chicago real estate board, will speak on "Central Business Property" at the April open meeting of the Coöperative Realty club today at 12:30. Luncheon will be served in the red room of the Hotel La Salle.

Abraham Rogal has sold the southeast corner of Colorado and Kedzie avenues to Benjamin Nudelman for $40,000. The site is 39 feet on Colorado avenue by 141 feet on Kedzie avenue. Mr. Nudelman assumes an incumbrance of $25,000 and gives in part payment the three story building at 1462 Milwaukee avenue. Victor Polakow and Alexander Jacobs are the brokers.

National Exchange Men Meet.

Members of the board of managers of the National Association of Real Estate Exchanges, which met in the rooms of the Chicago branch of the organization yesterday afternoon, decided to hold the national convention this year at Louisville, Ky., in June.

Thomas S. Ingersoll, executive secretary of the organization, read a report showing its rapid growth. The movement was started in Chicago five years ago, and at present there are sixty exchanges affiliated with the parent body, which has a membership of 6,000.

Among the principal cities represented at the meeting were: Chicago, Kansas City, Detroit, Duluth, Cleveland, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

MUNICIPAL COURT IS UPHELD.

Judge Burke Dismisses Taxpayers' Suit Attacking Act for Want of Equity.

Constitutionality of the Municipal court act, which has been upheld by the Supreme court in former decisions, again was upheld yesterday by Judge R. E. Burke. The court dismissed a taxpayers' bill, attacking the Municipal court for want of equity.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

SENATE.

In session 2 p. m. Adopted joint resolution appropriating $1,500,000 for immediate use in repairing levees on lower Mississippi river.

Tom Moore Cigar

The Little Tom has been lifted into fame by the Tom Moore. Half the price because half the size. It makes good in the same way because it's made in the same good way. Of the same good tobacco. By the same good hand labor. Always mild; the dealer can't give you a strong Tom Moore because we don't give it to him.

SUITS—Made to your order, $30 to $40 values at $25, and an extra pair of trousers Free. This is your opportunity to get your spring suit at a saving. Irving H. Vendig, The Tailor, 118 W. Madison-st., Brevoort Hotel Bldg.

Here's Another Little Ad on the Tribune's "Bargain Page" That Brought the Business—It Proved Itself a Star Clothing Salesman

Irving H. Vendig, a merchant tailor at 118 West Madison Street, was among the first to see the possibilities of The Tribune's new advertising section: "Where To Find Today's Bargains." He believed that if this great newspaper printed a daily page full of real bargain offers and pushed it—boomed it—focused the attention of all its readers on it—then he thought there ought to be something stirring in results. And he backed his belief by inserting the six line ad shown above. Ever since he checked up he's been mighty well satisfied with his investment, for he found that he had

Sold One Hundred and Eighty Dollars' Worth of Suits Through Six Agate Lines in The Tribune

How's that for definite profitable results? Doesn't it prove the case for this sort of co-operation in newspaper advertising? Mr. Vendig thought so when he wrote us as follows:

"I am pleased to report very favorable results. In the week of April 7th to 14th I made four sales; Monday, April 15th, two sales; Tuesday, April 16th, one sale before noon; all told about $180 in sales from my little six line ad in "Where To Find Today's Bargains." Those I can trace directly to the Bargain Page advertisement. It is possible that many of the inquiries not traced are also due to the same medium. Let the good work go on.
"Yours in co-operation,
"IRVING H. VENDIG."

"Co-operation" is right. We want to say to you that The Tribune has worked out a great solution for a problem that has puzzled newspaperdom for years. Every merchant in Chicago—North, South, West Side or Loop—should take advantage of it. Just phone to CENTRAL 100 and we will send a representative to see you at once.

BANKS' DEPOSITS NEARLY A BILLION

Chicago Institutions Report a Total of $995,442,765 on April 19; Small Gain.

CENTRAL TRUST GOES UP.

Showing Due to Absorption of Prairie State; Average Holdings Steady.

Total deposits of the fifteen national and fifty-seven state banks of Chicago were, on April 19, $995,442,765. This represents a small gain, less than ½ per cent over the figures of Feb. 21.

The state banks made yesterday the report of their condition at the commencement of business April 19. The average in the matter of deposits was steady. The Central Trust company of Illinois showed a considerable gain, due to the absorption of the Prairie State bank. Otherwise individual figures were without special significance.

RAILROAD EARNINGS.

It is reported that the Atchison is showing thus far in April an increase of about 10 per cent in gross over the corresponding month last year. Officials of the company say that wheat in Atchison territory does not show much damage.

The Baltimore & Ohio for March shows an increase of 17 per cent in gross operating revenues, compared with the corresponding month last year. The road has made an almost uniformly good record in its current fiscal year. The figures follow:

BALTIMORE & OHIO.

March—	1912.	Increase.
Operating revenue	$8,142,297	$1,188,388
Operating expenses	5,610,245	866,110

An Extraordinary Company.

The Prest-o-Lite company, with headquarters at Indianapolis, appears to properly come under the classification of extraordinary concerns. The company is said to have a capital of $10,000. The earnings last year are reported to have been $900,000.

A short time ago a Chicago broker sought to buy some of the stock of the company, and was told by the owner that he would sell a few shares at $50,000 a share. The par value of the stock is $100 per share.

May Disbursements.

Interest and dividend disbursements by railroad, traction, and industrial companies in May will amount roundly to $98,096,992, against $90,601,000 in May one year ago. A summary of May dividend payments with comparisons for the same month one year ago, follow:

	1912.	1911.
Industrials	$23,899,561	$18,897,246

Pullman Earnings Better.

According to friends of the Pullman company net earnings for the current fiscal year will be augmented by the marked improvement in the car equipment industry which has obtained during the last three months. The Pullman shops are said to be operating at 75 per cent of capacity, compared with less than 50 per cent during the fiscal year ended July 31, 1911.

Profits are expected to be in excess of 10 per cent on the stock issue. Gross earnings will, it is thought, be around $40,000,000.

Dividends Declared.

The Detroit United railway declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on its stock, payable June 1 to holders of record May 16.

The Consolidated Gas company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on its stock.

The Norfolk and Western has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the common stock, payable June 10 to stock of record May 31.

The Pressed Steel Car company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, payable May 22 to stock of record May 1.

Financial News Notes.

Robert J. Morgan was yesterday elected president of the United States Printing company of Ohio. He succeeds John F. Robinson.

The Bethlehem Steel company has sold to a syndicate consisting of Hallgarten & Co., Harvey Fisk Sons, and William Salomon & Co. $15,000,000 first lien and refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds.

Chicago Securities.

On the local stock exchange Sears-Roebuck common made a new high record at 173¾. For some time insiders have been predicting much higher prices for the stock.

For the first time in months there was activity in Canal and Dock stock. Inasmuch as the company owns nothing but land, it is assumed that some sort of deal is on in the Calumet district. The stockholders of the company profit by the sale of the assets.

American Can common sold at 39. This is a price higher than the preferred issue commanded a few years ago.

Booth-Fisheries preferred closed at 86, a fractional gain over the opening. The common, however, made an advance of 1 point, selling at 52. The common issue does not pay dividends, while the preferred is a 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock. The spread in prices is noteworthy.

Illinois Brick was up 5 points. Some sort of a yarn will probably come out to account for the market movement.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., April 25.—[Special.]—Zinc issues, Butte and Superior and American Zinc had their innings in the early trading today, the former advancing to 37½ and the latter to 29. Copper stocks held generally firm until late in the session, when most leading stocks moved up rather smartly. There was realizing in the last minutes and the final prices were mixed, but the tone firm. COAL RAIL STOCK SHOWS INCREASE

Rumor Strike Had Been Settled Sends Up Lehigh and Reading.

SECURITY MARKET EASY.

Relieved at Announcement That One Walkout of Employes Faced Solution.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, April 25.—[Special.]—The announcement that an agreement had been reached between the committee of anthracite operators and the representatives of the miners called particular attention to the advance which took place in Reading, Lehigh Valley, and the less active coal stocks, all of which showed advances ranging from something over 1 per cent to 5 points.

The terms of the agreement were not officially announced, but reports indicated the miners had obtained a larger increase in wages than the operators, according to general report, had been willing to grant to the men.

The response of the stocks of the local carrying roads made it plain the belief prevailed that whatever additional cost might arise from the settlement agreed upon the consumers of coal and not the railroads would be the sufferers.

Coal Roads Have Advantage.

In this matter the coal roads are in a different position in respect to the miners' demands than that occupied by the railroads in general in respect to the demand of the engineers for higher wages.

The only way of passing on to the consumer any increase in rates is by governmental sanction, which so far has been denied.

At the same time the security markets are grateful for relief from threatened strikes, whether of railroad engineers or of miners, and nearly all stocks showed some gain, due chiefly to this influence of the improved labor situation.

There were heard in some quarters statements so optimistic regarding the position of the steel trade as to suggest that hopefulness with some has been carried considerably beyond the extent to which solid foundation exists.

Steel Prices Shaded.

There has been improvement sufficiently marked to be decidedly gratifying, but it seems still to be true that the prices openly quoted for steel products have even within the last few days been shaded when this was necessary to secure large contracts.

The substantial fact that improvement has taken place and that the outlook is improved are sufficient in themselves to afford considerable satisfaction, but it would be a mistake to accept without reserve the more hopeful of the estimates of the present steel situation which are finding their way to the financial district.

COURT BARS "CORNER" PLEA; LICHTSTERN GAINS A POINT.

Judge Denies Defense Right to Go Into Broker's Wheat Operations—Injunction Suit Drags On.

Adolph J. Lichtstern, millionaire board of trade operator, won the first legal skirmish yesterday in his injunction proceeding against the J. Rosenbaum Grain company. Judge Frederick A. Smith in the Circuit court ruled that the defense could not go into the question of a possible "corner" of wheat upon cross examination. The defense had contended that Lichtstern was seeking the aid of the court in consummating a "corner," and attempted to enter into that question upon cross examination of a witness for the complainant.

The gist of the decision was that if the allegations of the complainant's bill were true, and the defense could not show that they were within their legal rights, then the mere fact that Lichtstern might be engaged in bringing about a "corner" would not constitute a defense.

The decision will not prevent the defense from attempting to show that Lichtstern is trying to "corner" the market when witnesses for the defense are called to testify. Levy Mayer, attorney for the defense, in a statement to the court after the decision said that he expected to bring the matter to the court's attention later in the trial.

Following the ruling of the court on this matter the interrupted testimony of Howard B. Jackson, a member of the firm of Jackson Bros. & Co., commission brokers, was completed. In the afternoon records from the Illinois state grain inspection bureau were introduced in evidence, showing the quantity of wheat stored in the elevators owned by the J. Rosenbaum Grain company. The hearing will be continued this morning.

T. P. SHONTS' MOTHER BETTER.

Reported Resting Easily, but Condition Still Regarded by Her Physicians as Serious.

Mrs. H. D. Shonts, mother of Theodore P. Shonts, was declared last night to be resting easily at her home, 9208 South Robey street, but her illness still is regarded as serious. She fell down stairs last Saturday morning. The physicians have feared she might not survive the shock. She is 86 years old.

NERVOUS SESSION IN WHEAT MART

Conflicting Southwest Reports Keep Prices Seesawing Throughout Day.

BIG BULGE IN MAY CORN.

Shorts Scramble for Offerings, Causing Jump to 81 Cents; Country Sales Larger.

Wheat prices closed a little higher for the day after several sinking spells during the session. Crop news was conflicting, but there was enough uncertainty regarding conditions in Nebraska and Kansas to make short sellers hesitate a little. Buying on the breaks was by commission houses and local bulls, while there was plenty of long stuff for sale on the swells. Final quotations were ⅛@¼c to ⅜@½c higher.

The great strength in corn and firmness in oats also served to check the selling materially. From the soft wheat states reports were worse than ever, and the indications that stocks at visible supply points would be materially decreased each week from now stimulated considerable buying. Locally the cash demand was moderate, although there was said to have been more business than reported. Sales given out were only 10,000 bu.

Northwest News Bullish.

The northwest news was bullish, but Minneapolis closed a little lower than the previous day. Stocks there decreased 1,125,000 bu for five days and flour sales were said to have been good. Receipts were a little larger in that direction, Minneapolis and Duluth having 168 cars, against 163 cars a year ago. Winnipeg had 266 cars, compared to 212 cars a year ago. Reports from Canada say there will be as much wheat sown as a year ago.

Receipts here were 18 cars, with 22 cars the estimate for today, and primary arrivals were 365,000 bu, against 342,000 bu a year ago. Most of the reports from crop experts now in Kansas and Nebraska were a little more optimistic, but in some quarters reports were decidedly bullish. Light rains in Kansas were beneficial. Illinois advices were extremely bullish.

Liverpool Prices Higher.

Unfavorable conditions in India and Russia were reported by Broomhall, and the Liverpool market closed ¼@⅜d higher, being influenced in large measure by reports the spring wheat acreage in this country would be much less than last year. Argentine shipments were estimated at 4,000,000 bu, compared to 2,120,000 bu a year ago. Paris was ⅛@1¼ higher; Antwerp unchanged; Berlin ⅜c up, and Budapest 1⅛c lower.

Armour, Brosseau, Barrett, Colvin, King-Farnum, Cudahy brokers, and Finch were on the buying side of the market early. Bartlett-Frazier were the big sellers of the day, their sales being placed at between 1,500,000 bu and 2,000,000 bu. Noyes-Jackson and commission houses in general had wheat for sale on the advances. The volume of outside trade was moderate.

New High Mark for Corn.

New high prices were made for May corn, which was run up to 81c on short covering and closed at 80⅝c. Trade during the early part of the day was heavy and there was a scramble for the offerings. Other months were not so strong as the May and on the advance there was free selling of both July and September. Final quotations were ⅝@⅞c to 1⅝c higher.

The small receipts and the belief that supplies of corn during May will be inadequate to let the short sellers out were big factors. To all intents and purposes it looks as if the May was cornered now unless the country shows more liberality in selling. Cuttan was credited with selling out some of the corn he bought a few cents lower down and Bartlett-Frazier were also sellers. Weil, Slaughter, Friedman, and Armour were credited with buying.

The advance to over 80c for May brought out the largest country offerings in some time, sales to arrive being estimated at 700,000 bu. Cash prices, however, were ½@1c higher and sales were 185,000 bu for shipment. Receipts here were 55 cars, with 95 cars the estimate for today. Primary arrivals were 365,000 bu, against 495,000 bu a year ago. Cables were ⅛d higher and Argentine shipments were estimated at 850,000 bu.

Country Buyer of Oats.

Oats were strong and higher, but late selling wiped out part of the advances. July was under quite a little pressure while there was good buying of the September by commission houses. Prices at the finish were a shade to ⅛c up. Receipts were 86 cars with 89 cars the estimate for today. Primary receipts aggregated 387,000 bu, compared to 569,000 bu a year ago. Cash sales were 130,000 and sample prices were ¼@½c higher.

Hog Products Have Upturn.

Provisions were strong and closed sharply higher. Stockyards houses were credited with buying and there was a fair outside demand, while offerings were moderate. The strength in corn helped the bulls. Receipts were 19,000 hogs here, with 14,000 the estimate for today. Western points had 69,000, against 83,300 a year ago. Hog packing for the week was estimated at 505,000, against 575,000 a year ago. Liverpool prices were unchanged. Receipts of product were 10 cars and shipments were 87 cars.

Rye Prices Decline.

Rye market continued easy and prices declined 1c. No. 2 sold at 95c and No. 4 at 83c. No. 3 was 90@93c nominal. Receipts were estimated at 8 cars.

Barley was unchanged, with malting $1.00@1.85; mixing, 90c@$1.00; feed, 75@85c; screenings, 50@75c. Receipts, 7 cars.

Timothy seed held steady at $6.00 bid for October and $6.00@$12.00 for cash lots. Clover seed was quiet, with cash lots $16.00@21.50.

Duluth flax closed ½c higher, with cash on track and May $2.17¼ and July $2.14. Receipts, 15 cars. Minneapolis flax was unchanged to ½c higher at $2.14¼@2.15¾ for cash on track. Receipts, 15 cars.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

New No. 2 red was bought yesterday on the basis of $1.12 track, Chicago, for shipment by July 20. The wheat was bought by Bartlett-Frazier. It was understood some of the other firms bought a little wheat in the country or at other points to bring to Chicago. The shipping demand so far as reported was slow, only 10,000 bu being reported. Outside cash markets were quiet and firm, Minneapolis saying mills were good buyers. One Minneapolis message said that terminal houses had sold about 6,000,000 bu of wheat to go to local and outside millers. Stocks there decreased 1,125,000 bu for five days. Considerable wheat will be shipped out of Chicago by lake this week.

While the reports from Illinois and other states east of the river were not given much attention by the trade owing to the fact that interest has been centered on Nebraska and Kansas, the tenor of the advices was extremely bullish. Harry Halliday wired Fred Paddleford after a daylight trip to St. Louis over the Alton that he had had never seen such conditions. He said there was a calamity in central Illinois so far as wheat was concerned. Other advices were to the same effect, and the expected improvement in Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio has failed to materialize.

The directors of the Chicago board of trade, at their meeting on April 23, 1912, adopted the following regulation:

"No member of this association shall, by messenger, signals, telephone, telegraph or any other means whatsoever, convey or transmit continuously the market quotations from the exchange floor to any person, firm, or corporation located off said exchange floor; and any member violating this regulation shall be deemed guilty of dishonorable conduct and subject to the penalty provided therefor in the rules and bylaws of this association."

Corn purchases in the country were the largest in some time, it being estimated that around 70,000 bu were bought to arrive. On the basis of 80c for May at Chicago and over there was quite a little country corn for sale. Receivers, however, look for only a temporary increase in receipts. Cash prices were ½@1c higher and oats ¼@1c up. Shipping sales were 185,000 bu corn and 130,000 bu oats.

Argentine shipments for the week were estimated at 4,000,000 bu wheat and 850,000 bu corn. Actual shipments last year were 2,120,000 bu wheat and no corn.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ¼c higher to ⅛c lower; corn, ¼c lower to ½c higher; oats, ¼@⅜c higher; rye, ½c lower.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 22 cars; corn, 95 cars; oats, 89 cars; rye, 8 cars; barley, 7 cars; hogs, 14,000 head.

St. Louis stocks of No. 2 red now only 462,000 bu. Decreased 36,000 bu for one day.

William P. Duell has posted his membership on the board of trade for transfer.

Bad dust storms were reported at several points in the northwest.

HOGS RALLY LATE; SELLERS WIN OUT

Men Who Held Back Stock Get 5@10 Cent Advance; Buyers Compete.

SHEEP AND LAMBS SOAR.

Market Jumps 40@50 Cents; Highest in Two Years; Fat Cattle Go Up.

Weak holders sold hogs at Chicago yesterday at the previous day's average figures, but competition between local packers and eastern shippers developed exceptional aggressiveness soon after the opening, and sellers who held back their offerings secured an advance of 5@10c before the close. Trade was active and the finish found the market firmly established at the highest level of the week, with the average 6c higher than Wednesday's, at $7.79. Top hogs sold at $7.95. Early weakness was due to the fact that there was an accumulation of nearly 14,000 hogs from earlier receipts being carried from day to day.

Sheep and lamb trade was excited, with prices showing new gains of 40@50c and touching highest spots in two years. Best Colorado lambs topped at $9.50, standing $1.20 higher than last week's extreme top. Shorn lambs at $8.25 showed a proportionate gain. Yearlings sold up to $7.50 and shorn wethers touched $6.75.

Fat beef steers also joined the upward movement, selling up to $8.90 for 1,661 lb offerings. This was a new high price for the season, and compared with a top of $8.45 a year ago. Calves were 50c higher, with prime vealers at $8.00.

COLD STORAGE EGGS LOWER

Receipts Fill Market; Dealers Cut Price to Speculators Only.

BUTTER DULL AND STEADY.

Cheese Active; Poultry Weak; Strawberries Show Better Grade.

Egg receipts at Chicago yesterday totaled 34,070 cases, bringing the total for four days this week to 130,001 cases, the largest in many months. Prices of fresh offerings to go into immediate consumption were not lowered, but storage packed eggs could not be disposed of at the previous day's figures and concessions of ¼ to ⅜c a doz had to be made before speculators would make purchases. General trade was quiet and the market had a heavy undertone, with buyers looking for lower prices.

Butter arrivals aggregated 7,187 tubs, showing a moderate increase for the day. Prices were supported on a steady basis, but there was no snap to the trade. Cheese market was active and all fresh receipts were taken at full prices.

Strawberry receipts were more liberal, consignments coming from Louisiana and Mississippi, but the quality was improved and the trade active, with sales at $1.00@2.00 for 24 pint cases.

Poultry market was oversupplied and weak, but quotations were not changed.

CALL FOR COTTON BLANKETS AND FLANNELS SHOWS GAIN.

J. V. Farwell Co.'s Weekly Review Says Merchants Are Taking Advantage of January Price Basis.

John V. Farwell company's weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade says:

"The advance orders the last ten days for New England made cotton blankets and napped flannels show that retailers are taking advantage where these lines are being priced at last January price basis, and are now purchasing heavier than for some years. At once business on white goods and household linens show an improvement over corresponding period last year.

"Advance orders on furs show that they will be more popular next season than ever, especially so on the better grades. This is a large ribbon season. All kinds of ribbons are in demand. White and tan hosiery, both for men and women, are in as much demand as ever. The sales and deliveries on long silk white gloves are large.

"Immediate orders for voiles, batistes, Bedford welts and ratines in wash goods are now good, showing that the retailers are cutting into the goods bought early. Popular demand for cream and white wool dress goods in Bedford cords, welts, serges, and whipcords indicate these goods will be popular all summer. Macrema and ratine bands for hat and dress trimmings are popular and the demand large. Collar and cuff sets continue to be much in demand."

WESTERN PACIFIC WILL MAKE HOMESEEKERS' RATE TO COAST

Road Takes Action Independent of Passenger Association—Sees Need of Competing with Canada.

Announcement was made yesterday at the traffic department headquarters of the Denver and Rio Grande and the Western Pacific in Chicago that the Western Pacific, in connection with the Denver and Rio Grande and the Missouri Pacific, has given individual notice through the Transcontinental Passenger association of its intention to make effective at an early date a round trip homeseeker fare of $55 for the round trip from Missouri river to all points on the Western Pacific, Deeth, Nev., to Stockton, Cal., inclusive.

Tickets will also be sold from the same territory as homeseekers' tickets are now sold to Oregon, Idaho, and Washington, and will be second class, final return limit twenty-five days from date of sale.

The action of the Western Pacific was the occasion of much comment last week at the meeting of the Transcontinental Passenger association, when efforts were made to reach an agreement for a higher fare. It is probable the cut will be met by other roads. The Western Pacific took the stand that a cut was necessary in order to meet the competition of Canadian roads which offered attractive inducements to prospective settlers in Canada.

DEMOCRATS SHIFT ON MONEY TRUST

House Adopts Pujo Resolution for Investigation; as Drastic as Henry's.

DEMAND OF BRYAN MEN.

Action Regarded as Repudiation of Policy of Representative Underwood.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 24.—[Special.]—Executing a complete right about face the Democratic majority in the house of representatives voted today for a real investigation of the money trust.

By a vote of 237 to 15, the house adopted the Pujo resolution, conferring upon the banking and currency committee all of the authority to inquire into financial mysteries and iniquities that was contained in the original Henry resolution, advocated by the Bryan and other progressive Democrats.

It was the Henry resolution which the conservative Democrats originally thought too drastic and which, under the leadership of Representative Underwood, was voted down in caucus and replaced by the comparatively harmless Pujo measure.

Bryan Men Force Change.

Even that had to be strengthened as a result of the derision poured out upon the conservatives by the Bryan men, who charged an attempt to whitewash the money trust and even to court its financial assistance in the presidential campaign.

It was found the attempt to put the lid on the investigation had been a mistake. The inquiry was under suspicion, and Attorneys Untermeyer and Farrar declined to undertake its direction until adequate authority should be granted for a thoroughgoing effort to get the facts.

Slap at Underwood's Policy.

The action of the Democrats constitutes a repudiation of the policy of Representative Underwood, who was conspicuous for his absence today. His friends charged that Representative Henry took advantage of this fact to put the new resolution through. Speaker Clark was absent on account of illness.

Among the fifteen Republicans and Democrats who voted against the resolution were Lynden Evans of Chicago and "Uncle Joe" Cannon. Representative Mann voted against it at first and then had himself recorded as present, as he was paired with an absent member. Illinois absentees were Buchanan, Fuller, Graham, Rodenberg, Stack, and Thistlewood.

Each of the merchants represented here has chosen from stock one or more specially good values to offer you at specially reduced prices. The articles quoted MUST be good goods—attractive, timely and serviceable—otherwise there would be no lasting benefit to any merchant in catching your eye with a low price.

The only question then is this—will you choose to take advantage of these varied offerings—offerings that are the best bargains from hundreds of the best stores in all Chicago? Will you become a reader of this page? Once you have followed up one or another of the buying opportunities listed above you will be. For the small ads of "Where To Find Today's Bargains" have abundantly made good; they have brought large satisfaction and money-saving to people who were at first skeptical or indifferent to their real value.

Remember that this is a page of bargain NEWS—that the offers are changed almost daily—that new dealers are coming in right along—that fresh suggestions as to where and when and what to buy are printed in these columns every issue. Why not at least prove our assertions for yourself—and read them NOW?

SAY REEVES SHOT IN SELF DEFENSE

Attorneys Who Have Revolver Will Try to Show Weapon Belonged to Dr. Kelly.

MAKE SANITY AN ISSUE.

Realty Man Asserts He Would Do Same Thing Again Under Like Circumstances.

The police investigating the shooting of Dr. Paul E. Kelly by Thomas L. Reeve, a wealthy real estate man, because of attentions Dr. Kelly paid to Reeve's wife, spent the greater part of yesterday hunting for the revolver with which Kelly was wounded.

They failed to find the weapon. They did discover, however, that the revolver is in the possession of Barratt O'Hara, Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, and Everett Jennings, who have been retained to prepare Reeve's defense. How the pistol came to the lawyers is not divulged, but it is known the defense will say the weapon did not belong to Reeve but was carried to the scene of the shooting by Dr. Kelly.

Outline Their Theory of Defense.

The theory of the attorneys for the defense, according to Mr. O'Hara, is that Reeve waited for Kelly with the intention of making a final effort to induce Kelly to stop writing letters to Mrs. Reeve and possibly of making a physical attack on the physician, and that in the midst of the argument Kelly pulled out the revolver. Reeve then took the revolver away from the doctor and shot him, Mr. O'Hara said. Reeve during the day told Lieut. Collins of the Irving Park police station that the shooting was done with Kelly's pistol. On the other hand, E. C. Zobel, the druggist in whose store Reeve waited for Kelly, says he saw Reeve fumbling with a leather case which he drew partly out of his hip pocket before the shooting.

Reeve's attorneys are preparing to lay a broad foundation for their case. They will allege not only that the shooting was done in self-defense, but that Reeve was in such a state of mind, due to his worrying over Kelly's attention to his wife, that he was not responsible for his actions.

Think He Told Friends Troubles.

An attempt will be made to show at the trial that Reeve for many months prior to the shooting knew that Kelly was using an improper influence with his wife and that he strove by every possible means he could devise to break the attachment. During this period of worry, it is said, he took several close friends into his confidence.

Reeve is said to believe Kelly's influence over his wife was hypnotic. In his cell at the Shakespeare avenue station during the day he said he was still convinced that his wife loved him.

"It was only an infatuation," he said. "I know my wife did not love Kelly. He had gained some sort of a magnetic influence over her—call it hypnotism if you will—that threatened to break up my home, smirch my own honor, and leave my children worse than motherless. The situation worried me a great deal, but I never at any time deliberately entertained the idea of killing Kelly. I have been under a great mental strain—any married man who loves his family can appreciate what my position must have been. I hope Kelly does not die. I feel that this terrible affair has gone far enough. I don't want my wife's and my children's future darkened by a tragedy.

Says He Would Do It Again.

"I shot Kelly, and I must say that under identical circumstances I would do it again. He is not a man. He was given every opportunity to deal fairly with me and my children and he scornfully rejected all of them. I feel that he got just about what was coming to him."

Reeve told how he first learned of the situation between Kelly and his wife. The thing that put him on the trail was a dash of face powder on Mrs. Reeve's face. She never had used powder before because Reeve possessed a deep aversion to powders and rouges and she knew it. Reeve noticed the powder on his wife's face and then ran across the box from which it came. He created a scene and his wife replied spiritedly. Afterward Reeve sought for a cause of his wife's using powder after years without it. The result was the discovery of the cipher letters.

Says She Loves Dr. Kelly.

Mrs. Reeve denied during the day she had been unfaithful to her husband, but continued to admit that she loved Dr. Kelly. She made it clear that only the fact she had three young children had prevented her from leaving her husband some time ago.

Dr. Kelly said at St. Joseph's hospital his relations with Mrs. Reeve had been those of physician and patient. His condition is serious. He said Reeve never had complained to him and that he was shot down without warning.

But Mrs. Reeve admitted she had warned Dr. Kelly on several occasions that her husband was angry at him and might do him harm. Reeve said he had asked Attorney J. Frank Hess to make an appointment with Dr. Kelly and ask him to cease his attentions to Mrs. Reeve, but that after Hess had done this Kelly continued to see his wife.

Reeve was arraigned during the day in the Shakspeare avenue police court. His case was continued until May 20 and he was ordered held without bail.

"That Was a Great Suggestion"

These words are being uttered hundreds of times a day referring to Holeproof Hose for men, women and children. Wives who have tested this famous hosiery are suggesting "Holeproof" to their husbands. Men are surprising their wives with the wear they get from these excellent socks. And children are wearing Holeproof Stockings six months without holes.

Holeproof Hose came to be, in this way, the most popular hose in existence. They'll always retain the lead. You'll say that this ad was a great suggestion if you'll but try the hose.

Dealers Now Showing Spring Styles

They are exhibiting the silk "Holeproof," made with silk from the northern part of Japan, extra long fiber and extra fine in luster. The silk hose are made for men and women. Three pairs are guaranteed three months; for women, $3; for men, $2.

They are showing the latest colors and styles. There are twelve colors, ten weights and five grades in the cotton goods. To see "Holeproof" at close range is to buy a trial box.

A Million Enthusiasts

A million men, women and children are wearing this famous brand. We made 7,000,000 pairs last year. It cost us $55,000 merely to inspect this output—to examine each pair—to see that each was perfection. But this care is the secret of the "Holeproof" success. It extends throughout every department. We make hose that will stand a guarantee. That is the sole reason why we guarantee them.

95% Make Good

In all our experience we have not had to replace more than 5 per cent of the hose we sell. 95 per cent have always outlasted the guarantee. Six pairs are guaranteed six months. The reason they last is as follows:

70c a Pound

We pay for our cotton yarn an average of 70c a pound. It is Egyptian and Sea Island cotton, the finest, longest fibered, lightest and softest that grows. We use it 3-ply, so it's very flexible. The hose that it makes are thus strong and long-wearing, but light, soft and attractive, too. We could buy common 2-ply yarn for 30c a pound. But we'd make common hose. And common hose to be guaranteed, must be made cumbersome, heavy and coarse.

FAMOUS Holeproof Hosiery FOR MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

Carl Freschl, Pres.

You want hose that feel good to the feet and hose that are stylish. You can get such hose, and get the wear, too, in "Holeproof." But you must be careful in buying. See that the above signature is on the toe. Don't take any other if you want the genuine "Holeproof"—the original guaranteed hose—the kind backed by 39 years of hose-making experience.

Sold in More Than 200 Chicago Stores

The genuine "Holeproof" are sold in your neighborhood, probably.

Six pairs, guaranteed six months, cost $1.50 up to $3.00, according to finish and weight. Ask to see the silk "Holeproof."

Note the new colors, examine the texture; then try a box.
